Nation Will Officially Mourn Chief Justice for 30 Days

Justices Jackson and Douglas Are Mentioned Most Often

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The nation will go into official mourning for thirty days for its chief justice, Harlan Fiske Stone.

President Truman late today directed that the flag be flown at half staff on the government's buildings everywhere for the period in recognition of Stone's "eminent and varied services as a public servant."

A hushed throng gathered in the pillared Supreme court chamber today in tribute to Stone while a sorrowing capital speculated on his successor—mentioning most often Associate Justices Robert H. Jackson and William O. Douglas.

The funeral of the 73-year-old chief justice will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Washington cathedral and burial will be here. President Truman, who now must make his second appointment to the Supreme court in less than a year, was expected by White House officials to interrupt his vacation cruise and return for the ceremony. However, news dispatches from the presidential yacht said no change in the president's vacation plans had been announced.

Speculation Is Unofficial

In the absence of the president and the White House entourage, speculation over Stone's successor was entirely unofficial.

While discussion of possible choices ranged also to Justices Hugo L. Black and Felix Frankfurter, the president could actually appoint any citizen as associate justice or chief justice. The appointee doesn't even have to be a lawyer. The Senate must confirm both choices.

The Supreme court met at noon today, its red-draped chamber crowded with respectful spectators, and heard a eulogy of Stone from Black, the former Alabama senator who went to the court only nine years ago and now is its senior member in point of service. Black, speaking slowly and solemnly, said that Sone's "distinguished service to this court and to our country earned for him a high place in the affection and admiration of all the people of the nation."

The court then recessed until next Monday instead of proceeding to hear arguments which had been scheduled.

Chief Executive Re-boards Yacht At Cape Charles

CAPE CHARLES, Va., April 23 (AP)—President Truman, back aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg after viewing navy maneuvers in the Atlantic, sailed tonight to an overnight anchorage three and a half miles off Cape Charles.

The anchorage, reached after four hours of sailing from Hampton Roads, Va., where the president reboarded the Williamsburg, is at the entrance to Chesapeake bay.

Mr. Truman was expected to continue up the bay tomorrow.

Before leaving Hampton Roads, the president congratulated Adm. Marc Mitscher on the "instructive" Eighth fleet maneuvers.

He was brought back by the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, from which he had watched the first large-scale postwar maneuvers. His schedule called for a holiday cruise on Chesapeake bay, expected to last until Sunday.

There has been no change in the president's plans since he left the White House Sunday afternoon to begin a holiday with members of his executive staff.

(Eben Ayres, assistant White House press secretary, had said in Washington earlier that presidential aides anticipated Mr. Truman would return for the funeral of Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, who died last night.)

The president sent a message of condolence last night to Mrs. Stone, saying the chief justice's death shocked him terribly.

Secretary of State Heads for Foreign Ministers Meeting

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes headed for Paris and a meeting of Big Four foreign ministers today in an attempt to break an eight-month deadlock over European peace settlements and remove friction among the great powers.

He is known to regard the prospect of success as relatively small. Much depends, in his view, on whether Russia is willing to make major concessions on her claims in the Mediterranean area.

Byrnes's serious concern was reflected in his farewell remark to reporters who asked for comment on his trip. He said that he had nothing to say but that if he were to speak he would have to quote from the old hymn, "Standing in the Need of Prayer."

One of the department's last actions before the secretary took off from Washington airport at 12:05 p. m., EST, was to disclose that it has received official confirmation from Prime Minister Ahmed Qavam, of Iran, that the Tehran government has invoked its rights to censorship of outgoing news under a 1932 Madrid treaty, but is evidently trying not to make a drastic application of censorship.

Qavam expressed his views to American representatives in Tehran after United States objections to all censorship had been presented to him and he had been warned that the American public would lose confidence in reports which had to pass through censorship.

What Qavam said was interpreted by officials here as further strengthening their suspicions that his government was acting under Russian pressure in applying censorship to foreign correspondents. The dispatches of the correspondents were described in the American objection as "fair and accurate reporting which has enabled the American public to make valid judgments as regards the Iranian situation."

To the extent that these latest developments in Iran reflect political difficulties involving Russia they complicate Byrnes's task in Paris. The immediate objective at the Paris meeting is to break the deadlock over peace problems but the real question, it is felt here, is whether some sort of understanding can be reached with Russia over the kind of world the Russians want to create out of World War II.

Railway Express Workers Leave Jobs at Detroit

1,000 Attend Union Meeting; Strike May Start Friday

DETROIT, April 23 (AP)—Railway Express Company service in the Detroit area was at a standstill today as 1,000 workers left their jobs to attend a union meeting amidst reports that a nationwide strike of the company's 65,000 employes would begin at 12:01 a.m. (EST) Friday.

The National (railway) Mediation Board said at Washington that it had received formal notification from George M. Harrison, grand president of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Workers, that the country-wide strike would be called at that hour.

However, at New York, Daniel Harrison, president of Local 2130, reported 12,000 employes in the Metropolitan area had received instructions to halt work at midnight tomorrow (Wednesday), twenty-four hours earlier than the time announced by the mediation board.

Dispute May Go to Truman

It was indicated that the dispute might be sent to the White House under the mediation board's customary procedure of referring such disputes to the president with a request for appointment of a presidential fact-finding board to investigate and recommend settlements.

The walkout of Detroit workers was the second in two days, as they quit Monday to attend a meeting where they voted down a company offer of a ten-cent-an-hour wage boost and reaffirmed demands for sixteen cents.

Emil J. Hardesty, superintendent of the company's Detroit division, said he did not consider the employes on strike "as yet."

However, an embargo on all express shipments to and from the Detroit area was announced today by Railway Express Company. Railway express airline shipments were included, they said.

Hardesty said "all possible efforts" were being made to move perishable goods now on hand and R. J. Kowalski, an official of Local 2075, added that the union would not interfere with consignees who go to the express terminal to pick up their merchandise.

Airlines Is "Swamped"

American Airlines reported it was "swamped" with shipments as Detroiters strove to re-route their packages.

They said a special "local freight" flight was put into effect today in an effort to ease the crush and its first cargo of 8,000 pounds ranged from vitamin pills for the people of Mexico to auto fenders for West coast dealers.

Officials of Railway Express Company said they were unable to estimate the amount of material tied up at the Detroit terminal.

Union President Harrison said at Cincinnati that the national strike had been authorized after a similar dispute over the sixteen-cent proposal. He said the raise was requested to match one recently awarded to railway workers by the National Mediation Board.

97-Pound Tumor Is Removed from Woman

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—(AP)—A cystic tumor weighing ninety-seven pounds was removed from a woman today at San Francisco Polyclinic hospital.

The operation lasted two hours and was accomplished without transfusions. Surgeons said the woman, 51, would recover. She weighed 280 pounds before today.

Her name was withheld by the hospital.

LaGuardia Plea Fails To Alter Coal Deadlock

Lewis Aide Says Miners Lack Authority To Dig Coal for UNRRA

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia's plea for coal for UNRRA failed today to alter the bituminous strike deadlock.

K. C. Adams, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, said in a statement that the miners "possess no authority, legally, financially or otherwise to order resumption of production. The miners don't own the mines."

Adams added that "if LaGuardia knows no more about European needs and public charity than his concept of the New York transit situation while mayor his junk is publicity stuff."

Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, wrote LaGuardia:

"While representing a most tragic situation and one that we are desirous of alleviating as quick as possible, it differs only in the time element from one that is now beginning to confront our own country. Without coal our railroads, utilities and manufacturing plants soon will be brought to a point of complete idleness.

"The coal mines of America have been shut down by the unilateral action of the United Mine Workers of America. These mines have been and are now ready to produce coal when the men return to work."

The operators added that since Lewis walked out of the negotiations April 10 they have "stood ready at all times to resume the work of negotiating a coal wage contract and producing coal."

"One paramount issue has (blocked) and continues to block negotiations," the letter continued. "That issue is the adamant insistence of Mr. (John L.) Lewis on the right to levy an assessment on each ton of production for the exclusive

WOMAN CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY IN MATE'S DEATH; GETS 45 YEARS

BEDFORD, Ia., April 23 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Worm, 41, tonight withdrew a former plea of innocent and entered a written plea of guilty to the two-and-a-half-year-old slaying of her husband, Tommy Worm, 42.

Mrs. Worm pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced by district Judge George A. Johnson to forty-five years at hard labor in the women's reformatory at Rockwell City, Ia.

Henry Schmitt, 62, Husky Lenox, Ia., horse trader and admitted lover of Mrs. Worm was sentenced to ninety-nine years at hard labor in the state penitentiary March 29.

Mrs. Worm and Schmidtt have admitted in previous statements that Worm was slain on November 4, 1943, and Schmidtt told a bizarre story of twice burying and exhuming the body before finally disposing of it in the Mississippi river.

Senate Military Group Approves Unification Bill

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—The Senate's Military committee today approved a bill to unify the armed services and its Finance committee voted to cut the public debt limit by $25,000,000,000.

These and other committee activities were the only business transacted at the capitol. The Senate adjourned early out of respect to the late Chief Justice Stone and the House was in recess.

The military committee voted approval of the measure drafted by a subcommittee headed by Chairman Thomas (D-Utah). It would set up the air forces on an equal footing with the army and navy and combine the three services in a single "Department of Common Defense" under one cabinet secretary.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said that the recommended reduction of the public dept limit to $275,000,000,000 would put treasury borrowings on a pay-as-you-go basis. Secretary of the Treasury Vinson agreed to the reduction when the committee provided that the statutory debt should

Domestic Flour Grinding Halts In Some Mills

General Pinch in Bread Supplies May Be Weeks in Coming

CHICAGO, April 23 (AP)—Grinding of flour for domestic consumption already has halted temporarily in some mills, but sources in the food industry believe any general pinch in bread supplies may be weeks in coming.

Most bakers have a three or four weeks supply of flour on hand, these sources said today, and the full effect of the government's new order for a one-fourth slash in domestic flour production will not be felt while these reserves exist.

The American Bakers Association predicted a bread shortage which would be spotty at the start, depending on the flour supplies individual bakers have in reserve. Some bakers have a reserve supply sufficient for three or four weeks, although others reported less than a week's supply.

A surey showed most bakers were "feeling their way" as they started their new period of curtailed supplies. A spokesman for one major baking company who preferred not to be quoted said its future policy would not be decided until the company knew what supplies it could expect from the millers.

Some baking companies, while reporting their own plans were indefinite, predicted the curtailment of bread production would be felt almost immediately, with the bakers spreading their flour reserves over the entire period of shortage.

Major food chains, however, reported they had received no reports of bread shortages since flour production curtailment order became effective yesterday.

Seeks Re-election

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Rep. Wirt Courtney (D-Tenn) announced today that he would be a candidate for re-election. Courtney has served in Congress since May, 1939, when he was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Clarence W. Turner.

Gromyko Says He Will Not Discuss Question at Any Future Meetings

French Compromise Proposal Is Defeated by 8-to-3 Vote

DECISION TO SHELVE CASE IS REAFFIRMED

Soviet Delegate Attacks U. S. Stand, Calling It "Illogical"

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Russia, by an 8-to-3 vote, lost a bitter battle today to take the Iranian case off the United Nations Security Council agenda and Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko thereupon grimly served notice that he would not discuss Iran again at a council meeting.

Climaxing a two-hour session at which it was obvious to a packed chamber that the majority wanted a decision promptly, eight delegates kept their hands down when the chairman called for a vote on a French compromise proposal to turn the matter over to the United Nations secretary general for a report.

Russia, which associated itself with the French proposal in the final confused action, Poland and France were the only nations voting for the compromise.

Russia's original demand, contained in a letter dated April 6, for elimination of the Iranian question from the agenda immediately, was not voted upon. The chairman, Egypt's Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, held that Gromyko's brief statement in which he associated himself with the French proposal made a second vote unnecessary.

Gromyko Makes Statement

Then, with members of his staff stuffing papers in their bags and observers wondering whether Gromyko would again walkout as he did nearly a month ago, the Russian delegate made this statement:

"In view of the agreement reached between the Soviet government and the Iranian government on all questions and in view of the withdrawal of its appeal to the Security council by the Iranian government, the Soviet delegation considers that the decision of the Security council to retain the Iranian question on its agenda is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations.

"The Soviet delegation is therefore not able to participate in the

Marine Pilot Is Killed In Crash during Aerial Towing Demonstration

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (AP)—A marine pilot, Maj. William E. Peek, 27, Jenkintown, Pa., was killed today when his plane nose-dived into the Sassafras river near Fredericktown, Md., during an aerial towing demonstration, the navy reported.

The mishap occurred seconds after a PBY towing Maj. Peek's plane, an amphibious Widgeon, had taken off from Chesapeake bay.

Naval officers said that "due to the nature of the crash, it is impossible to say whether the tow-line snapped, or some other accident happened."

Two other passengers of the Widgeon, a small amphibious plane, were rescued unhurt by naval craft. They were Chief Aviation Machinists Mate Ralph Childs, Kansas City, Mo., and Ensign John Griannini, Charlottesville, Va.

C. and O. Stockholders Back Proposed Merger With Pere Marquette

RICHMOND, Va., April 23 (AP)—The proposed merger of the Pere Marquette Railway Company with the Chesapeake and Ohio received the approval of C. and O. stockholders here today.

The merger which will provide an integrated system of approximately 5,000 miles of main lines, will be voted on by Pere Marquette stockholders in Detroit May 7 and must also receive the sanction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is scheduled to open hearings tomorrow.

Jap Officer Will Hang For Slaying U. S. Fliers

MANILA, Wednesday, April 24.—(AP)—A United States military tribunal today convicted Capt. Satoru Ono and sentenced him to the gallows for slaying two captured United States fliers in New Guinea in 1944. He had beheaded one with a shovel after a sword proved too dull.

Sailor Who Went Berserk, Slew Nine Shipmates, Fights for Life

SHANGHAI, April 23—(AP)—A teen-age seaman went suddenly berserk on a navy LST up the Yangtze river today, and in a brief tragic rampage shot to death nine shipmates before stabbing himself.

One of his mortally-wounded victims, the navy said, managed to leap from his bunk in the LST's sleeping compartment and disarm the young sailor before he, himself, fell to the deck.

(A family source told the Asheville Times the seaman's name was "William V. Smith," rather than L. B. Smith.)

Smith was fighting for life tonight in the hospital ship Repose. He suffered three self-inflicted knife stabs in the abdomen, and was given a fifty-fifty chance to recover.

Also on the Repose was a tenth victim of Smith's fusillade with carbine and pistol, which he turned without warning on thirty seamen asleep at 3 a. m. in the compartment of LST 172.

He was identified as George E. Simpson, 18, seaman second class, Waterbury, Conn. He was struck on the left side of the chest by one of twenty rounds Smith fired before he was subsided.

The names of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Rear Adm. Bertram J. Rodgers, commander of the Seventh fleet amphibious forces, ordered an immediate court of inquiry and himself made a flying trip to the LST for a personal investigation.

Tawes Urges Closer Working Ties Between State, Counties, Cities

BALTIMORE, April 23 (AP)—State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, called today for "a closer working relationship" between the state government, the counties and cities.

In a statement issued by his campaign headquarters, Tawes said "the field of taxation is often pre-empted by the state while the counties and cities must place their main reliance upon overburdened real estate.

"In many cases, the grants by the state to the counties and cities are on an arbitrary basis, and in many instances unfair."

The state, he continued, has been fortunate "in having adequate revenues even in the face of mounting expenditures. The counties, Baltimore city, Cumberland, Frederick, Hagerstown, Salisbury and other cities and towns have not been so fortunate."

Tawes proposed "that the state continue its policy of reducing taxes on real estate until ultimately this source of revenue is left solely to the counties and the cities and towns. There are other sources of revenues that could be given up by the state to the political subdivisions x x x."

He said he would await the report of the Maryland commission on the Distribution of Tax Revenues before making further recommendations along this line.

He repeated his argument that the state should prepare an annual budget, rather than biennially, as at present.

Contending that "much responsibility must necessarily be placed in the board of public works," he said that, however, "the board of public works under the power entrusted in it by the legislature has reduced income taxes and made other important decisions.

"As a result, the budgets of the City of Baltimore and the counties have been adversely affected, even after they have been prepared.

"As governor, I shall call a conference of the responsible officials in our counties and cities and endeavor to work out a plan for fiscal periods all ending on June 30 or December 31."

Discussing money grants from the federal government, Tawes said "it is tempting to accept all the money we can get from Washington, but let it be remembered, nothing is given without its price."

"All too frequently this price involves a surrender of part of our state sovereignty to Washington. This I shall oppose vigorously."

Sun Spots Disrupt Radio Communication

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Radio communication between the United States and most of the world was almost blotted out and telegraphic service within the country disrupted today, apparently by a recurrence of abnormal sun spot activity.

Press Wireless, Inc., reported it had had "no real contact" with Europe for more than twenty-four hours at 10:30 p. m. (EST) and that there had been interruptions of contact with South America and points in the Pacific.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company said only one of its seven radio-telephone circuits to London was functioning last night and that domestic telegraph service had been interrupted for short periods.

Coroner's Jury Decides Woman Was Hammered To Death by Her Son

KEWANEE, Ill., April 23 (AP)—A coroner's jury decided tonight Mrs. Henry Younggren, 50, was hammered to death early today by her 27-year-old son, Richard E. Younggren, and recommended he be held to the grand jury on a first degree murder charge.

State's Attorney Reynolds M. Everett said Younggren, a coast guard hero and University of Illinois law graduate, would be arraigned tomorrow.

Chief of Police C. E. Rorab said Younggren telephoned the police station at 5:40 a. m. today and said: "Come down and get me. I have just killed my mother."

Dr. H. R. Varney testified at the inquest that Younggren told him this morning he had planned to "throw himself under a train" last night, but he found the train already had gone.

Mrs. Younggren had been beaten to death in the kitchen of her Kewanee home with a bricklayer's hammer, Rorah said.

Cline Is Convicted of Forging Papers in Estates of Two Women

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23 (AP)—Alfred Leonard Cline, 56, was convicted today of forging papers in the estates of two of the four elderly women who died mysteriously while associating with the ex-convisit the former choir singer.

After the swift verdict, the trial judge disclosed the white-haired defendant, during the course of the trial, had offered to plead guilty in order to get a shorter sentence. The offer was rejected.

Cline was convicted on all nine counts of forgery. A grand theft charge was dismissed earlier.

The jury returned the verdict less than two hours after taking it under deliberation. They had called for study exhibits which the prosecution contended were out-and-out forgeries of signatures of the two women.

Judge Herbert C. Kaufman set Saturday for sentence. The maximum term would be 126 years.

The tight-lipped Cline, who refused to testify and offered no witnesses in his behalf, was charged with forgery involving the estates of two women who married him—Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis Cline, Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Eva Delora Krebs Cline, Chicago. Both died and were cremated by Cline's order, Mrs. Lewis Cline in Jacksonville, and Mrs. Krebs Cline either in Dallas, Tex., or Portland, Ore.

J. W. Ehrlich, Cline's attorney, in his closing statement, answered the state's charge that Cline had set off "a chain of forgery deaths" with the assertion that the prosecution was seeking to lay the foundation for a murder trial later.

"I don't know whether he has committed a murder or not," Ehrlich told the jury of seven women and five men. "Let the other jury on the murder charges do what they please, but don't let yourselves be used as tools to carry out the wishes of the district attorney to get a forgery conviction to build up a murder case."

Cline is under a murder charge in Dallas, and currently is the subject of investigation by a San Francisco grand jury.

(A family source told the Asheville Times the seaman's name was "William V. Smith," rather than L. B. Smith.)

Smith was fighting for life tonight in the hospital ship Repose. He suffered three self-inflicted knife stabs in the abdomen, and was given a fifty-fifty chance to recover.

Also on the Repose was a tenth victim of Smith's fusillade with carbine and pistol, which he turned without warning on thirty seamen asleep at 3 a. m. in the compartment of LST 172.

He was identified as George E. Simpson, 18, seaman second class, Waterbury, Conn. He was struck on the left side of the chest by one of twenty rounds Smith fired before he was subsided.

The names of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Rear Adm. Bertram J. Rodgers, commander of the Seventh fleet amphibious forces, ordered an immediate court of inquiry and himself made a flying trip to the LST for a personal investigation.

Railway Express Workers Leave Jobs at Detroit

1,000 Attend Union Meeting; Strike May Start Friday

DETROIT, April 23 (AP)—Railway Express Company service in the Detroit area was at a standstill today as 1,000 workers left their jobs to attend a union meeting amidst reports that a nationwide strike of the company's 65,000 employes would begin at 12:01 a.m. (EST) Friday.

The National (railway) Mediation Board said at Washington that it had received formal notification from George M. Harrison, grand president of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Workers, that the country-wide strike would be called at that hour.

However, at New York, Daniel Harrison, president of Local 2130, reported 12,000 employes in the Metropolitan area had received instructions to halt work at midnight tomorrow (Wednesday), twenty-four hours earlier than the time announced by the mediation board.

Dispute May Go to Truman

It was indicated that the dispute might be sent to the White House under the mediation board's customary procedure of referring such disputes to the president with a request for appointment of a presidential fact-finding board to investigate and recommend settlements.

The walkout of Detroit workers was the second in two days, as they quit Monday to attend a meeting where they voted down a company offer of a ten-cent-an-hour wage boost and reaffirmed demands for sixteen cents.

Emil J. Hardesty, superintendent of the company's Detroit division, said he did not consider the employes on strike "as yet."

However, an embargo on all express shipments to and from the Detroit area was announced today by Railway Express Company. Railway express airline shipments were included, they said.

Hardesty said "all possible efforts" were being made to move perishable goods now on hand and R. J. Kowalski, an official of Local 2075, added that the union would not interfere with consignees who go to the express terminal to pick up their merchandise.

Airlines Is "Swamped"

American Airlines reported it was "swamped" with shipments as Detroiters strove to re-route their packages.

They said a special "local freight" flight was put into effect today in an effort to ease the crush and its first cargo of 8,000 pounds ranged from vitamin pills for the people of Mexico to auto fenders for West coast dealers.

Officials of Railway Express Company said they were unable to estimate the amount of material tied up at the Detroit terminal.

Union President Harrison said at Cincinnati that the national strike had been authorized after a similar dispute over the sixteen-cent proposal. He said the raise was requested to match one recently awarded to railway workers by the National Mediation Board.

97-Pound Tumor Is Removed from Woman

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—(AP)—A cystic tumor weighing ninety-seven pounds was removed from a woman today at San Francisco Polyclinic hospital.

The operation lasted two hours and was accomplished without transfusions. Surgeons said the woman, 51, would recover. She weighed 280 pounds before today.

Her name was withheld by the hospital.

Tawes Urges Closer Working Ties Between State, Counties, Cities

BALTIMORE, April 23 (AP)—State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, called today for "a closer working relationship" between the state government, the counties and cities.

In a statement issued by his campaign headquarters, Tawes said "the field of taxation is often pre-empted by the state while the counties and cities must place their main reliance upon overburdened real estate.

"In many cases, the grants by the state to the counties and cities are on an arbitrary basis, and in many instances unfair."

The state, he continued, has been fortunate "in having adequate revenues even in the face of mounting expenditures. The counties, Baltimore city, Cumberland, Frederick, Hagerstown, Salisbury and other cities and towns have not been so fortunate."

Tawes proposed "that the state continue its policy of reducing taxes on real estate until ultimately this source of revenue is left solely to the counties and the cities and towns. There are other sources of revenues that could be given up by the state to the political subdivisions x x x."

He said he would await the report of the Maryland commission on the Distribution of Tax Revenues before making further recommendations along this line.

He repeated his argument that the state should prepare an annual budget, rather than biennially, as at present.

Contending that "much responsibility must necessarily be placed in the board of public works," he said that, however, "the board of public works under the power entrusted in it by the legislature has reduced income taxes and made other important decisions.

"As a result, the budgets of the City of Baltimore and the counties have been adversely affected, even after they have been prepared.

"As governor, I shall call a conference of the responsible officials in our counties and cities and endeavor to work out a plan for fiscal periods all ending on June 30 or December 31."

Discussing money grants from the federal government, Tawes said "it is tempting to accept all the money we can get from Washington, but let it be remembered, nothing is given without its price."

"All too frequently this price involves a surrender of part of our state sovereignty to Washington. This I shall oppose vigorously."

FIVE SULLIVAN BROTHERS WHO CAME BACK

UNLIKE THE FIVE SULLIVAN BROTHERS of Waterloo, Iowa, who were killed in action, these five Minneapolis, Minn., Sullivans, who were also in the heat of battle, are now at home to tell about it. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Sullivan, Minneapolis. They came through a total of fifteen years in service without suffering a scratch. Here Mrs. Sullivan takes down the five-star service flag as her boys look on. They are (back, left to right) Donald, 21, William, 28, and James, 31. In front are Edward, 23, and Arthur, 25.

LaGuardia Plea Fails To Alter Coal Deadlock

Lewis Aide Says Miners Lack Authority To Dig Coal for UNRRA

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—Director General Fiorello H. LaGuardia's plea for coal for UNRRA failed today to alter the bituminous strike deadlock.

K. C. Adams, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, said in a statement that the miners "possess no authority, legally, financially or otherwise to order resumption of production. The miners don't own the mines."

Adams added that "if LaGuardia knows no more about European needs and public charity than his concept of the New York transit situation while mayor his junk is publicity stuff."

Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, wrote LaGuardia:

"While representing a most tragic situation and one that we are desirous of alleviating as quick as possible, it differs only in the time element from one that is now beginning to confront our own country. Without coal our railroads, utilities and manufacturing plants soon will be brought to a point of complete idleness.

"The coal mines of America have been shut down by the unilateral action of the United Mine Workers of America. These mines have been and are now ready to produce coal when the men return to work."

The operators added that since Lewis walked out of the negotiations April 10 they have "stood ready at all times to resume the work of negotiating a coal wage contract and producing coal."

"One paramount issue has (blocked) and continues to block negotiations," the letter continued. "That issue is the adamant insistence of Mr. (John L.) Lewis on the right to levy an assessment on each ton of production for the exclusive

BEDFORD, Ia., April 23 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Worm, 41, tonight withdrew a former plea of innocent and entered a written plea of guilty to the two-and-a-half-year-old slaying of her husband, Tommy Worm, 42.

Mrs. Worm pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced by district Judge George A. Johnson to forty-five years at hard labor in the women's reformatory at Rockwell City, Ia.

Henry Schmitt, 62, Husky Lenox, Ia., horse trader and admitted lover of Mrs. Worm was sentenced to ninety-nine years at hard labor in the state penitentiary March 29.

Mrs. Worm and Schmidtt have admitted in previous statements that Worm was slain on November 4, 1943, and Schmidtt told a bizarre story of twice burying and exhuming the body before finally disposing of it in the Mississippi river.

Senate Military Group Approves Unification Bill

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—The Senate's Military committee today approved a bill to unify the armed services and its Finance committee voted to cut the public debt limit by $25,000,000,000.

These and other committee activities were the only business transacted at the capitol. The Senate adjourned early out of respect to the late Chief Justice Stone and the House was in recess.

The military committee voted approval of the measure drafted by a subcommittee headed by Chairman Thomas (D-Utah). It would set up the air forces on an equal footing with the army and navy and combine the three services in a single "Department of Common Defense" under one cabinet secretary.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said that the recommended reduction of the public dept limit to $275,000,000,000 would put treasury borrowings on a pay-as-you-go basis. Secretary of the Treasury Vinson agreed to the reduction when the committee provided that the statutory debt should

Coroner's Jury Decides Woman Was Hammered To Death by Her Son

KEWANEE, Ill., April 23 (AP)—A coroner's jury decided tonight Mrs. Henry Younggren, 50, was hammered to death early today by her 27-year-old son, Richard E. Younggren, and recommended he be held to the grand jury on a first degree murder charge.

State's Attorney Reynolds M. Everett said Younggren, a coast guard hero and University of Illinois law graduate, would be arraigned tomorrow.

Chief of Police C. E. Rorah said Younggren telephoned the police station at 5:40 a. m. today and said: "Come down and get me. I have just killed my mother."

Dr. H. R. Varney testified at the inquest that Younggren told him this morning he had planned to "throw himself under a train" last night, but he found the train already had gone.

Mrs. Younggren had been beaten to death in the kitchen of her Kewanee home with a bricklayer's hammer, Rorah said.

Domestic Flour Grinding Halts In Some Mills

General Pinch in Bread Supplies May Be Weeks in Coming

CHICAGO, April 23 (AP)—Grinding of flour for domestic consumption already has halted temporarily in some mills, but sources in the food industry believe any general pinch in bread supplies may be weeks in coming.

Most bakers have a three or four weeks supply of flour on hand, these sources said today, and the full effect of the government's new order for a one-fourth slash in domestic flour production will not be felt while these reserves exist.

The American Bakers Association predicted a bread shortage which would be spotty at the start, depending on the flour supplies individual bakers have in reserve. Some bakers have a reserve supply sufficient for three or four weeks, although others reported less than a week's supply.

A surey showed most bakers were "feeling their way" as they started their new period of curtailed supplies. A spokesman for one major baking company who preferred not to be quoted said its future policy would not be decided until the company knew what supplies it could expect from the millers.

Some baking companies, while reporting their own plans were indefinite, predicted the curtailment of bread production would be felt almost immediately, with the bakers spreading their flour reserves over the entire period of shortage.

Major food chains, however, reported they had received no reports of bread shortages since flour production curtailment order became effective yesterday.

Seeks Re-election

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Rep. Wirt Courtney (D-Tenn) announced today that he would be a candidate for re-election. Courtney has served in Congress since May, 1939, when he was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Clarence W. Turner.

Gromyko Says He Will Not Discuss Question at Any Future Meetings

French Compromise Proposal Is Defeated by 8-to-3 Vote

DECISION TO SHELVE CASE IS REAFFIRMED

Soviet Delegate Attacks U. S. Stand, Calling It "Illogical"

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Russia, by an 8-to-3 vote, lost a bitter battle today to take the Iranian case off the United Nations Security Council agenda and Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko thereupon grimly served notice that he would not discuss Iran again at a council meeting.

Climaxing a two-hour session at which it was obvious to a packed chamber that the majority wanted a decision promptly, eight delegates kept their hands down when the chairman called for a vote on a French compromise proposal to turn the matter over to the United Nations secretary general for a report.

Russia, which associated itself with the French proposal in the final confused action, Poland and France were the only nations voting for the compromise.

Russia's original demand, contained in a letter dated April 6, for elimination of the Iranian question from the agenda immediately, was not voted upon. The chairman, Egypt's Dr. Hafez Afifi Pasha, held that Gromyko's brief statement in which he associated himself with the French proposal made a second vote unnecessary.

Gromyko Makes Statement

Then, with members of his staff stuffing papers in their bags and observers wondering whether Gromyko would again walkout as he did nearly a month ago, the Russian delegate made this statement:

"In view of the agreement reached between the Soviet government and the Iranian government on all questions and in view of the withdrawal of its appeal to the Security council by the Iranian government, the Soviet delegation considers that the decision of the Security council to retain the Iranian question on its agenda is contrary to the Charter of the United Nations.

"The Soviet delegation is therefore not able to participate in the

Marine Pilot Is Killed In Crash during Aerial Towing Demonstration

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (AP)—A marine pilot, Maj. William E. Peek, 27, Jenkintown, Pa., was killed today when his plane nose-dived into the Sassafras river near Fredericktown, Md., during an aerial towing demonstration, the navy reported.

The mishap occurred seconds after a PBY towing Maj. Peek's plane, an amphibious Widgeon, had taken off from Chesapeake bay.

Naval officers said that "due to the nature of the crash, it is impossible to say whether the tow-line snapped, or some other accident happened."

Two other passengers of the Widgeon, a small amphibious plane, were rescued unhurt by naval craft. They were Chief Aviation Machinists Mate Ralph Childs, Kansas City, Mo., and Ensign John Griannini, Charlottesville, Va.

Cline Is Convicted of Forging Papers in Estates of Two Women

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23 (AP)—Alfred Leonard Cline, 56, was convicted today of forging papers in the estates of two of the four elderly women who died mysteriously while associating with the ex-convict the former choir singer.

After the swift verdict, the trial judge disclosed the white-haired defendant, during the course of the trial, had offered to plead guilty in order to get a shorter sentence. The offer was rejected.

Cline was convicted on all nine counts of forgery. A grand theft charge was dismissed earlier.

The jury returned the verdict less than two hours after taking it under deliberation. They had called for study exhibits which the prosecution contended were out-and-out forgeries of signatures of the two women.

Judge Herbert C. Kaufman set Saturday for sentence. The maximum term would be 126 years.

The tight-lipped Cline, who refused to testify and offered no witnesses in his behalf, was charged with forgery involving the estates of two women who married him—Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt Lewis Cline, Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Eva Delora Krebs Cline, Chicago. Both died and were cremated by Cline's order, Mrs. Lewis Cline in Jacksonville, and Mrs. Krebs Cline either in Dallas, Tex., or Portland, Ore.

J. W. Ehrlich, Cline's attorney, in his closing statement, answered the state's charge that Cline had set off "a chain of forgery deaths" with the assertion that the prosecution was seeking to lay the foundation for a murder trial later.

"I don't know whether he has committed a murder or not," Ehrlich told the jury of seven women and five men. "Let the other jury on the murder charges do what they please, but don't let yourselves be used as tools to carry out the wishes of the district attorney to get a forgery conviction to build up a murder case."

Cline is under a murder charge in Dallas, and currently is the subject of investigation by a San Francisco grand jury.

Fever Is Body's Way of Signaling Help Is Needed

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Fever is the body's great battle-chart. First, by its very presence, it tells the doctor that a fight against an invader is under way and, by its later ups and downs, shows him how that struggle is progressing.

Ordinarily, of course, fever is not the sole sign of disease. The enemy will betray his presence and identity in many other ways, but sometimes he works so secretly that fever gives the first and only signal that help is needed.

Diagnosis Hard

In these cases, the doctor's job is likely to be difficult. He knows that the battle is joined but is unable to identify the masked and hidden foe and until he does, he can do little to aid.

One of these conditions is what is known as postnasal infection. This is an infection in the back part of the nose. However, a careful examination of the sinuses, including the use of x-ray and what is known as transillumination may help show when the difficulty is located in these areas.

Transillumination is carried out by putting the patient in a dark room and shining a light through the sinuses. If there is infection in the sinuses, the presence of secretions or thickening of the membranes will keep the light from passing through.

Of course, many people know that tuberculosis may be present for some time without causing noticeable symptoms other than a slight rise in temperature particularly in the afternoon. According to Dr. F. Kenneth Albrecht, of Florida, an early diagnosis of tuberculosis requires the taking of an x-ray of the chest, together with an examination of the sputum for the presence of the tuberculosis germs.

Undulant Fever

Another cause of hidden or obscure fever is undulant fever. This condition may be present for years without causing enough symptoms to make its diagnosis easy. In fact, fever may be the only symptom present. After a time, however, there may be such things as weakness, loss of weight, anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood, and mental depression.

There are certain tests which can be made that are helpful. One of these is an agglutination test in which it is determined whether or not the patient's serum will cause the germs known as the Brucella, which cause this disease to collect in clumps. A skin test may also be carried out by injecting killed germs into the skin and noting whether a reaction occurs in the form of redness.

Questions and Answers

M. O.: I have severe headaches and for several days after, my nose needs blowing constantly. I blow out dark red clots and there is also a thick, yellowish discharge from my left eye What is the cause?

Answer: It is probable that the trouble you have is due to a chronic sinus infection. However, it may be that your symptoms are due to allergy or sensitivity to some pollen or dust, or other substance with which you come in contact.

Examination by a nose and throat specialist would be advisable.

City Water Wanted For Dixie School

Stating that the water at the Dixie school at Wiley Ford, W. Va., has been declared unsafe, H. L. Idleman, superintendent of Mineral County schools has addressed a request to the mayor and city council asking that Cumberland water be furnished for the school.

The request was referred to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards and City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett. Commenting on the request, Heskett said the city has no authority to enter into business in West Virginia and that he does not recommend that such authority be sought as the city would become subject to regulations of the West Virginia Public Service Commission and would face taxation while not receiving much revenue.

Heskett said that numerous times, it has been suggested that a water company be established by the residents of the community and that the city could sell water to the company and the latter would engage in business in West Virginia. He said the suggestion had been made to the fire company and a sportsman's group, but so far, no action has been taken.

The city solicitor said that the water line to the airport was constructed in such a manner as to make servicing of Wiley Ford a possibility.

New State Law Results In License Suspensions

Failure to comply with Maryland's new financial responsibility law has resulted in the suspension of the licenses and registration of 334 motorists, including several in the Cumberland area and sixty-four from outside the state, according to W. Lee Elgin, commissioner of motor vehicles. These operators are under suspension as of March 31.

An additional 292 motorists, to whom suspension orders had been issued from March 1 to March 31, had met the requirements of the law within that period by posting security to cover accidents in which they had been involved, and their orders of suspension, therefore, had been rescinded, Elgin said. All the suspension orders issued last month cover accidents in Maryland from January 1 through January 31.

According to the law, motorists are required to post within sixty days of an accident, security in the form of cash, a bond or certificate of insurance to cover injury or damage in excess of $50 to others.

MORE TIME TO LIVE

Despite wars, depressions, plague and famine, mankind somehow stumbles toward a better life for himself and for his children. After every war, man has realized more and more his own dignity and has attempted to get more out of life for himself. One way this has manifested itself is in the shortening of the working week. A shorter working week means more leisure to spend with one's family, more time to play baseball, read books, or just loaf.

We at Rosenbaum's, always in tune with new trends for better living, are happy to give our whole-hearted support to the new shorter Saturday hours in order that those who serve you in the retail stores may have more time to follow their own pursuits.

The Nation Loses A Great Jurist

THE NATION has suffered a grievous loss in the death of Harlan F. Stone, chief justice of the United States. He was a great jurist, a faithful public servant in the highest of American traditions and held the respect of every group and faction.

Chief Justice Stone was appointed to the court as an associate justice by President Coolidge in 1925. Sixteen years later he was elevated to the position of chief justice by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was an associate justice when the long procession of New Deal legal controversies reached the tribunal and joined Justices Brandies and Cardoso to form what was at the time regarded as the "liberal wing" of the court. But subsequent appointments to the court by President Roosevelt made his liberal attitude seem tame in comparison.

The question of presidential tenure is again brought to the fore by the death of Chief Justice Stone, since his passing leaves the court with only one Republican—former Senator Harold N. Burton, an appointee of President Truman. In addition there remain seven Democratic appointees of President Roosevelt. In chronological order they are Justices Black, who will temporarily head the court pending a new appointment; Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, Murphy, Jackson and Rutledge—all chosen primarily because of their New Deal leanings.

This ill-balanced composition of the court constitutes an argument of import against a long domination of a single president, particularly in this instance one who sought persistently to sway the complexion of the tribunal both by his narrow selections and his attempt to swing it by packing it with additional members. Chief Justice Stone was the last man on the supreme bench who was there during the famous fight by President Roosevelt to reorganize the high tribunal.

Also is stressed the impolitic practice followed in recent years of detaching members of the court for special services—since Justice Jackson is still absent as prosecutor at the trials of war crime suspects in Germany, thus leaving only seven members for duty until a new chief justice is chosen, which should be soon for the obvious reason that the smaller bench, reduced in some cases to an even smaller number, operates to impede the function of the tribunal and important litigation pending therein.

The appointment of Senator Burton by Perisdent Truman served to mollify although in small part the situation created by the Roosevelt appointments. It is to be hoped that the same breadth of mind will be exemplified by President Truman in filling the vacancy. But the death of Chief Justice Stone creates a painful void in the court that will be difficult to fill. As Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) has declared his death is a tremendous loss both to the judiciary and to the nation as whole.

Wartime Jargon Gets Into the Dictionary

EVERY WAR brings into the vocabulary by dint of popular usage some new and for the nonce strange jargon, and the recent war proved no exception. Not only is some of the jargan a definite part of the vocabularly, but it is going into the dictionaries, thus achieving a definite place in the language.

The Associated Press reports such inclusion in the Funk and Wagnalls abridged dictionary of 150,000 words now in preparation and due for press issuance in the fall.

If you think corn and cheesecake are just something to eat and don't know what "jive," "jerk" and "snafu" mean, Dr. Charles Earle Funk, lexicographer and editor of the dictionary, has the lowdown on them for you, along with other new terms.

"We don't limit people on word usage," Funk said as he thumbed through his page proofs. "We don't make the language. "If a word is used on the radio constantly so that people expect to see it in the dictionary, we use it."

That's how jerk made the grade. The dictionary say it means "an unpopular person." And jive, says the book, is "the jargon of swing music: also swing music."

Corn, in its new meaning, turns out to be "trite, or banal, especially jazz rendered in a sweet or sentimental style."

Newspapers have popularized cheesecake as a term until now it has the accepted meaning of "a photograph, featuring a girl's legs."

As for the GI's favorite expression, snafu, the definition is "situation normal, all fouled up."

Explanation of that is timely since many persons have called up this newspaper to find out just what it stands for, and this, it is hoped, will relieve the curiosity of others in the same fix.

Tuberculin Tests Are Important

(A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.)

SCHOOL CHILDREN in some communities in the United States are given tuberculin tests every year. These tests are an aid in the great nation-wide hunt for unknown cases of tuberculosis. The tests do not, by themselves, reveal the presence of the disease, but they indicate the need for further study of the patient and help in the search for the unrecognized case from which infection originated.

There are, it is estimated, at least 500,000 cases of tuberculosis in this country, more than half of which are unknown to health authorities. Since tuberculosis is a communicable disease, these unknown cases constitute a serious public health threat. A person with active tuberculosis, unaware that he has the disease, is risking his own life and may be spreading the disease in the community.

In order to find these unknown cases, mass chest X-ray surveys are advocated by the Tuberculosis Control division of the United States Public Health Service and by the National Tuberculosis Association and its state and local affiliates. The X-ray is the easiest way to find pulmonary tuberculosis in its early stages when there are no outward symptoms.

While children of elementary school age seldom have pulmonary tuberculosis, and therefore X-ray examinations are not practical, if they have come in contact with the disease, the TB germs may be present in their bodies. The tuberculin test reveals the presence of these germs and provides a lead in tracking down the source of infection.

Tuberculin reacts positively only to the germs when they have entered the body. If the test is negative, that is an end of the matter. If it is positive, then an X-ray picture is taken to find out if the child has healthy lungs. If the X-ray shows that the lungs are not diseased, then members of his family and other persons with whom he may have come in close contact are urged to have chest X-rays. This procedure frequently leads to the discovery of hitherto unknown cases of tuberculosis.

Tuberculin tests are also used to help the doctor in diagnosing doubtful cases of tuberculosis. Sometimes an X-ray reveals suspicious-looking shadows on the lungs, which may be caused by tuberculosis or may be due to several other causes. The test is then given and, if it is negative, the doctor knows his patient has not tuberculosis.

Jerrybuilders On the Loose

IT COSTS forty-four per cent more to build a home today than in 1940. The house that could be built for $5,000 in 1940 costs $7,200 today, and it will cost still more six months from now, according to a study by the Northwestern Life Insurance Company.

Questionnaire surveys have disclosed that four out of five veterans want homes costing $6,000 or less. By shoddy construction, popularly known as jerrybuilding, a house can be thrown together for fifteen per cent less than the cost of good, sound construction. Thus the house costing $7,200 could be cut to just about $6,000. Veterans and all prospective home buyers need to beware of a possible epidemic of jerrybuilding. The vast postwar construction field is likely to attract a certain proportion of "slick" operators.

The prospective buyer should deal with a well-established reputable concern, or at least be assured of expert inspection during construction by the mortgage concern which finances the home.

A reader wants to know why President Truman considered it necesary to cancel his vacation when the steel strike was on, but now thinks it is all right to take a vacation while the coal strike is on. The reader says it doesn't make sense to him and a lot of others are similarly mystified.

Profit Return Is Not Understood, Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Whatever faults our business system has, its worst fault is that it is not understood. Everything shows that the rank and file want to be fair to business.

For example, a recent poll shows that the Man on the Street believes that the average profit of automobile manufacturing companies is twenty-four per cent. That makes him sore. He thinks that is too much—that it is unfair. So, he strikes and the public generally supports the strikers.

Well, the fact is that automobile profits, when there are any, run from four per cent to eight per cent, or from one-sixth to one-third what the Man on the Street believes them to be.

But here is the pay-off. The same Man on the Street, sore and resentful as he may have been, was asked a second question: What do you think a fair profit would be? The average answer was twelve per cent.

Not His Fault

In short, the Man on the Street considers fair a profit greater than the automobile companies actually make! But because he thinks they make an unfair profit, he has a grouch.

Whose fault is this? It is not the fault of the Man on the Street.

Here is more proof. The "Railway Age" took a similar poll, not of the Man on the Street, but of railway employes themselves. Fifty-three per cent (or more than a majority) of the railway men who had any opinion on the subject thought that the railroads made from twenty-five per cent to seventy-five per cent on their investment in the recent wartime year of 1944.

Again, the fact is, as shown by the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, the profits of all railroads combined that year were a tiny fraction over four per cent.

And here is the pay-off a second time. Ninety per cent of railway workers having an opinion on the subject thought the railroads should be allowed a greater profit than they are actually making!

Whose Fault?

Whose fault it is that the railway workers—who want to be fair to the investors who have put their dough into the locomotives, tunnels, bridges and road beds they work on, are so wrong on the facts?

There are 1,400,000 good Americans running our railroads and doing the bang-up-ed-est job ever done in the world's history in moving things and citizens hither and yon over the best piece of real estate on this planet. Yet less than six out of 100 of them, who have any ideas on the subject, know the truth about railroad profits.

Seventy-five per cent of them thought that American railroads had made a profit these past fifteen years. Yet the fact is that on the average over these fifteen years, fifty-five per cent of the railroads paid no dividends whatever to their investors. Even in the wartime peak years of 1944, forty-two per cent of them paid no return to their owners.

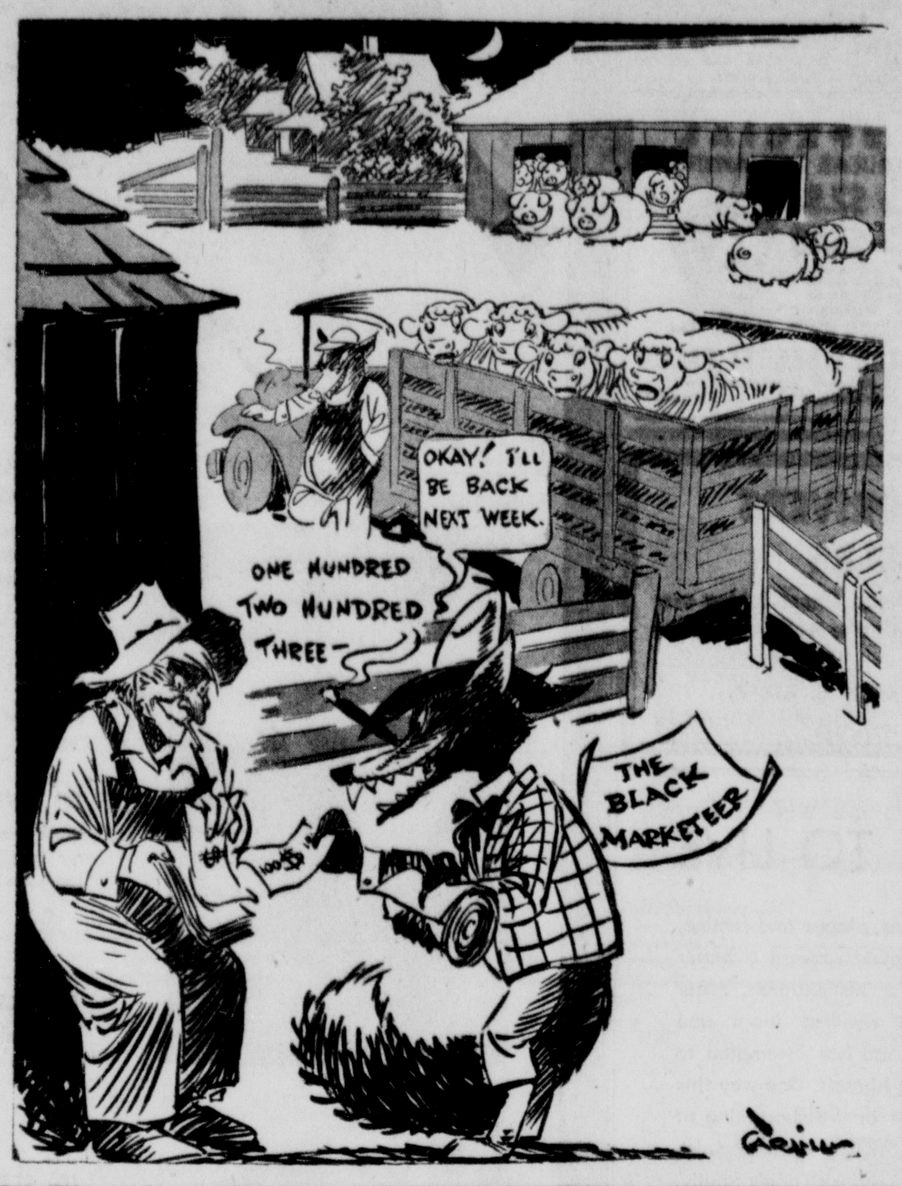
Popular Justice Best Hope

Abraham Lincoln once said, "Why should there not be a patient confidence in the ultimate justice of the people? Is there any better or equal hope in the world?"

No, there is not. And we recognize that this is so in our jury system. We submit the most important questions of life, liberty and property — running sometimes to millions of dollars—to the "ultimate justice of the people,"—the Man on the Jury—the same kind of man who holds the bridle of the Iron Horse, or works a turret lathe or pushes a plow down a furrow. In his hands, provided he knows the facts, provided he hears both sides of the case, the "patient confidence" of a great people is seldom, if ever betrayed.

The managers and investors in American business should "think on these things," as St. Paul phrased it. For whatsoever things are true, and honest, and just, or of good report, will be honored by the Man on the Street.

IT PAYS TO DO BUSINESS WITH WOLF AND COMPANY



THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Die-Hards Blocked Housing Measure Before Easter Recess, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 23 — The inside story of why the House didn't vote on final enactment of the Patman housing bill before the Easter recess isn't a happy one—from the standpoint of home-seeking war veterans. Here's what happened:

A joint conference of Senate and House committees was called just before the Easter recess in a rush to get House approval of Senate amendments. These amendments included restoration of $600,000,000 in subsidies to stimulate production of scarce building materials.

Held in the usual secrecy, the conference lasted all day in hope that the bill could be passed before House members left on their Easter holiday. Soon after the conference got under way at 9 a. m., however, it became apparent that this was forlorn hope.

Subsity Fight Notice Served

Four of the seven House conferees —Republicans Wolcott, of Michigan and Gamble of New York, plus Democrat Brown, of Georgia—(all VAV congressmen) — served notice they would make a bitter-end fight against the $600,000,000 in subsidies, as well as the Senate's amendment calling for a government-guaranteed market to producers of 200,000 prefabricated houses. Since prefabricated houses are produced on a mass basis, the Senate considered it necessary to guarantee builders a market of 200,000 houses.

Wolcott, Crawford, Gamble and Brown weren't really opposed to this guaranteed market amendment, but used it as a compromising weapon to scuttle subsidies. In other words, they offered to back down on a guaranteed market if the other conferees backed down on subsidies —described by President Truman as the "heart" of the bill.

This proposition was flatly rejected by the remaining three House conferees—Rep. Wright Patman, of Texas, author of the original bill; Brent Spence, of Kentucky, and William Barry, of New York (all Democrats).

The seven Senate conferees were also unanimously opposed, including Barkley, of Kentucky; Murdock, of Utah; Taylor, of Idaho; Mitchell, of Washington; Taft, of Ohio; Buck, of Delaware, and Capehart, of Indiana.

Nix on Subsidies

Patman and Barkley urged, begged and cajoled with the four House objectors, but got nowhere. Finally they offered a compromise—to cut the subsidy provision from $600,000,000 to $400,000,000.

"We haven't time to guarrel here all day," Patman, of Texas, pleaded. "It will be too late if we don't reach an agreement soon. The House will recess for Easter in just a few hours."

However, the adamant four refused to budge an inch. They knew that as long as they stuck together they could prevent the bill from being submitted to the House.

"We are against subsidies in any form," Wolcott and his cohorts repeated over and over again. "We are against a billion, $400,000,000 — or even one dollar."

At 3 p. m., after about six hours of bickering, it was decided that the Senate conferees should depart and let the warring House delegates try to work out an agreement alone. The seven senators were to be notified of their progress. Another hour passed. When no word came from the House conferees, several senators investigated and learned that the meeting had broken up with Wolcott and Crawford, of Michigan; Gamble, of New York, and Brown, of Georgia, still refusing to compromise.

Finally the conference adjourned, the four VAV dissenters glowing with victory. Their colleagues are betting, however, that after hearing from their war-vet constituents during the Easter recess, they won't come back so happy.

Note — "VAV" is the designation which veterans' groups are attaching to congressmen who "Voted against Veterans."

European Diet

Believe it or not, but Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's home economics bureau has declined to give out any more suggested diets equivalent to what the people of Europe are eating.

This doesn't represent the view of the bureau's boss, Secretary Anderson, because he is one of Washington's most vigorous food economizers. However, bureaucrats will always be bureaucrats, and, protected by civil sevice, frequently thumb their noses at bosses.

Meanwhile, here is a suggested day's diet totaling 1,500 calories (the European diet), prepared by Albert M. Goudiss, editor of the home economists' magazine, "Forecast":

Breakfast — one orange, sliced; broiled mashed potato patty, cooked only with milk . . . no fat; one poached egg; coffee or tea with one teaspoon sugar, no cream; milk for children.

Luncheon — Fish, with vegetable and potato chowder (use no fat or flour); fruit or dessert; milk for children and adults.

Dinner — Chicken and vegetable pie with mashed potato topping; cole slaw (dressing made of evaporated milk, lemon juice, and spices); victory pie (deep dish fruit pie with no top or bottom crust—use apples and raisins, no sugar,—spread cottage cheese over top); coffee or tea for adults; milk for cifildren.

Note—If all the foods allowed in the meals are eaten, the individual will be provided with adequate nutrition—an abundance of protein, vitamins, and minerals. No food should be wasted and no meals omitted.

Truman's Girl Friend

The leading lady of the poppy presentation ceremonies to President Truman fell hard for the chief executive.

Three-year-old Betty Lou Hall, Eaton Rapids, Mich., one of five orphaned children left by a heroic infantryman killed after the Normandy invasion, was selected to put the poppy in Truman's lapel in behalf of war orphans of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Her job finished, the little girl was asked by photographers if she didn't want to kiss the president. She complied not with one kiss, but a shower of them. In fact, the young lady seemed inclined to continue this part of the proceedings indefinitely until reminded that her embraces were sufficient for picture purposes.

Diplomatic Chaff

The Russian trade mission to Argentina is not on a brief visit. The Russians brought their families and are prepared to negotiate a long-term trade deal, especially trying to buy the Argentine linseed oil crop. If they succeed, the American home-building program for veterans will be very short of paint. . . . The United States and Great Britain are pressing for an early election in Rumania—which the Russians don't seem to want. . . . In the Mexican presidential election races Miguel Aleman, with labor and liberal support, is running ahead of ex-Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla, an able diplomat and friend of the U. S. A.

Visit of Russian Editors Is Viewed As a Fine Thing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The three newspapermen from Russia who have been attending the meeting here of the American Society of Newspaper Editors made a favorable impression but it would have been even more favorable if the translator hadn't forgotten to repeat to the audience one of the statements of the Russians.

"The peoples of the two countries," said one of the Russian editors, "really want to get closer together but this isn't always possible because of things at the top level."

Presumably the point was that two governments get entangled in differences which the respective peoples do not relish but are unable to prevent.

From the American viewpoint there is, however, a way to prevent such a contingency. It is to open up wide all questions for public discussion. The Russian form of censorship in peacetime keeps essential information away from the people.

Admission Policy Strict

Thus, the three Russian visitors said quite generously that they would like to see more American correspondents coming to Russia, but what the Moscow newspapermen evidently do not know is that their own government has a strict policy about admitting foreign correspondents.

One of the visitors, when told of the delays, thought it might be the bureaucratic red tape which is customary in all countries and he referred humorously to the delay in admitting the Russian editors themselves through the immigration inspection in New York. But such delays of a few hours are not to be compared with the difficulties experienced by American newspapers in trying to send correspondents to Moscow.

Great newspapers like the New York Times have encountered long delays in getting correspondents into Russia, and the same thing is true of the Chicago Sun, which has been friendly to Russian policies. What is most embarrassing about such delays is that newspapers must keep their correspondents marking time in London or Berlin for months while they wait for the desired permission.

Prompter Answer Possible

It does seem possible that Moscow could give a "yes" or "no" answer more promptly as a courtesy to the American newspapers. Sometimes a whole year elapses before an answer is given.

Moscow is an important capital. From a news standpoint, it is as important as, if not more important than, either Washington or London. The American press would send 100 correspondents there tomorrow if the Russians allowed it. Actually there are fewer than a dozen correspondents of all the foreign press, British included, in Moscow today.

With all the outcry in the United States for better understanding between Russia and the United States —and the feeling is widespread and genuine—it would seem that admission of American correspondents to Moscow would be one way to assure better relationships and better understanding.

The Russian newspaperman made a hit with the Americans. They seemed to be sincere and plainly desirous of doing everything in their power to bring about closer relations between the American and the Russian peoples. But are they free agents? One newspaperman here who speaks Russian told this correspondent that each Russian visitor was accompanied by an observer from the Russian secret police who acts as translator. None of the Russian editors speak or understand English.

Visit a Fine Thing

With all the disadvantages of the language barrier, it is nevertheless a fine thing that the Russian editors came to the United States. Certainly the addressed an influential gathering of editors of American newspapers and there could be no mistaking the warmth of the reception accorded the Russians every time they made an appearance.

The significant fact is that the Russian and American peoples could be fast friends. Will the governments be able to maintain that friendship or will the rapidly increasing number of disputed points ultimately wind up in a revelation to both the peoples of the United States and Russia that their governments have not been able to get along with each other? The next few weeks may tell the story, for the outlook for a settlement of difficult points is far from bright.

It takes more patience than is generally imagined to be secretary of state these days, and James F. Byrnes appears to be quietly exercising patience, forbearance and restraint. He is endeavoring to work out agreements and adjustments in the face of a bewildering array of unreasonable demands which apparently have little to do with the security of Russia but which have everything to do with the rise of Allied discord in Europe.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The other night Sydney Greenstreet appeared on my radio program and he was very good. In fact, it was worth all the trouble we went to. . . . . reinforcing the stage! Sydney is really fat. He's the only man I know who has to butter himself to get into a telephone booth. He makes a lot of calls so this probably accounts for the shortage.

But Sydney and I are old friends. We played together in "Roberta" quite a while ago. I'd give you the exact date, but I'm starting to get a little touchy about those things. In those days Sydney was a comic, but then he went to Warner Brothers and became a heavy. The heaviest, in fact. But it was very economical for Warner Brothers, hiring Sydney to be a villian. No matter how they photograph him, he always looks as if there were a gang following him.

Sydney is always making those pictures with Humphrey Bogart. Bogart has spent so much time chasing him that Lauren Bacall is getting jealous! On the screen Greenstreet is a pretty shady character. In fact, when the sun is out, there's no one in Hollywood who throws a bigger shade. Greenstreet, what a name for him! He looks more like the whole Lincoln highway.

But it's pretty tough work being a villian at Warner Brothers. For every scene Sydney has to carry four pistols, a knife, brass knuckles, a sword cane and a silk handkerchief to wipe off fingerprints and Peter Lorre's chin when he gets through hissing.

Light Equipment

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Any soldier, or traveler, can testify to the value of light equipment. Most of us make the mistake of carting too much around with us, no matter where we go. The economical essentials of man are really very few. A friend of mine, who now lives very comfortably and happily on a moderate income, recently told me that he has never been so happy since he lost a million dollars! The equipment was too heavy. It caused him too much worry and anxiety.

There are those who would risk the million, rather than the comfortable income, but still I side with my friend. Too few know how to handle a million, or more, for that matter.

The heaviest equipment that anyone can carry, however, is a liberal supply of fears, worries, and regrets. Peace of mind, and a generous attitude towards all with whom we come in contact, form equipment that will carry any of us the full distance that life consumes.

Most of us could live in half the space we do. The garrets of our homes are nearly always filled with needless things.

One thing that we cannot have too much of is knowledge. We can easily carry all of it that we can accommodate. Ideas do not take up room. They make room! I once looked upon the battered bag of the late Bob Davis, who had carried it all around the world. But from his mind flowed such a flood of ideas and information that, when he died, he left behind a precious group of books, the result of his travels that will delight untold members for many a decade.

The longer we live the more we realize the futility of possessions. They weigh us down, both mentally and spiritually. The joy of distributing them is so much greater. There is no room for them in any grave. But happily distributed, in life, they leave a never ending glow that radiates afar.

I have watched the foolish ant, carrying something many times its own weight, for half an hour or more, only to see it drop it finally and go on its way. But human beings do the same things. They waste years in foolish carrying, that might have added years to their lives, had they lightened their load earlier. Travel lightly—and go far.

Gypsy "Charm Healing" Not Christian Science

Editor The Cumberland News:

In your issue of April 19 you report that a man 77 was "fleeced" by gypsy women who promised to heal his daughter of an affliction by means of a "charm" and that the police reported that the gypsies "professed to be representatives of the Christian Science faith."

I am sure you will allow me space to correct the false impression that Christian Scientists heal by means of "charms."

Webster's Dictionary has this definition for charm: bewitch, spell.

We read in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy; "the necromancers of Egypt strove to emulate the wonders wrought by Moses. Such theories have no relationship to Christian Science, which rests on the conception of God as the only Life, substance, and intelligence, and excludes the human mind as a spiritual factor in the healing work."

Christian Science teaches that all healing comes through strict adherence to the truth and any deviation results in failure.

Your news account is a record of thieves with purpose widely separated from the mental processes that are essential to healing by spiritual means.

Again in Science and Health (456:16) "Any dishonesty in your theory and practice betrays a gross ignorance of the method of the Christ-cure."

I am sure your readers will approve this correction.

The Nation Loses A Great Jurist

THE NATION has suffered a grievous loss in the death of Harlan F. Stone, chief justice of the United States. He was a great jurist, a faithful public servant in the highest of American traditions and held the respect of every group and faction.

Chief Justice Stone was appointed to the court as an associate justice by President Coolidge in 1925. Sixteen years later he was elevated to the position of chief justice by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was an associate justice when the long procession of New Deal legal controversies reached the tribunal and joined Justices Brandies and Cardoso to form what was at the time regarded as the "liberal wing" of the court. But subsequent appointments to the court by President Roosevelt made his liberal attitude seem tame in comparison.

The question of presidential tenure is again brought to the fore by the death of Chief Justice Stone, since his passing leaves the court with only one Republican—former Senator Harold N. Burton, an appointee of President Truman. In addition there remain seven Democratic appointees of President Roosevelt. In chronological order they are Justices Black, who will temporarily head the court pending a new appointment; Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, Murphy, Jackson and Rutledge—all chosen primarily because of their New Deal leanings.

This ill-balanced composition of the court constitutes an argument of import against a long domination of a single president, particularly in this instance one who sought persistently to sway the complexion of the tribunal both by his narrow selections and his attempt to swing it by packing it with additional members. Chief Justice Stone was the last man on the supreme bench who was there during the famous fight by President Roosevelt to reorganize the high tribunal.

Also is stressed the impolitic practice followed in recent years of detaching members of the court for special services—since Justice Jackson is still absent as prosecutor at the trials of war crime suspects in Germany, thus leaving only seven members for duty until a new chief justice is chosen, which should be soon for the obvious reason that the smaller bench, reduced in some cases to an even smaller number, operates to impede the function of the tribunal and important litigation pending therein.

The appointment of Senator Burton by Perisdent Truman served to mollify although in small part the situation created by the Roosevelt appointments. It is to be hoped that the same breadth of mind will be exemplified by President Truman in filling the vacancy. But the death of Chief Justice Stone creates a painful void in the court that will be difficult to fill. As Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) has declared his death is a tremendous loss both to the judiciary and to the nation as whole.

Wartime Jargon Gets Into the Dictionary

EVERY WAR brings into the vocabulary by dint of popular usage some new and for the nonce strange jargon, and the recent war proved no exception. Not only is some of the jargan a definite part of the vocabularly, but it is going into the dictionaries, thus achieving a definite place in the language.

The Associated Press reports such inclusion in the Funk and Wagnalls abridged dictionary of 150,000 words now in preparation and due for press issuance in the fall.

If you think corn and cheesecake are just something to eat and don't know what "jive," "jerk" and "snafu" mean, Dr. Charles Earle Funk, lexicographer and editor of the dictionary, has the lowdown on them for you, along with other new terms.

"We don't limit people on word usage," Funk said as he thumbed through his page proofs. "We don't make the language. "If a word is used on the radio constantly so that people expect to see it in the dictionary, we use it."

That's how jerk made the grade. The dictionary say it means "an unpopular person." And jive, says the book, is "the jargon of swing music; also swing music."

Corn, in its new meaning, turns out to be "trite, or banal, especially jazz rendered in a sweet or sentimental style."

Newspapers have popularized cheesecake as a term until now it has the accepted meaning of "a photograph, featuring a girl's legs."

As for the GI's favorite expression, snafu, the definition is "situation normal, all fouled up."

Explanation of that is timely, since many persons have called up this newspaper to find out just what it stands for, and this, it is hoped, will relieve the curiosity of others in the same fix.

Tuberculin Tests Are Important

(A guest editorial by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.)

SCHOOL CHILDREN in some communities in the United States are given tuberculin tests every year. These tests are an aid in the great nation-wide hunt for unknown cases of tuberculosis. The tests do not, by themselves, reveal the presence of the disease, but they indicate the need for further study of the patient and help in the search for the unrecognized case from which infection originated.

There are, it is estimated, at least 500,000 cases of tuberculosis in this country, more than half of which are unknown to health authorities. Since tuberculosis is a communicable disease, these unknown cases constitute a serious public health threat. A person with active tuberculosis, unaware that he has the disease, is risking his own life and may be spreading the disease in the community.

In order to find these unknown cases, mass chest X-ray surveys are advocated by the Tuberculosis Control division of the United States Public Health Service and by the National Tuberculosis Association and its state and local affiliates. The X-ray is the easiest way to find pulmonary tuberculosis in its early stages when there are no outward symptoms.

While children of elementary school age seldom have pulmonary tuberculosis, and therefore X-ray examinations are not practical, if they have come in contact with the disease, the TB germs may be present in their bodies. The tuberculin test reveals the presence of these germs and provides a lead in tracking down the source of infection.

Tuberculin reacts positively only to the germs when they have entered the body. If the test is negative, that is an end of the matter. If it is positive, then an X-ray picture is taken to find out if the child has healthy lungs. If the X-ray shows that the lungs are not diseased, then members of his family and other persons with whom he may have come in close contact are urged to have chest X-rays. This procedure frequently leads to the discovery of hitherto unknown cases of tuberculosis.

Tuberculin tests are also used to help the doctor in diagnosing doubtful cases of tuberculosis. Sometimes an X-ray reveals suspicious-looking shadows on the lungs, which may be caused by tuberculosis or may be due to several other causes. The test is then given and, if it is negative, the doctor knows his patient has not tuberculosis.

Jerrybuilders On the Loose

IT COSTS forty-four per cent more to build a home today than in 1940. The house that could be built for $5,000 in 1940 costs $7,200 today, and it will cost still more six months from now, according to a study by the Northwestern Life Insurance Company.

Questionnaire surveys have disclosed that four out of five veterans want homes costing $6,000 or less. By shoddy construction, popularly known as jerrybuilding, a house can be thrown together for fifteen per cent less than the cost of good, sound construction. Thus the house costing $7,200 could be cut to just about $6,000. Veterans and all prospective home buyers need to beware of a possible epidemic of jerrybuilding. The vast postwar construction field is likely to attract a certain proportion of "slick" operators.

The prospective buyer should deal with a well-established reputable concern, or at least be assured of expert inspection during construction by the mortgage concern which finances the home.

A reader wants to know why President Truman considered it necesary to cancel his vacation when the steel strike was on, but now thinks it is all right to take a vacation while the coal strike is on. The reader says it doesn't make sense to him and a lot of others are similarly mystified.

Profit Return Is Not Understood, Pettengill Says

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Whatever faults our business system has, its worst fault is that it is not understood. Everything shows that the rank and file want to be fair to business.

For example, a recent poll shows that the Man on the Street believes that the average profit of automobile manufacturing companies is twenty-four per cent. That makes him sore. He thinks that is too much—that it is unfair. So, he strikes and the public generally supports the strikers.

Well, the fact is that automobile profits, when there are any, run from four per cent to eight per cent, or from one-sixth to one-third what the Man on the Street believes them to be.

But here is the pay-off. The same Man on the Street, sore and resentful as he may have been, was asked a second question: What do you think a fair profit would be? The average answer was twelve per cent.

Not His Fault

In short, the Man on the Street considers fair a profit greater than the automobile companies actually make! But because he thinks they make an unfair profit, he has a grouch.

Whose fault is this? It is not the fault of the Man on the Street.

Here is more proof. The "Railway Age" took a similar poll, not of the Man on the Street, but of railway employes themselves. Fifty-three per cent (or more than a majority) of the railway men who had any opinion on the subject thought that the railroads made from twenty-five per cent to seventy-five per cent on their investment in the recent war-time year of 1944.

Again, the fact is, as shown by the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, the profits of all railroads combined that year were a tiny fraction over four per cent.

And here is the pay-off a second time. Ninety per cent of railway workers having an opinion on the subject thought the railroads should be allowed a greater profit than they are actually making!

Whose Fault?

Whose fault it is that the railway workers—who want to be fair to the investors who have put their dough into the locomotives, tunnels, bridges and road beds they work on, are so wrong on the facts?

There are 1,400,000 good Americans running our railroads and doing the bang-up-ed-est job ever done in the world's history in moving things and citizens hither and yon over the best piece of real estate on this planet. Yet less than six out of 100 of them, who have any ideas on the subject, know the truth about railroad profits.

Seventy-five per cent of them thought that American railroads had made a profit these past fifteen years. Yet the fact is that on the average over these fifteen years, fifty-five per cent of the railroads paid no dividends whatever to their investors. Even in the wartime peak years of 1944, forty-two per cent of them paid no return to their owners.

Popular Justice Best Hope

Abraham Lincoln once said, "Why should there not be a patient confidence in the ultimate justice of the people? Is there any better or equal hope in the world?"

No, there is not. And we recognize that this is so in our jury system. We submit the most important questions of life, liberty and property — running sometimes to millions of dollars—to the "ultimate justice of the people,"—the Man on the Jury—the same kind of man who holds the bridle of the Iron Horse, or works a turret lathe or pushes a plow down a furrow. In his hands, provided he knows the facts, provided he hears both sides of the case, the "patient confidence" of a great people is seldom, if ever betrayed.

The managers and investors in American business should "think on these things," as St. Paul phrased it. For whatsoever things are true, and honest, and just, or of good report, will be honored by the Man on the Street.

IT PAYS TO DO BUSINESS WITH WOLF AND COMPANY

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 23 — The inside story of why the House didn't vote on final enactment of the Patman housing bill before the Easter recess isn't a happy one—from the standpoint of home-seeking war veterans. Here's what happened:

A joint conference of Senate and House committees was called just before the Easter recess in a rush to get House approval of Senate amendments. These amendments included restoration of $600,000,000 in subsidies to stimulate production of scarce building materials.

Held in the usual secrecy, the conference lasted all day in hope that the bill could be passed before House members left on their Easter holiday. Soon after the conference got under way at 9 a. m., however, it became apparent that this was forlorn hope.

Subsity Fight Notice Served

Four of the seven House conferees —Republicans Wolcott, of Michigan and Gamble of New York, plus Democrat Brown, of Georgia—(all VAV congressmen) — served notice they would make a bitter-end fight against the $600,000,000 in subsidies, as well as the Senate's amendment calling for a government-guaranteed market to producers of 200,000 prefabricated houses. Since prefabricated houses are produced on a mass basis, the Senate considered it necessary to guarantee builders a market of 200,000 houses.

Wolcott, Crawford, Gamble and Brown weren't really opposed to this guaranteed market amendment, but used it as a compromising weapon to scuttle subsidies. In other words, they offered to back down on a guaranteed market if the other conferees backed down on subsidies —described by President Truman as the "heart" of the bill.

This proposition was flatly rejected by the remaining three House conferees—Rep. Wright Patman, of Texas, author of the original bill; Brent Spence, of Kentucky, and William Barry, of New York (all Democrats).

The seven Senate conferees were also unanimously opposed, including Barkley, of Kentucky; Murdock, of Utah; Taylor, of Idaho; Mitchell, of Washington; Taft, of Ohio; Buck, of Delaware, and Capehart, of Indiana.

Nix on Subsidies

Patman and Barkley urged, begged and cajoled with the four House objectors, but got nowhere. Finally they offered a compromise—to cut the subsidy provision from $600,000,000 to $400,000,000.

"We haven't time to guarrel here all day," Patman, of Texas, pleaded. "It will be too late if we don't reach an agreement soon. The House will recess for Easter in just a few hours."

However, the adamant four refused to budge an inch. They knew that as long as they stuck together they could prevent the bill from being submitted to the House.

"We are against subsidies in any form," Wolcott and his cohorts repeated over and over again. "We are against a billion, $400,000,000 — or even one dollar."

At 3 p. m., after about six hours of bickering, it was decided that the Senate conferees should depart and let the warring House delegates try to work out an agreement alone. The seven senators were to be notified of their progress. Another hour passed. When no word came from the House conferees, several senators investigated and learned that the meeting had broken up with Wolcott and Crawford, of Michigan; Gamble, of New York, and Brown, of Georgia, still refusing to compromise.

Finally the conference adjourned, the four VAV dissenters glowing with victory. Their colleagues are betting, however, that after hearing from their war-vet constituents during the Easter recess, they won't come back so happy.

Note — "VAV" is the designation which veterans' groups are attaching to congressmen who "Voted against Veterans."

European Diet

Believe it or not, but Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's home economics bureau has declined to give out any more suggested diets equivalent to what the people of Europe are eating.

This doesn't represent the view of the bureau's boss, Secretary Anderson, because he is one of Washington's most vigorous food economizers. However, bureaucrats will always be bureaucrats, and, protected by civil sevice, frequently thumb their noses at bosses.

Meanwhile, here is a suggested day's diet totaling 1,500 calories (the European diet), prepared by Albert M. Goudiss, editor of the home economists' magazine, "Forecast":

Breakfast — one orange, sliced; broiled mashed potato patty, cooked only with milk . . . no fat; one poached egg; coffee or tea with one teaspoon sugar, no cream; milk for children.

Luncheon — Fish, with vegetable and potato chowder (use no fat or flour); fruit or dessert; milk for children and adults.

Dinner — Chicken and vegetable pie with mashed potato topping; cole slaw (dressing made of evaporated milk, lemon juice, and spices); victory pie (deep dish fruit pie with no top or bottom crust—use apples and raisins, no sugar,—spread cottage cheese over top); coffee or tea for adults; milk for children.

Note—If all the foods allowed in the meals are eaten, the individual will be provided with adequate nutrition—an abundance of protein, vitamins, and minerals. No food should be wasted and no meals omitted.

Truman's Girl Friend

The leading lady of the poppy presentation ceremonies to President Truman fell hard for the chief executive.

Three-year-old Betty Lou Hall, Eaton Rapids, Mich., one of five orphaned children left by a heroic infantryman killed after the Normandy invasion, was selected to put the poppy in Truman's lapel in behalf of war orphans of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Her job finished, the little girl was asked by photographers if she didn't want to kiss the president. She complied not with one kiss, but a shower of them. In fact, the young lady seemed inclined to continue this part of the proceedings indefinitely until reminded that her embraces were sufficient for picture purposes.

Diplomatic Chaff

The Russian trade mission to Argentina is not on a brief visit. The Russians brought their families and are prepared to negotiate a long-term trade deal, especially trying to buy the Argentine linseed oil crop. If they succeed, the American home-building program for veterans will be very short of paint. . . . The United States and Great Britain are pressing for an early election in Rumania—which the Russians don't seem to want. . . . In the Mexican presidential election races Miguel Aleman, with labor and liberal support, is running ahead of ex-Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla, an able diplomat and friend of the U. S. A.

Visit of Russian Editors Is Viewed As a Fine Thing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The three newspapermen from Russia who have been attending the meeting here of the American Society of Newspaper Editors made a favorable impression but it would have been even more favorable if the translator hadn't forgotten to repeat to the audience one of the statements of the Russians.

"The peoples of the two countries," said one of the Russian editors, "really want to get closer together but this isn't always possible because of things at the top level."

Presumably the point was that two governments get entangled in differences which the respective peoples do not relish but are unable to prevent.

From the American viewpoint there is, however, a way to prevent such a contingency. It is to open up wide all questions for public discussion. The Russian form of censorship in peacetime keeps essential information away from the people.

Admission Policy Strict

Thus, the three Russian visitors said quite generously that they would like to see more American correspondents coming to Russia, but what the Moscow newspapermen evidently do not know is that their own government has a strict policy about admitting foreign correspondents.

One of the visitors, when told of the delays, thought it might be the bureaucratic red tape which is customary in all countries and he referred humorously to the delay in admitting the Russian editors themselves through the immigration inspection in New York. But such delays of a few hours are not to be compared with the difficulties experienced by American newspapers in trying to send correspondents to Moscow.

Great newspapers like the New York Times have encountered long delays in getting correspondents into Russia, and the same thing is true of the Chicago Sun, which has been friendly to Russian policies. What is most embarrassing about such delays is that newspapers must keep their correspondents marking time in London or Berlin for months while they wait for the desired permission.

Prompter Answer Possible

It does seem possible that Moscow could give a "yes" or "no" answer more promptly as a courtesy to the American newspapers. Sometimes a whole year elapses before an answer is given.

Moscow is an important capital. From a news standpoint, it is as important as, if not more important than, either Washington or London. The American press would send 100 correspondents there tomorrow if the Russians allowed it. Actually there are fewer than a dozen correspondents of all the foreign press, British included, in Moscow today.

With all the outcry in the United States for better understanding between Russia and the United States —and the feeling is widespread and genuine—it would seem that admission of American correspondents to Moscow would be one way to assure better relationships and better understanding.

The Russian newspaperman made a hit with the Americans. They seemed to be sincere and plainly desirous of doing everything in their power to bring about closer relations between the American and the Russian peoples. But are they free agents? One newspaperman here who speaks Russian told this correspondent that each Russian visitor was accompanied by an observer from the Russian secret police who acts as translator. None of the Russian editors speak or understand English.

Visit a Fine Thing

With all the disadvantages of the language barrier, it is nevertheless a fine thing that the Russian editors came to the United States. Certainly the addressed an influential gathering of editors of American newspapers and there could be no mistaking the warmth of the reception accorded the Russians every time they made an appearance.

The significant fact is that the Russian and American peoples could be fast friends. Will the governments be able to maintain that friendship or will the rapidly increasing number of disputed points ultimately wind up in a revelation to both the peoples of the United States and Russia that their governments have not been able to get along with each other? The next few weeks may tell the story, for the outlook for a settlement of difficult points is far from bright.

It takes more patience than is generally imagined to be secretary of state these days, and James F. Byrnes appears to be quietly exercising patience, forbearance and restraint. He is endeavoring to work out agreements and adjustments in the face of a bewildering array of unreasonable demands which apparently have little to do with the security of Russia but which have everything to do with the rise of Allied discord in Europe.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The other night Sydney Greenstreet appeared on my radio program and he was very good. In fact, it was worth all the trouble we went to. . . . . reinforcing the stage! Sydney is really fat. He's the only man I know who has to butter himself to get into a telephone booth. He makes a lot of calls so this probably accounts for the shortage.

But Sydney and I are old friends. We played together in "Roberta" quite a while ago. I'd give you the exact date, but I'm starting to get a little touchy about those things. In those days Sydney was a comic, but then he went to Warner Brothers and became a heavy. The heaviest, in fact. But it was very economical for Warner Brothers, hiring Sydney to be a villian. No matter how they photograph him, he always looks as if there were a gang following him.

Sydney is always making those pictures with Humphrey Bogart. Bogart has spent so much time chasing him that Lauren Bacall is getting jealous! On the screen Greenstreet is a pretty shady character. In fact, when the sun is out, there's no one in Hollywood who throws a bigger shade. Greenstreet, what a name for him! He looks more like the whole Lincoln highway.

But it's pretty tough work being a villian at Warner Brothers. For every scene Sydney has to carry four pistols, a knife, brass knuckles, a sword cane and a silk handkerchief to wipe off fingerprints and Peter Lorre's chin when he gets through hissing.

Light Equipment

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Any soldier, or traveler, can testify to the value of light equipment. Most of us make the mistake of carting too much around with us, no matter where we go. The economical essentials of man are really very few. A friend of mine, who now lives very comfortably and happily on a moderate income, recently told me that he has never been so happy since he lost a million dollars! The equipment was too heavy. It caused him too much worry and anxiety.

There are those who would risk the million, rather than the comfortable income, but still I side with my friend. Too few know how to handle a million, or more, for that matter.

The heaviest equipment that anyone can carry, however, is a liberal supply of fears, worries, and regrets. Peace of mind, and a generous attitude towards all with whom we come in contact, form equipment that will carry any of us the full distance that life consumes.

Most of us could live in half the space we do. The garrets of our homes are nearly always filled with needless things.

One thing that we cannot have too much of is knowledge. We can easily carry all of it that we can accommodate. Ideas do not take up room. They make room! I once looked upon the battered bag of the late Bob Davis, who had carried it all around the world. But from his mind flowed such a flood of ideas and information that, when he died, he left behind a precious group of books, the result of his travels that will delight untold members for many a decade.

The longer we live the more we realize the futility of possessions. They weigh us down, both mentally and spiritually. The joy of distributing them is so much greater. There is no room for them in any grave. But happily distributed, in life, they leave a never ending glow that radiates afar.

I have watched the foolish ant, carrying something many times its own weight, for half an hour or more, only to see it drop it finally and go on its way. But human beings do the same things. They waste years in foolish carrying, that might have added years to their lives, had they lightened their load earlier. Travel lightly—and go far.

Gypsy "Charm Healing" Not Christian Science

Editor The Cumberland News:

In your issue of April 19 you report that a man 77 was "fleeced" by gypsy women who promised to heal his daughter of an affliction by means of a "charm" and that the police reported that the gypsies "professed to be representatives of the Christian Science faith."

I am sure you will allow me space to correct the false impression that Christian Scientists heal by means of "charms."

Webster's Dictionary has this definition for charm: bewitch, spell.

We read in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "the necromancers of Egypt strove to emulate the wonders wrought by Moses. Such theories have no relationship to Christian Science, which rests on the conception of God as the only Life, substance, and intelligence, and excludes the human mind as a spiritual factor in the healing work."

Christian Science teaches that all healing comes through strict adherence to the truth and any deviation results in failure.

Your news account is a record of thieves with purpose widely separated from the mental processes that are essential to healing by spiritual means.

Again in Science and Health (456:16) "Any dishonesty in your theory and practice betrays a gross ignorance of the method of the Christ-cure."

I am sure your readers will approve this correction.

Pair To Be Questioned In Service Station Case

A man who gave his name as David Woods, Toledo, Ohio, and a 15-year-old Lonaconing boy are being "held for investigation" in the city jail in connection with the breaking and entering of a local service station.

They were arrested yesterday at 2:10 a. m. at the Kessell service station, 838 North Mechanic street, by Officer P. C. Jenkins after, the officer reported, they broke out a side window of the building and were attempting to steal a car.

—Silenced by a wartime ban on "noise," the town crier of Blaenavon, England, has just resumed his crying.

Woodmen To Hear Recruiter Tonight

Capt. Nathan S. P. Stitt, commanding officer of the local army recruiting station, is making a series of talks here in connection with the nation-wide recruiting campaign. Last night, he addressed members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion. Tonight he is scheduled to talk to Woodmen of the World at 8 o'clock in the Woodmen hall, 139 Baltimore street.

Yesterday seven more men were sent to Baltimore to take final tests for enlistment in the army. Five of the seven men are veterans of World War II. Four of them requested service in Europe, and the other in the Pacific.

They include Pvt. Bernard E. Lyons, of Keyser, W. Va., who enlisted for three years with the special services engineers in the Pacific. He fought in Normandy and Northern France and has three years previous service.

Sgt. John A. Drenner, of Barrett, Pa., a veteran of eight years, 11 months previous service, has enlisted for three years with the armored artillery in the ETO.

Pvt. Joseph B. Reitmeier, of 142 Independence street, enlisted for three years with Military Police in the ETO. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Reitmeier.

Pvt. John P. Shearer, of Midland, enlisted for three years with the paratroopers in the ETO. He has served two years and nine months and holds the Purple Heart medal, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with bronze arrowhead. He was wounded during the "jump" on Corregidor when that famous American fortress was taken over from the Japs. He is a son of Mrs. Jean Shearer.

T-5 Leston H. Smith, of 22 Church street, Lonaconing, has enlisted for three years with the transportation corps in the ETO. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith, he is a veteran of fighting in the ETO with the First Division.

Walter D. Logsdon, of 136 West Third street, has enlisted for three years with the infantry in the ETO. He has no previous service.

Pfc. William E. Wise, 41 Cresap street, husband of Mrs. Lillie A. (Brandt) Wise, has also re-enlisted and been assigned a member of the Cumberland recruiting office. He has ten years and six months previous service, 32 months of which he spent overseas with a construction division.

Robert Kenneth Hudson Weds Mary Bernice Roper

Veteran of Both Theaters Takes Bride in Second Baptist Church

Miss Mary Bernice Roper, daughter of Mrs. Paul J. Stafford, Dallas, Texas, became the bride of Robert Kenneth Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Maurice Hudson, 208 Hampshire avenue, Easter Sunday.

The ceremony was solemnized in the Second Baptist church, with the Rev. E. S. Price, pastor, officiating. Miss Julia May Hudson, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid and the bride's only attendant. Lester Hudson served as his brother's best man. The altar was decorated with bouquets of Easter flowers and Mrs. C. Keith Ryan played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Richard Young, a friend of the family, was attired in a street length white crepe dress, trimmed with scollups around the neckline and down the front. With it she wore a small lace straw heart-shaped hat with short white veil. She carried a white satin pillow with long white streamers and topped with orchids.

Miss Hudson wore a light blue dress with white accessories. A corsage of talisman roses completed her costume. Miss Hudson chose a dark blue costume with black and white accessories, for her son's wedding. With it she wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride attended school in Denver, Colo., before returning to Dallas, where she was born. She has been employed by the Marlan Photographic Studio there.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill high school and was employed at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad before entering the army air corps, in which he served as a pilot for forty-five months. He first flew planes to the Philippines and later was transferred to Italy where he made forty-eight missions before returning to duty in the Pacific. He served as a captain and received the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf clusters, the Presidential Citation besides various ribbons. After returning to the states he crashed in Texas when flying a new plane, which caught fire. He is now employed at the Baltimore and Ohio, but will enter the University of Maryland in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson entertained in honor of their son and his bride, with a reception at their home, following the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake, baked by Miss Charline Orndorff, a friend of the family, and adorned with a miniature bride bridegroom, centered the refreshment table, which was decorated with white candles. Pastel colored snapdragons decorated the house. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Maxine Hudson, and Mrs. Pearl Andrews.

The bride chose a pin striped dark blue suit with dark blue hat for traveling. Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington and through Virginia, Mr. Hudson and his bride will reside with his parents until fall when they will leave for College Park.

St. Mary's Seniors To Present Mystery Play Apr. 28-30

A three act mystery entitled "The Arms of the Law," will be presented by the senior class of St. Mary's high school, April 28 and 30, in the St. Mary's auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

The play centers around a legend that every time any of the "Krelin jewels" are sold, death strikes the owner. The Countess, Bartova, portrayed by Mary Agnes Zahradka, laughs at the superstition, when her sister, Madame Caritza, portrayed by Wanda Lee Bush, begs her not sell the rest of the famous jewels.

Although she vows that the sale will go through that night as scheduled, the countess does hire a detective bodyguard to protect her. But the bodyguard is delayed, and in his place comes Emily, his sweetheart, portrayed by Kathleen O'Toole. Emily is sacred, but determined to help out, as she and the detective want to get married and need the money he is to get for the case.

One by one the buyers for the jewels arrive, as well as several uninvited guests, all of whom the countess sisters tries to send away. The countess appears with the jewel case. Suddenly the lights go out and there is a shot, the countess has a bullet wound in her arm and the jewels have vanished. As Emily struggles to unravel the mystery she is also puzzled as to where the entrance to the secret passage in the closet is, and who is the trained nurse who faints at the sight of blood?

Other characters are Olga, her maid, taken by Rosemary Basile; Mary McGuire, her new cook, Margaret Dunn; Madame Palinsky, an old friend, Mary Jo McKenzie; Theresa, her nurse, Vilma Grassi; Katya Brunin, a stranger, Shirley Burns; Miss Frazier, a would-be purchaser of the jewels, Rose Marie Milburn; and Miss Larkin, another would-be purchaser, Mary Lou Norton.

Robert Kenneth Hudson Weds Mary Bernice Roper

Miss Mary Bernice Roper, daughter of Mrs. Paul J. Stafford, Dallas, Texas, became the bride of Robert Kenneth Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Maurice Hudson, 208 Hampshire avenue, Easter Sunday.

The ceremony was solemnized in the Second Baptist church, with the Rev. E. S. Price, pastor, officiating. Miss Julia May Hudson, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid and the bride's only attendant. Lester Hudson served as his brother's best man. The altar was decorated with bouquets of Easter flowers and Mrs. C. Keith Ryan played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Richard Young, a friend of the family, was attired in a street length white crepe dress, trimmed with scollups around the neckline and down the front. With it she wore a small lace straw heart-shaped hat with short white veil. She carried a white satin pillow with long white streamers and topped with orchids.

Miss Hudson wore a light blue dress with white accessories. A corsage of talisman roses completed her costume. Miss Hudson chose a dark blue costume with black and white accessories, for her son's wedding. With it she wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride attended school in Denver, Colo., before returning to Dallas, where she was born. She has been employed by the Marlan Photographic Studio there.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Hill high school and was employed at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad before entering the army air corps, in which he served as a pilot for forty-five months. He first flew planes to the Philippines and later was transferred to Italy where he made forty-eight missions before returning to duty in the Pacific. He served as a captain and received the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf clusters, the Presidential Citation besides various ribbons. After returning to the states he crashed in Texas when flying a new plane, which caught fire. He is now employed at the Baltimore and Ohio, but will enter the University of Maryland in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson entertained in honor of their son and his bride, with a reception at their home, following the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake, baked by Miss Charline Orndorff, a friend of the family, and adorned with a miniature bride bridegroom, centered the refreshment table, which was decorated with white candles. Pastel colored snapdragons decorated the house. The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Maxine Hudson, and Mrs. Pearl Andrews.

The bride chose a pin striped dark blue suit with dark blue hat for traveling. Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington and through Virginia, Mr. Hudson and his bride will reside with his parents until fall when they will leave for College Park.

St. Mary's Seniors To Present Mystery Play Apr. 28-30

A three act mystery entitled "The Arms of the Law," will be presented by the senior class of St. Mary's high school, April 28 and 30, in the St. Mary's auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

The play centers around a legend that every time any of the "Krelin jewels" are sold, death strikes the owner. The Countess, Bartova, portrayed by Mary Agnes Zahradka, laughs at the superstition, when her sister, Madame Caritza, portrayed by Wanda Lee Bush, begs her not sell the rest of the famous jewels.

Although she vows that the sale will go through that night as scheduled, the countess does hire a detective bodyguard to protect her. But the bodyguard is delayed, and in his place comes Emily, his sweetheart, portrayed by Kathleen O'Toole. Emily is sacred, but determined to help out, as she and the detective want to get married and need the money he is to get for the case.

One by one the buyers for the jewels arrive, as well as several uninvited guests, all of whom the countess sisters tries to send away. The countess appears with the jewel case. Suddenly the lights go out and there is a shot, the countess has a bullet wound in her arm and the jewels have vanished. As Emily struggles to unravel the mystery she is also puzzled as to where the entrance to the secret passage in the closet is, and who is the trained nurse who faints at the sight of blood?

Other characters are Olga, her maid, taken by Rosemary Basile; Mary McGuire, her new cook, Margaret Dunn; Madame Palinsky, an old friend, Mary Jo McKenzie; Theresa, her nurse, Vilma Grassi; Katya Brunin, a stranger, Shirley Burns; Miss Frazier, a would-be purchaser of the jewels, Rose Marie Milburn; and Miss Larkin, another would-be purchaser, Mary Lou Norton.

Barbara Fricker Is Honor Guest At Easter Party

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gunning entertained in honor of the latter's sister, Miss Barbara C. Fricker, Clarksburg, W. Va., with a cocktail party Sunday at their home, 8 Decatur street.

The engagement of Miss Fricker to George J. Nesline, Washington, D. C., was announced recently. The wedding will be solemnized at a nuptial mass May 8 in the Church of the Annunciation in Washington.

A former resident of Cumberland, the bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Fricker. She is a graduate of St. Mary's high school, Clarksburg, and St. Joseph's college, Emmitsburg. Prior to accepting a position with the Department of Agriculture in Clarksburg eighteen months ago, Miss Fricker was employed with the WPB in Washington.

Mr. Nesline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Nesline, Washington, is a graduate of St. John's college, Washington. He entered the service in September of 1941 and served for three years in th SWP theater of operations. Since receiving his discharge he has been employed by the Southern Wholesalers in Washington.

The house was elaborately decorated with bouquets of Easter flowers; the same theme was carried out with nests of colored eggs and was repeated in the decorations of the refreshment table, which was centered with a bouquet of lilacs and candelabra of yellow tapers. Guests included Mr. Nesline's mother, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lewis, Washington, and approximately fifty friends of the bride-elect.

Navy Mothers Entertain With "Welcome Home" Dinner-Dance

A talk by Thomas B. Finan and a few remarks by James Niland, president of the recently formed local branch of the Navy League of the United States featured the program at the "Welcome Home", dinner dance held by the Navy Mothers Club Monday evening at the Queen City hotel. Mrs. Lacy Welch and her staff of officers presided. Covers were laid for approximately eighty-eight guests.

The patriotic colors were combined with the Easter motif in the decorations of the table, which was centered with a large yellow bowl of dogwood and apple blossoms Mrs. Mary Nave offered the invocation.

Approximately 100 couples attended the dance following. Music was by Jimmy Andrews orchestra. Mrs. Florence Chandler, Mrs. Pauline Shaffer, Mrs. Gladys Manges and Mrs. Goldie Hare comprised the committee of arrangements.

Class Contributes To Improvement Fund

A donation of $25 for the Church Improvement fund was voted by members of the Mizpah Bible class of the First Baptist church at a meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Glenmore Rice, North Allegany street, with Mrs. Austin Ward co-hostess.

Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Richard Matlick, Mrs. H. T. Humphreys and Mrs. Victor Anthy conducted the program. Mrs. William Miller, 345 Bedford street, will be hostess for the next meeting.

Barbara Fricker Is Honor Guest At Easter Party

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gunning entertained in honor of the latter's sister, Miss Barbara C. Fricker, Clarksburg, W. Va., with a cocktail party Sunday at their home, 8 Decatur street.

The engagement of Miss Fricker to George J. Nesline, Washington, D. C., was announced recently. The wedding will be solemnized at a nuptial mass May 8 in the Church of the Annunciation in Washington.

A former resident of Cumberland, the bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Fricker. She is a graduate of St. Mary's high school, Clarksburg, and St. Joseph's college, Emmitsburg. Prior to accepting a position with the Department of Agriculture in Clarksburg eighteen months ago, Miss Fricker was employed with the WPB in Washington.

Mr. Nesline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Nesline, Washington, is a graduate of St. John's college, Washington. He entered the service in September of 1941 and served for three years in th SWP theater of operations. Since receiving his discharge he has been employed by the Southern Wholesalers in Washington.

The house was elaborately decorated with bouquets of Easter flowers; the same theme was carried out with nests of colored eggs and was repeated in the decorations of the refreshment table, which was centered with a bouquet of lilacs and candelabra of yellow tapers. Guests included Mr. Nesline's mother, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lewis, Washington, and approximately fifty friends of the bride-elect.

Navy Mothers Entertain With "Welcome Home" Dinner-Dance

A talk by Thomas B. Finan and a few remarks by James Niland, president of the recently formed local branch of the Navy League of the United States featured the program at the "Welcome Home", dinner dance held by the Navy Mothers Club Monday evening at the Queen City hotel. Mrs. Lacy Welch and her staff of officers presided. Covers were laid for approximately eighty-eight guests.

The patriotic colors were combined with the Easter motif in the decorations of the table, which was centered with a large yellow bowl of dogwood and apple blossoms Mrs. Mary Nave offered the invocation.

Approximately 100 couples attended the dance following. Music was by Jimmy Andrews orchestra. Mrs. Florence Chandler, Mrs. Pauline Shaffer, Mrs. Gladys Manges and Mrs. Goldie Hare comprised the committee of arrangements.

Motor Club To Hold First Spring Dance Friday Evening

The Western Maryland Motor Club will entertain with its first annual spring dance Friday evening, Mrs. Mary Brewer, chairman, announces.

The party for members and their friends will be held at Clary Club, with dancing from 9 until 1 o'clock with music by the Modernairs and vocal selections by Irene Keller.

Committee members assisting Mrs. Brewer with arrangements include Clifford Gainer, William H. Geppert, and Daniel D'Amicol.

"Foreign" Wives Should Be Given Friendly Welcome

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Now that so many war brides from abroad have actually arrived to join their American husbands, I wonder if some of those American girls who objected so strenuously to these marriages aren't feeling a little more friendly toward the newcomers. Those who have met some of the girls, I'm sure, must have found them quite different from the predatory, designing females they had pictured, who had unscrupulously snatched possible husbands away from their American sisters.

Because I believe the better we get acquainted, the better we'll all like each other, I am glad to print, from time to time, letters from these young brides which give their early impressions of life on this side of the Atlantic.

Here is one who wants to thank a recent contributor to this column who wrote about the English daughter-in-law she was eagerly awaiting, and who made a plea for understanding and friendship on the part of American girls toward the "foreign" wives coming to this country. She writes:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"It was with very great pleasure that I read the letter written by 'Mrs. G.K.M.' And I am very grateful for the high praise she paid to us English girls.

"I did not marry a GI, but a Canadian soldier, but I felt more than a little sad to learn that so many American girls resented the fact that the GI's were marrying overseas.

"No, we girls do not expect 'the earth with a gold fence around it,' as 'Mrs. G.K.M.' mentioned. But I would like to say this. We were ing the next day. And never knowing where, or how, we might be living the next day. An dnever knowing if God would spare us to live another day. We learned the meaning of fear, and we learned, too, that life was precious. We gained understanding, tolerance, and were grateful for whatever life had to offer us.

"Perhaps if we had not known fear, we would never have learned these other things, but really would have expected 'the earth with a gold fence around it.' So perhaps we are not deserving such praise as 'Mrs. G.K.M.' gave us.

"I am sure 'Mrs. G.K.M.'s new daughter will be very happy to know that there is a welcome in this mother's heart as well as in her home. My new folks are more than kind to me, and it has eased the pain that parting with one's own people always brings. I do hope that the mothers with sons who have married girls from other lands will open their hearts to them in the same way.

"And please believe that we girls really love our husbands and intend to make them happy. Otherwise, we would not have sacrificed our own homes, our friends and our parents. For it is a sacrifice and a great one; it is impossible to know unless one has had the experience.

"I am more than grateful for the love and kindness I have received and I know there are many more like myself.

"A VERY HAPPY WAR BRIDE".

American girls, can you keep on feeling resentful against girls like this? Don't you think that after all the dreadful night-mare of war through which they lived so long and so bravely they're entitled to happiness? And aren't you glad that we're in a position to contribute a little to that happiness just by giving them a friendly welcome? I'm sure you are! Let's show them that while we did not have to learn understanding and tolerance the hard way, as they did, we still know what those qualities mean.

—A 'PLUS' BENEFIT OF WOODCRAFT

The Uniform Rank of Woodcraft gives dignity to, and increases interest in many fraternal programs of the local Woodmen Camps and civic events. When the smartly-uniformed Woodmen drill teams parade and expertly execute complicated drills on field day programs or in civic parades, they never fail to receive well-earned applause.

The Uniform Rank is one of many attractive fraternal, social and civic activities of Woodcraft's "Fraternity in Action" program. It is one of many "protection plus" benefits every Woodmen member can enjoy along with his safe, sound, legal reserve life insurance protection the Society furnishes at cost.

Call the local Woodmen representative. Let him give you the facts about Woodmen insurance protection and fraternal benefits.

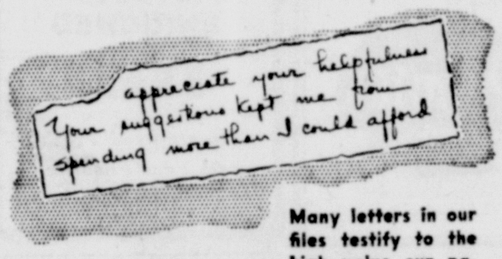
Local Truths on a National Subject



Many letters in our files testify to the high value our patrons place on our services.

CRITICS, who write and speak nationally on the funeral subject, could add a chapter of convincing truth about Dependable Values in funeral service if they published the unsolicited messages of appreciation we have received from families we have served.

More farm telephones are on the way

WE KNOW what the telephone means to farm families—how much it is needed to help produce and market crops—keep in touch with friends—get help in emergencies.

That is why we are moving rapidly ahead in our $1,400,000 program to provide more and better telephone service for rural and farm families in Maryland.

It will take time to install all the switchboards and build all the lines that are needed. It's a big job, but we are turning our efforts back to civilian service as fast as we turned them to the instant needs of war.

Market Continues To Backtrack With Sellers Well in Majority

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Special stocks, led by aviations and merchandisers, exhibited isolated strength today although the market, as a whole, continued to backtrack.

While individual situations propped favorites, sellers were well in the majority with bearishness again attributed to the belief that the substantial upswing to a fifteen year peak had been achieved without a worthwhile technical correction. Steels and motors were depressed by threatened production curtailments due to the coal strike. Doubts regarding important OPA restaints getting through Congress also tempered sentiment.

and the total of 1,380,000 shares shares compared with 1,210,000 the day before. Of 1,005 issues registering, 584 declined and 235 advanced.

Prominent casualties included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, North American, American Waterworks, American Smelting, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Philip Morris, Texas Company and American Can.

Ahead were Lockheed, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (NJ), Paramount Pictures, American Woolen, Phelps Dodge and American Power and Light.

Among Curb gainers were Beaunit Mills, Colonial Airlines, Sunray Drugs and Club Aluminum. On the offside were Cities Service, Aireon, Cessna Aircraft, Electric Bond and Share and Nigara Hudson Power.

Turnover here was 530,000 shares versus 570,000 yesterday.

Treasury bonds continued their recent slide in today's market and a broad list of corporates registered losses of one to more than two points.

Seven treasury issues dropped the allowable one-quarter point for the day in over-the-counter dealings.

Total bond sales of $5,270,000 were well distributed throughout the list. The aggregate, largest since April 12, compared with $4,684,000 Monday.

here with about thirty-five members. Fourteen of the original charter members are still living and eight are still members here and active in the club. During the past twenty-five years, over 250 local members have been enrolled, and membership now stands at eighty-one.

The toastmaster also paid tribute to the past presidents of the club and named them, mentioning the accomplishments during their respective administrations.

Receive Attendance Emblems

Thomas E. Gilchrist and Virgil Powell, two of the charter members were presented with emblems for a perfect tewnty-five-year attendance.

John D. Liebau was presented an award for twenty years' perfect attendance.

Dinner music was furnished by the Colomy ensemble, and several vocal selections were offered by the Fort Hill a cappella choir, directed by Mrs. Edward S. Pelling III, music director. The musical program was well received and a rising ovation was given the choir at the conclusion of their program.

Among guests introduced were J. Milton Patterson, the club's first president; Dr. Robert W. Bess, Keyser, W. Va., district governor, who brought greetings of the district; O. J. Hale, president of the Kiwanis club and L. C. Cessna, president of Lions club.

Ladies were presented souvenirs of Rotary and a gardenia, and souvenir programs were given each member and guest. The programs bearing silver borders to mark the silver anniversary of the club, also contain a complete roster of membership, list of officers and directors and a list of surviving charter members and the past presidents, surviving and deceased.

Scholarship Examinations Will Be Held May 25

School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp announced yesterday that the date for administration of the state scholarship examinations for various colleges this year will be Saturday, May 25.

In order to handle these tests as effectively as possible the state department of education will act as a clearing house for the examinations.

Kopp said Earle T. Hawkins, director of instruction for the state board, has informed him it will be necessary to obtain the number of examinations needed.

Kidwell Gets Parole On Drunkenness Charge

Bennett Franklin Kidwell, RFD No. 5, this city, was tried in trial Magistrates court yesterday on a charge of being intoxicated on a public highway. He was sentenced to county jail for thirty days, but sentence was suspended and he was paroled for one year, on condition that he stay off public highways when drinking.

The man was arrested by Sgt Thomas M. Hignutt, of the Maryland State Police, near Cresaptown. Police said he was obstructing traffic and was badly intoxicated.

Late Sports

Albright and Beisel Get Hagerstown Bouts

dent. Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher finally took the witness stand and testified that Shook told him he first saw the victim while forty feet away from him, said he turned to the left. Fletcher also denied a charge by Shook that he had called him a liar four times in the course of the examination in the state's attorney's office.

Inn Manager Testifies

Walter McVitty, manager of the Midway inn, testified that Shook wrecked his car outside his place of business. He said he went out and that later Shook entered his place of business. McVitty testified that Shook had been drinking. Lloyd Loar, Pinto, who was in the Midway inn at this time, also testified that Shook's speech was "thick" and that he was "thick-tongued."

Defense Attorney Edward J. Ryan called John W. Stark, Cresaptown druggist, to the stand. Stark testified that Shook came into his store on business sometime after 4 p. m., the day of the accident but he could not fix the exact time as he said there was an epidemic and he was very busy. Stark said Shook was "normal" when he saw him and that he did not appear to be under the influence of alcohol.

In testimony, Shook stated that he had had a shot of liquor the morning of the accident and was vigorously questioned by the state's attorney who asked him if he recalled making a statement to the effect that he had had a shot of liquor and some beer the afternoon before the accident.

Earl Knieriem, Pinto, another defense witness, said that he talked with Shook around 6:15 p. m. the evening of the accident and that he appeared to be "normal" and not under the influence of liquor.

Rival attorneys waived final arguments in the Shook case yesterday afternoon but argued the McDonald case early yesterday morning.

Former Residents Are Taken by Death

Word of the sudden deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Enos F. Woltman, Philadelphia, former residents here, was received yesterday by Mrs. Frank Schulte, 826 Greene street.

According to the letter from their son, Fred Woltman, of the New York World-Telegraph, Mrs. Woltman died suddenly of a heart attack on April 10; three days later her husband, who had not recovered from the shock of his wife's death, "died quietly in his sleep."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Woltman were formerly of York, Pa., and were married forty-seven years ago in Pittsburgh, Pa., where they resided for a number of years. Mr. Woltman was employed as a pharmacist at both the Keech drug stores on Virginia avenue from 1936 to 1938.

At that time he resigned and they moved to Philadelphia to be near some old friends of Mrs. Woltman. There Mr. Woltman was again employed in the drug business. Mr. Woltman was a Mason.

WENTLING CHILD RITES

Funeral services for Marcellis Lynn Wentling, 4-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wentling, who died Saturday evening at his home on Christie road, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Hafer funeral home. The Rev. B. F. Hartman, pastor of Flintstone Methodist circuit, officiated and interment was in Mt. Harman cemetery.

Pallbearers were Richard and Theodore Stegmaier and Norval and Floyd Wentling.

ROBBINS CHILD RITES

Funeral services for Anna Marie Robbins, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robbins, III, 4102 Alto road, Baltimore, who died Friday, were conducted Monday at the home by the Rev. Benjamin Hopkins, of St. Cecelia's Catholic church, Baltimore, and interment was in Cathedral cemetery. Mrs. Robbins was Miss Josephine Brinker, a former resident of this city.

Survivors include the parents, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Robbins, Jr., Chicago, Ill.; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. R. J. Brinker, Baltimore; a great grandmother, Mrs. James Robbins, Sr., also of Baltimore, and a maternal great grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Hession, this city.

MISS ANNA CRUISE

Miss Anna E. Cruise, 90, a sister of the late Mrs. Katharine Dorsey, 205 Fayette street, died early Monday at Parkersburg, W. Va., where she had resided in recent years.

She was an aunt of Miss Ann Dorsey, Fayette street, and J. William Hunt, Braddock road. West Virginia State Supreme Court Justice Frank Cruise Haymond, Charleston, is another nephew. Mrs. Ella Cruise Hunt, Tunnelton, W. Va., is the only surviving sister.

A native of Tunnelton, she was a daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Kenney Cruise, pioneer residents of Northwestern Virginia.

The body is at Morgantown where a niece, Mrs. Charles F Sutherland, and a nephew, Thomas E. Hunt, reside. The funeral party will leave Morgantown at 9 a. m. today for St. Joseph's Catholic church, Howesville, where a requiem high mass is scheduled for 10 o'clock with the Rev. Paul Fahey, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Catholic church, Morgantown, as the celebrant. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

HARTSOCK RITES

Funeral services for Wilmer Hartsock, 36, 5 North Waverly terrace, local auto mechanic who died last Friday in a veterans hospital in Miami, Fla., were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Kight funeral home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, officiated and interment was in Trinity Lutheran cemetery. Military rites were accorded to the World War II veteran by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Pallbearers were Eugene W. Bergman, V. G. Zollner, David Walker, Percy L. Ruby, H. L. Bergman, R. E. Simmons, Robert Parks, Folke Foddell and Harry Reiber. Verner J. Winner was color sergeant and Harry Barley sounded taps.

JAMES PHILLIPS

James McClellan Phillips, 87, former Independence, W. Va., farmer and father of Mrs. J. A. Stuck, Sr., 121 Virginia avenue, died Friday evening at his home in Venice, a suburb of Los Angeles, Cal.

He was a native of Barbour county, W. Va., a son of the late Ace and Ada Pell Black Phillips. He lived practically all his life in Preston county, W. Va., and retired from his farm at Independence in 1937 and went to California to make his home.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Eunice Cordelia Pierce Phillips; one other daughter, Mrs. Maude A. Jenkins, at home; three sons, William U. Phillips, 733 Hilltop drive, and Lloyd P. and Robert R. Philips, both of Venice, and one grandson here, James A. Stuck, Jr., 121 Virginia avenue.

The body was schedued to leave Venice yesterday at noon and is expected to arrive here Saturday when it will be taken to the Stein funeral home. Tentative funeral arrangements call for services Sunday afternoon in the Methodist church at Newburg, W. Va., with interment in the Knights of Pythias cemetery there.

JAMES STEVENS RITES

Funeral services for James E. Stevens, 47, will known resident of South Cumberland, who died Friday in Memorial hospital, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein funeral home. The Rev. Louis H. Ewald, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church officiated and interment was in Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers, members of the Good Fellowship club, were Elmer and Richard Collins, Melvin Colbert, Arthur McCormack, Raymond Brant and Lloyd Schurley.

Monkeys Which Escaped From Zoo Cages Stage Post-Easter Egg Hunt

TULSA, Okla., April 23. (AP)—Six monkeys which have been playing in Mohawk park trees since their escape from zoo cages several days ago, are staging a post-Easter egg hunt all by themselves.

Said Zoo Director Hugh Davis: "Those guys found more eggs than the picnickers Sunday. They couldn't eat them all, so they started throwing them at the keepers."

ROXAS LEADS OSMENA IN FILIPINO ELECTION

MANILA, Wednesday, April 24 (AP)—Manuel Roxas held a better than two-to-one lead over President Sergio Osmena for the presidency of the Philippines early today on the basis of unofficial returns from sixty-seven of the more than 4,000 precincts voting in Tuesday's general election.

The figures:

Roxas—6,317.

Osmena—2,794.

Early returns were largely from Manila, which indicated an apparent strong trend for the president of the Senate over Osmena.

The dynamic Roxas awaited the outcome in seclusion, having scurried into hiding last night on reports that an attempt would be made to kidnap him.

Election day was unusually quiet as nearly 3,000,000 voters selected the officers who will lead them in the first years of the republic which comes into being July 4.

Radcliffe and Lane To Speak at Annapolis Democratic Meeting

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 23 (AP)—The United Democratic Organization of Anne Arundel County will deliver its challenge to the state central Democratic committee group tomorrow night (8 p. m.) at a state house meeting featuring two prominent Democratic candidates.

The candidates will be Sen. George D. Radcliffe, who is seeking the party renomination, and W. Preston Lane, Jr., aiming at the nomination for governor.

Other speakers will include Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, Democratic incumbent in the Fifth congressional district, who is seeking renomination, and Louis N. Phipps, a united group leader, aspiring to replace Wilbur R. Dulin as state senator.

The meeting will be the first public affair sponsored by the united group, which at a spirited session recently indorsed Radcliffe in his race against Gov. O'Conor.

Milanese Police Again Open Fire on Rioting San Vittore Prisoners

MILAN, April 23. (AP)—Milanese police opened fire again tonight in a new outburst of rioting among the 2,500 besieged prisoners of the San Vittore jail after the convicts threatened to hang all their twenty-five hostages unless their demands were met.

More than 1,000 policemen who have surrounded the prison kept searchlights trained on the walls and windows throughout the night, and returned sporadic fire from the prison, where convicts have enough arms, ammunition and food to last several days, authorities said.

A police commissioner, carabinieri and auxiliaries were seized by the convicts as hostages Sunday, when the revolt began. One convict today shouted over a loud-speaker system that "we may all be killed, but first you will see the bodies of the hostages dangling from the highest windows of the prison."

Proposed ICC Order Reducing Railroad Coal Rates Is Considered

PITTSBURGH, April 23 (AP)—A proposed Interstate Commerce Commission order reducing rates on soft coal shipped from Pennsylvania, Maryland and part of West Virginia into the Youngstown district will cost eight railroads $450,000 in revenue annually, Edward Kaier, railroad counsel, testified in federal court today.

The ICC, he charged, had used "erroneous distances in judging the reasonableness of the rates." He asked for an interloctutory injunction against the order which becomes effective June 1.

The compulsory health insurance program was indorsed before the Senate Labor committee by spokesmen for some 150 dentists. They organized their own committee to indorse the bill after the American Dental Association, of which they were members, had opposed it.

The Senate Banking committee, considering what to do about the OPA, heard complaints of underwear manufacturers against the agency. The Agriculture committee received an appeal that grain price ceilings be lifted. It came from J. O. McClintock, vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade and vice president of the National Association of Commodity Exchanges and Allied Trades, Inc.

discussion of the Iranian question in the Security council."

While Gromyko did not leave the chamber before adjournment today, his declaration made it appear certain that whenever the council discusses the Iranian case again he will not attend. However, it is considered likely he would be present when the council meets next week at 3 p. m. Thursday to resume debate on Poland's charges against Spain.

Reaffirms April 4 Decision

The council, by its action today, reaffirmed its decision of April 4 to shelve the Iranian case until May 6, when Russia has promised to have all Red army soldiers out of Iran.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the United States delegate, obviously impatient at the long debates on the Iranian case, spoke briefly to put the United States again on record against dropping the dispute at this time.

Australia, Great Britain, Mexico, The Netherlands, China, and Brazil quickly voiced support of the American stand. Seven affirmative votes of the eleven council members are required to approve any proposal.

French Delegate Henri Bonnet was joined by Poland in his attempt to have the United Nations secretary general report to the council for its subsequent report to the general assembly.

Gromyko thus stood alone on his demand that the council take the case off the agenda immediately.

The Russian delegate attacked the United States stand against dropping the case as illogical.

"Doomed to Failure"

"Irrespective of the fact that the Charter gives no proper ground for the retention of this question on the agenda, some members of the council are still trying, in vain, to have it remain on the agenda," Gromyko said.

"These attempts are doomed to failure, Mr. President, and they will only discredit those who make them for they are attempting to sacrifice the Charter in order to give an opportunity for further discussion of this so-called Iranian question. Any attempt to make use of the Iranian question for this purpose is doomed to failure and is likely to have the most regrettable consequences."

Gromyko also charged some members of the council, with no names mentioned, "appear to doubt the veracity" of Russia and Iran in declaring that the case had been satisfactorily settled.

Gromyko did not explain further what he meant by "regrettable consequences." But it was recalled that the Russian delegate walked out of the chamber when the council almost a month ago voted to proceed with the Iranian case here.

The council chamber was packed with one of the largest crowds to attend any session so far as the delegates sat down to work at 3:03 p. m. EST after a long Easter recess.

terday, was draped in black.

Five hours after Stone became ill, he died at his home at 6:45 p. m. of a massive cerebral hemorrhage—the same ailment to which President Roosevelt succumbed just one year ago this month. It was the Democrat Roosevelt who had elevated the Republican Stone to chief justice in 1941.

The Senate likewise adjourned early, cutting short scheduled debate on the British loan, after tributes had been paid to Stone by members of both political parties. The House was in recess.

If Mr. Truman selects the new chief justice from among the senior members of the present court, the nation would have its first Democratic chief justice in a quarter of a century. Stone's predecessor, Charles Evans Hughes, and the late William Howard Taft before him, were Republicans. The last Democratic chief justice was Edward D. White.

The president then might well appoint a second Republican to the court as associate justice. Except for Justice Harold H. Burton, former Ohio senator whom Mr. Truman named last September after the retirement of Justice Owen J. Roberts, all the eight remaining members of the tribunal are Roosevelt-appointed Democrats.

"Should you receive any suggestions towards the solution of your problem from the United Mine Workers, I would appreciate it if you would advise me about them, so that they may be referred to the operators for consideration."

Lewis left today for Hazelton, Pa., where the union's three anthracite districts are in convention to determine what contract demands to make of the hard coal operators. The anthracite contract can be terminated May 31.

Market Continues To Backtrack With Sellers Well in Majority

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP)—Special stocks, led by aviations and merchandisers, exhibited isolated strength today although the market, as a whole, continued to backtrack.

While individual situations propped favorites, sellers were well in the majority with bearishness again attributed to the belief that the substantial upswing to a fifteen year peak had been achieved without a worthwhile technical correction. Steels and motors were depressed by threatened production curtailments due to the coal strike. Doubts regarding important OPA restaints getting through Congress also tempered sentiment.

and the total of 1,380,000 shares shares compared with 1,210,000 the day before. Of 1,005 issues registering, 584 declined and 235 advanced.

Ahead were Lockheed, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (NJ), Paramount Pictures, American Woolen, Phelps Dodge and American Power and Light.

Among Curb gainers were Beaunit Mills, Colonial Airlines, Sunray Drugs and Club Aluminum. On the offside were Cities Service, Aireon, Cessna Aircraft, Electric Bond and Share and Nigara Hudson Power. Turnover here was 530,000 shares versus 570,000 yesterday.

Treasury bonds continued their recent slide in today's market and a broad list of corporates registered losses of one to more than two points.

Seven treasury issues dropped the allowable one-quarter point for the day in over-the-counter dealings.

Total bond sales of $5,270,000 were well distributed throughout the list. The aggregate, largest since April 12, compared with $4,684,000 Monday.

here with about thirty-five members. Fourteen of the original charter members are still living and eight are still members here and active in the club. During the past twenty-five years, over 250 local members have been enrolled, and membership now stands at eighty-one.

The toastmaster also paid tribute to the past presidents of the club and named them, mentioning the accomplishments during their respective administrations.

Receive Attendance Emblems

Thomas E. Gilchrist and Virgil Powell, two of the charter members were presented with emblems for a perfect twenty-five-year attendance.

John D. Liebau was presented an award for twenty years' perfect attendance.

Dinner music was furnished by the Colony ensemble, and several vocal selections were offered by the Fort Hill a cappella choir, directed by Mrs. Edward S. Pelling III, music director. The musical program was well received and a rising ovation was given the choir at the conclusion of their program.

Among guests introduced were J. Milton Patterson, the club's first president; Dr. Robert W. Bess, Keyser, W. Va., district governor, who brought greetings of the district; O. J. Hale, president of the Kiwanis club and L. C. Cessna, president of Lions club.

Ladies were presented souvenirs of Rotary and a gardenia, and souvenir programs were given each member and guest. The programs bearing silver borders to mark the silver anniversary of the club, also contain a complete roster of membership, list of officers and directors and a list of surviving charter members and the past presidents, surviving and deceased.

Scholarship Examinations Will Be Held May 25

School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp announced yesterday that the date for administration of the state scholarship examinations for various colleges this year will be Saturday, May 25.

In order to handle these tests as effectively as possible the state department of education will act as a clearing house for the examinations.

Kopp said Earle T. Hawkins, director of instruction for the state board, has informed him it will be necessary to obtain the number of examinations needed.

Kidwell Gets Parole On Drunkenness Charge

Bennett Franklin Kidwell, RFD No. 5, this city, was tried in trial Magistrates court yesterday on a charge of being intoxicated on a public highway. He was sentenced to county jail for thirty days, but sentence was suspended and he was paroled for one year, on condition that he stay off public highways when drinking.

The man was arrested by Sgt Thomas M. Hignutt, of the Maryland State Police, near Cresaptown. Police said he was obstructing traffic and was badly intoxicated.

Late Sports

Albright and Beisel Get Hagerstown Bouts

Tommy Beisel and Garford Albright, who appeared on the first pro fight card of the season here last month, will appear in the show scheduled for tomorrow night in the Hagerstown armory.

Biesel will meet Henry Whitley, of Baltimore, and Albright, former Pacific Fleet boxer, will oppose Joe Shannon, of Baltimore. Both matches are four-rounders.

Jim Schwemmer and Charlie Crump, heavyweights, will meet in the eight-round main go.

Moorefield Player Contracts Arrive

G. Ray Lippold, secretary-treasurer of the Interstate Baseball League, yesterday announced the receipt of player contracts of the Moorefield Legion team.

"All contracts were neatly typed, with the exception of the players' signatures and I hope others arrive in the same shape," Lippold said. The contracts were sent by Manager Clarence Fisher.

This was the first batch of contracts received. The season opens Sunday and the deadline for contracts is Friday at noon.

dent. Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher finally took the witness stand and testified that Shook told him he first saw the victim while forty feet away from him, said he turned to the left. Fletcher also denied a charge by Shook that he had called him a liar four times in the course of the examination in the state's attorney's office.

Inn Manager Testifies

Walter McVitty, manager of the Midway inn, testified that Shook wrecked his car outside his place of business. He said he went out and that later Shook entered his place of business. McVitty testified that Shook had been drinking. Lloyd Loar, Pinto, who was in the Midway inn at this time, also testified that Shook's speech was "thick" and that he was "thick-tongued."

Defense Attorney Edward J. Ryan called John W. Stark, Cresaptown druggist, to the stand. Stark testified that Shook came into his store on business sometime after 4 p. m., the day of the accident but he could not fix the exact time as he said there was an epidemic and he was very busy. Stark said Shook was "normal" when he saw him and that he did not appear to be under the influence of alcohol.

In testimony, Shook stated that he had had a shot of liquor the morning of the accident and was vigorously questioned by the state's attorney who asked him if he recalled making a statement to the effect that he had had a shot of liquor and some beer the afternoon before the accident.

Earl Knieriem, Pinto, another defense witness, said that he talked with Shook around 6:15 p. m. the evening of the accident and that he appeared to be "normal" and not under the influence of liquor.

Rival attorneys waived final arguments in the Shook case yesterday afternoon but argued the McDonald case early yesterday morning.

Former Residents Are Taken by Death

Word of the sudden deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Enos F. Woltman, Philadelphia, former residents here, was received yesterday by Mrs. Frank Schulte, 826 Greene street.

According to the letter from their son, Fred Woltman, of the New York World-Telegraph, Mrs. Woltman died suddenly of a heart attack on April 10; three days later her husband, who had not recovered from the shock of his wife's death, "died quietly in his sleep."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Woltman were formerly of York, Pa., and were married forty-seven years ago in Pittsburgh, Pa., where they resided for a number of years. Mr. Woltman was employed as a pharmacist at both the Keech drug stores on Virginia avenue from 1936 to 1938.

At that time he resigned and they moved to Philadelphia to be near some old friends of Mrs. Woltman. There Mr. Woltman was again employed in the drug business. Mr. Woltman was a Mason.

WENTLING CHILD RITES

Funeral services for Marcellis Lynn Wentling, 4-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wentling, who died Saturday evening at his home on Christie road, were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Hafer funeral home. ROBBINS CHILD RITES

Funeral services for Anna Marie Robbins, 15-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robbins, III, 4102 Alto road, Baltimore, who died Friday, were conducted Monday at the home by the Rev. Benjamin Hopkins, of St. Cecelia's Catholic church, Baltimore, and interment was in Cathedral cemetery. Mrs. Robbins was Miss Josephine Brinker, a former resident of this city.

Survivors include the parents, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Robbins, Jr., Chicago, Ill.; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. R. J. Brinker, Baltimore; a great grandmother, Mrs. James Robbins, Sr., also of Baltimore, and a maternal great grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Hession, this city.

MISS ANNA CRUISE

She was an aunt of Miss Ann Dorsey, Fayette street, and J. William Hunt, Braddock road. West Virginia State Supreme Court Justice Frank Cruise Haymond, Charleston, is another nephew. Mrs. Ella Cruise Hunt, Tunnelton, W. Va., is the only surviving sister.

A native of Tunnelton, she was a daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Kenney Cruise, pioneer residents of Northwestern Virginia.

The body is at Morgantown where a niece, Mrs. Charles F Sutherland, and a nephew, Thomas E. Hunt, reside. The funeral party will leave Morgantown at 9 a. m. today for St. Joseph's Catholic church, Howesville, where a requiem high mass is scheduled for 10 o'clock with the Rev. Paul Fahey, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Catholic church, Morgantown, as the celebrant. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

HARTSOCK RITES

Funeral services for Wilmer Hartsock, 36, 5 North Waverly terrace, local auto mechanic who died last Friday in a veterans hospital in Miami, Fla., were conducted yesterday at 2 p. m. in the Kight funeral home.

The Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of First Methodist church, officiated and interment was in Trinity Lutheran cemetery. Military rites were accorded to the World War II veteran by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Pallbearers were Eugene W. Bergman, V. G. Zollner, David Walker, Percy L. Ruby, H. L. Bergman, R. E. Simmons, Robert Parks, Folke Foddell and Harry Reiber. Verner J. Winner was color sergeant and Harry Barley sounded taps.

JAMES PHILLIPS

James McClellan Phillips, 87, former Independence, W. Va., farmer and father of Mrs. J. A. Stuck, Sr., 121 Virginia avenue, died Friday evening at his home in Venice, a suburb of Los Angeles, Cal.

He was a native of Barbour county, W. Va., a son of the late Ace and Ada Pell Black Phillips. He lived practically all his life in Preston county, W. Va., and retired from his farm at Independence in 1937 and went to California to make his home.

Also surviving are his widow, Mrs. Eunice Cordelia Pierce Phillips; one other daughter, Mrs. Maude A. Jenkins, at home; three sons, William U. Phillips, 733 Hilltop drive, and Lloyd P. and Robert R. Philips, both of Venice, and one grandson here, James A. Stuck, Jr., 121 Virginia avenue.

The body was schedued to leave Venice yesterday at noon and is expected to arrive here Saturday when it will be taken to the Stein funeral home. Tentative funeral arrangements call for services Sunday afternoon in the Methodist church at Newburg, W. Va., with interment in the Knights of Pythias cemetery there.

JAMES STEVENS RITES

Monkeys Which Escaped From Zoo Cages Stage Post-Easter Egg Hunt

TULSA, Okla., April 23. (AP)—Six monkeys which have been playing in Mohawk park trees since their escape from zoo cages several days ago, are staging a post-Easter egg hunt all by themselves.

Said Zoo Director Hugh Davis: "Those guys found more eggs than the picnickers Sunday. They couldn't eat them all, so they started throwing them at the keepers."

ROXAS LEADS OSMENA IN FILIPINO ELECTION

MANILA, Wednesday, April 24 (AP)—Manuel Roxas held a better than two-to-one lead over President Sergio Osmena for the presidency of the Philippines early today on the basis of unofficial returns from sixty-seven of the more than 4,000 precincts voting in Tuesday's general election.

The figures:
Roxas—6,317.
Osmena—2,794.

Early returns were largely from Manila, which indicated an apparent strong trend for the president of the Senate over Osmena.

The dynamic Roxas awaited the outcome in seclusion, having scurried into hiding last night on reports that an attempt would be made to kidnap him.

Election day was unusually quiet as nearly 3,000,000 voters selected the officers who will lead them in the first years of the republic which comes into being July 4.

Radcliffe and Lane To Speak at Annapolis Democratic Meeting

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 23 (AP)—The United Democratic Organization of Anne Arundel County will deliver its challenge to the state central Democratic committee group tomorrow night (8 p. m.) at a state house meeting featuring two prominent Democratic candidates.

The candidates will be Sen. George D. Radcliffe, who is seeking the party renomination, and W. Preston Lane, Jr., aiming at the nomination for governor.

Other speakers will include Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer, Democratic incumbent in the Fifth congressional district, who is seeking renomination, and Louis N. Phipps, a united group leader, aspiring to replace Wilbur R. Dulin as state senator.

The meeting will be the first public affair sponsored by the united group, which at a spirited session recently indorsed Radcliffe in his race against Gov. O'Conor.

Milanese Police Again Open Fire on Rioting San Vittore Prisoners

MILAN, April 23. (AP)—Milanese police opened fire again tonight in a new outburst of rioting among the 2,500 besieged prisoners of the San Vittore jail after the convicts threatened to hang all their twenty-five hostages unless their demands were met.

More than 1,000 policemen who have surrounded the prison kept searchlights trained on the walls and windows throughout the night, and returned sporadic fire from the prison, where convicts have enough arms, ammunition and food to last several days, authorities said.

A police commissioner, carabinieri and auxiliaries were seized by the convicts as hostages Sunday, when the revolt began. One convict today shouted over a loud-speaker system that "we may all be killed, but first you will see the bodies of the hostages dangling from the highest windows of the prison."

Proposed ICC Order Reducing Railroad Coal Rates Is Considered

PITTSBURGH, April 23 (AP)—A proposed Interstate Commerce Commission order reducing rates on soft coal shipped from Pennsylvania, Maryland and part of West Virginia into the Youngstown district will cost eight railroads $450,000 in revenue annually, Edward Kaier, railroad counsel, testified in federal court today.

The ICC, he charged, had used "erroneous distances in judging the reasonableness of the rates." He asked for an interloctutory injunction against the order which becomes effective June 1.

Gromyko Says

discussion of the Iranian question in the Security council."

While Gromyko did not leave the chamber before adjournment today, his declaration made it appear certain that whenever the council discusses the Iranian case again he will not attend. However, it is considered likely he would be present when the council meets next week at 3 p. m. Thursday to resume debate on Poland's charges against Spain.

Reaffirms April 4 Decision

The council, by its action today, reaffirmed its decision of April 4 to shelve the Iranian case until May 6, when Russia has promised to have all Red army soldiers out of Iran.

Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., the United States delegate, obviously impatient at the long debates on the Iranian case, spoke briefly to put the United States again on record against dropping the dispute at this time.

Australia, Great Britain, Mexico, The Netherlands, China, and Brazil quickly voiced support of the American stand. Seven affirmative votes of the eleven council members are required to approve any proposal.

French Delegate Henri Bonnet was joined by Poland in his attempt to have the United Nations secretary general report to the council for its subsequent report to the general assembly.

Gromyko thus stood alone on his demand that the council take the case off the agenda immediately.

The Russian delegate attacked the United States stand against dropping the case as illogical.

"Doomed to Failure"

"Irrespective of the fact that the Charter gives no proper ground for the retention of this question on the agenda, some members of the council are still trying, in vain, to have it remain on the agenda," Gromyko said.

"These attempts are doomed to failure, Mr. President, and they will only discredit those who make them for they are attempting to sacrifice the Charter in order to give an opportunity for further discussion of this so-called Iranian question. Any attempt to make use of the Iranian question for this purpose is doomed to failure and is likely to have the most regrettable consequences."

Gromyko also charged some members of the council, with no names mentioned, "appear to doubt the veracity" of Russia and Iran in declaring that the case had been satisfactorily settled.

Gromyko did not explain further what he meant by "regrettable consequences." But it was recalled that the Russian delegate walked out of the chamber when the council almost a month ago voted to proceed with the Iranian case here.

The council chamber was packed with one of the largest crowds to attend any session so far as the delegates sat down to work at 3:03 p. m. EST after a long Easter recess.

Five hours after Stone became ill, he died at his home at 6:45 p. m. of a massive cerebral hemorrhage—the same ailment to which President Roosevelt succumbed just one year ago this month. It was the Democrat Roosevelt who had elevated the Republican Stone to chief justice in 1941.

The Senate likewise adjourned early, cutting short scheduled debate on the British loan, after tributes had been paid to Stone by members of both political parties. The House was in recess.

If Mr. Truman selects the new chief justice from among the senior members of the present court, the nation would have its first Democratic chief justice in a quarter of a century. Stone's predecessor, Charles Evans Hughes, and the late William Howard Taft before him, were Republicans. The last Democratic chief justice was Edward D. White.

The president then might well appoint a second Republican to the court as associate justice. Except for Justice Harold H. Burton, former Ohio senator whom Mr. Truman named last September after the retirement of Justice Owen J. Roberts, all the eight remaining members of the tribunal are Roosevelt-appointed Democrats.

Frostburg Church Members Honored At Guild Reception

Congregation of Lutheran Church Presents Gift to Pastor, Wife

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, April 23 — The Rev. and Mrs. Justus H. Leismann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and persons who became affiliated with the church during Holy week, were guests of honor at a reception held Monday evening in the church lecture room under the auspices of the Ladies guild.

Upton B. F. Edwards, president of the church council, presided and impromptu remarks were delivered by the Rev. Dr. H. T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Cumberland, and the Rev. Dr. H. Hall Sharp, of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Cumberland. Frostburg pastors who gave brief talks were the Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial church; the Rev. Henry Little. D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian church; the Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, of the Congregational church, and the Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, pastor-elect of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church.

Mrs. Ray Van Ormer, Schellsburg, Pa., a former resident of this city, was introduced and responded with brief remarks.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter Reinhart, Cumberland, a former resident, was the soloist of the evening, singing three numbers, with Mrs. Lillian Speir Stewart playing the piano accompaniments.

During the evening, the Rev. and Mrs. Leismann were presented with a purse, a gift from the congregation in appreciation for their services to the church since the former assumed the pastorate. The gift was presented by Edwards.

The program was followed by refreshments served by a committee of the Ladies guild.

The Rev. Mr. Leismann, who served overseas as a chaplain with the rank of major for two years, accepted the call to the local church in October. He was officially installed as pastor, Sunday, January 20, by the Rev. Dr. Paul A. Weidley, Baltimore, a former pastor of the local church, representing the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran church.

The Rev. Mr. Leismann, a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran Theological seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., had charge of a Lutheran church in Baltimore before volunteering for service as a chaplain with the armed forces.

Mrs. Patterson Dies

Mrs. Mary Patterson, 87, widow of John Patterson, died this morning at her home on Washington street after a lingering illness.

A native of Scotland, she came to this country fifty-five years ago. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brown.

Surviving are two sons, Roy Patterson, Clarksburg, W. Va., and John Patterson, at home; two daughters, Mrs. M. C. Wright, Park Heights, Cumberland, and Miss Mary Patterson, at home; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, Chicago, Ill.; five grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Frostburg Church Members Honored At Guild Reception

Congregation of Lutheran Church Presents Gift to Pastor, Wife

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, April 23 — The Rev. and Mrs. Justus H. Leismann, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and persons who became affiliated with the church during Holy week, were guests of honor at a reception held Monday evening in the church lecture room under the auspices of the Ladies guild.

Upton B. F. Edwards, president of the church council, presided and impromptu remarks were delivered by the Rev. Dr. H. T. Bowersox, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Cumberland, and the Rev. Dr. H. Hall Sharp, of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Cumberland. Frostburg pastors who gave brief talks were the Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Memorial church; the Rev. Henry Little, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian church; the Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, the Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, of the Congregational church, and the Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, pastor-elect of Zion Evangelical and Reformed church.

Mrs. Ray Van Ormer, Schellsburg, Pa., a former resident of this city, was introduced and responded with brief remarks.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter Reinhart, Cumberland, a former resident, was the soloist of the evening, singing three numbers, with Mrs. Lillian Speir Stewart playing the piano accompaniments.

During the evening, the Rev. and Mrs. Leismann were presented with a purse, a gift from the congregation in appreciation for their services to the church since the former assumed the pastorate. The gift was presented by Edwards.

The program was followed by refreshments served by a committee of the Ladies guild.

The Rev. Mr. Leismann, who served overseas as a chaplain with the rank of major for two years, accepted the call to the local church in October. He was officially installed as pastor, Sunday, January 20, by the Rev. Dr. Paul A. Weidley, Baltimore, a former pastor of the local church, representing the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran church.

The Rev. Mr. Leismann, a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran Theological seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., had charge of a Lutheran church in Baltimore before volunteering for service as a chaplain with the armed forces.

Mrs. Patterson Dies

Mrs. Mary Patterson, 87, widow of John Patterson, died this morning at her home on Washington street after a lingering illness.

Edna Marie Miller Becomes the Bride Of Edward Beeman

By MARIE MEERBACH

LONACONING, April 23—Mr. and Mrs. William R. Miller, Barton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Edna Marie, to Edward Galen Beeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beeman, Charlestown.

The wedding was solemnized in the Presbyterian manse at Barton Saturday night, April 20, at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Stanley Jewell. The double ring ceremony was performed.

Miss Leah Beeman, sister of the bride-groom, was the bride's maid-of-honor and Mr. Makennet Northcraft, Meyersdale, Pa., was the bridegroom's best man.

The bride was attired in a light blue suit with which she wore a white hat and black and white accessories. Her corsage was deep pink rosebuds.

The maid-of-honor wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a pink corsage.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Jane Andrews, Laurel hill. The table was decorated with a three-tierred wedding cake.

Auxiliary Marks Anniversary

James P. Love Unit No. 92, American Legion Auxiliary, celebrated its third anniversary at a special meeting Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in Odd Fellows hall, Front street.

Miss Anne Sloan, child welfare chairman of the American Legion Department of Maryland was guest speaker. She spoke on the child welfare program of the American Legion.

A movie, entitled "A Square Deal for Every Child" was shown through the courtesy of the Coca Cola Bottling Works.

Mrs. Christina Spiker, unit child welfare chairman, was honor guest. She is the first president of James P. Love Unit.

Guests from other units in Mountain district were present. Refreshments were served. Mrs. William Robertson, unit president, was in charge.

Legion Backs Safety Program

James P. Love Post, No. 92, American Legion, has unanimously adopted a resolution in keeping with the safety program outlined by the national department.

The resolution, offered by John Gunter and seconded by James W. Speir, is: "Resolved: That James P. Love Post No. 92, American Legion, petition the mayor and council of Lonaconing to erect proper traffic signs and controls to enact and rigidly enforce proper traffic regulations and speed limits within and over the streets in the town of Lonaconing which are under the supervision and control of said town."

Personal Mention

Mrs. James Conrad and daughters, Maxine, Carol June, Sally and Linda Kay, Columbia street, Cumberland, visited Mrs. Jessie Miller, Watercliffe, over the weekend.

Miss Mary Morgan and Miss Laverne Kerr, Frostburg, were guests of Miss Verna Miller, Watercliffe street, over the holidays.

Oil To Be Spread Thin, Light Informs Council

The job of oiling Cumberland city streets is due to start soon, City Commissioner Myers G. Light has informed the mayor and members of the council.

Commissioner Light stated that the city has obtained 3,000 gallons of oil and that the street department plans to "spread it thin" to cover as many streets as possible.

Stanley J. Goodrich, 529 Eastern avenue, told the council he would like his street "oiled—really oiled, and not just half done."

Walter C. Humbersan, 1014 Harding avenue, yesterday complained to the mayor and council about a slaughter house operation in his neighborhood and was referred to the health department.

—Sugar prices reached record highs during a recent shortage in Mexico City.

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Hybrid Alfalfa Has Been Developed

Commenting on new developments in agriculture, County Agent R. F. McHenry said yesterday that hybrid alfalfa has been developed by the Bureau of Plant Industry co-operating with the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station.

It has been estimated that hybrid corn has boosted the corn production of the United States twenty per cent. Hybrid alfalfa, if it spreads as rapidly over the nation as did hybrid corn is expected to increase yields twenty to twenty-five per cent.

McHenry said that the work has not progressed far enough yet for seed stocks to become available but it is expected that the time will not be long until seed will be marketed commercially.

The new Fordhook 242 bush lima bean in 1945 was the outstanding new vegetable development, McHenry said. Trials conducted in West Virginia had this new bush lima bean out-yielding all check varieties grown with it by twenty-three per cent. This new bush lima is being offered this year in many new seed catalogues. The Fordhook 242 lima is a different variety from Fordhook and should not be confused with it. The new bean was developed by the Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture.

The Department of Agriculture announces that Fordhook 242 has been in the hands of commercial seed men long enough that they have had an opportunity to develop seed stocks for the past four years. The rapid success of this new variety is due to its outstanding quality, high yield and resistance to disease.

—In India and Japan, newly married couples throw food to fishes to insure fertility.

—Sir T. Thambu Chetty, the maharajah's private secretary, said in Mysore that nearly twenty-five per cent of the infants in India died in their first year.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

STEVE: "How was the hospital dinner, Judge? Sorry I couldn't get there."

OLD JUDGE: "Very interesting, Steve. One of the doctors on the staff read a paper on the research work that is going on at one of the big universities where they are studying chronic alcoholism."

STEVE: "I'd like to have heard that, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "He pointed out that approximately 95% of the people who drink do so sensibly. Only 5% abuse the privilege occasionally and included in that 5% is the very small number known as alcoholics. Then he quoted a doctor from a famous university who said 'Alcoholics are sick persons and, if treated as such, may be cured.' Alcoholism, he said, is not caused by alcohol but by deep-rooted emotional derailments which can be prevented by education and often cured through modern psychology!"

STEVE: "That's the most sensible approach to the problem I've heard."

LOVE

You can't force love.

You can't omit or rule it, no matter how intense your own affection may be. And you're out of luck if you try.

Neither coaxing nor jealousy nor pouts nor threats can bring love to heel.

For love is a free thing. It comes voluntarily and spontaneously or not at all.

The instant you try to bind love or coerce it by sentimental demands, you kill it.

And this applies to every variety of love. It is as true of the relationship between parents and children as between wedded mates or sweethearts. For no relationship guarantees love and no law can compel it.

Love is not a duty we should perform nor an obligation we owe. You may scheme to win it or retain it but in the end love is a free will gift—or nothing.

Love is an individual adventure in which each one of us must shoulder his own risks and be responsible for his own happiness or grief. Even when love is mutual neither one of the pair has a right to demand that his devotion be returned nor even the right to expect that love shall make him joyful or safe.

Love in itself is its own reward. It always pays. Whether our love be returned or not, we are always richer for having loved. But it is senseless to try to bargain over love or demand dividends on our investment. It is worse than senseless to think that love should be given in gratitude. For love is one thing and gratitude is quite another. They have nothing in common. One cannot substitute for the other.

If you wish to serve or sacrifice for someone you love, do so and get the full joy of it. But don't go around demanding a pound of flesh in return.

Don't think that love gives you the right to spy upon or punish or dominate the loved one. And never complain if love brings pain. Love is always worth all that it costs. Christ's love cost Him a cross. And all love brings a certain crucifixion.

Even if your loved one fails you or betrays you or is taken by death and you spend your days in loneliness and hunger, it is worth while loving. For love itself—the love you give—does not ever fail nor betray nor die.

Dare to love! But dare to face the truth about love before you start. Dare to realize the loneliness and disappointment, the hurt and hopelessness, which love is bound to bring at times.

Dare to love for the glory and beauty of love alone—not for the purpose of being petted, protected or flattered in return.

Dare the risks of love as you dare the risks of growth, paying, sometimes painfully, for one stage of love above another. For love is human life's tallest and loveliest growth—but also the most difficult. Love is the growth of the soul.

No life is complete without love. No life is fulfilled that does not love increasingly and in ever widening circles until the end.

LOVE

You can't force love.

You can't omit or rule it, no matter how intense your own affection may be. And you're out of luck if you try.

Neither coaxing nor jealousy nor pouts nor threats can bring love to heel.

For love is a free thing. It comes voluntarily and spontaneously or not at all.

The instant you try to bind love or coerce it by sentimental demands, you kill it.

And this applies to every variety of love. It is as true of the relationship between parents and children as between wedded mates or sweethearts. For no relationship guarantees love and no law can compel it.

Love is not a duty we should perform nor an obligation we owe. You may scheme to win it or retain it but in the end love is a free will gift—or nothing.

Love is an individual adventure in which each one of us must shoulder his own risks and be responsible for his own happiness or grief. Lightweights To Top Tuesday Fight Card

Head, of Dodgers, Hurls No-Run, No-Hit Contest

Braves Fail To Advance Runner Past Second as Brooklyn Defeats Cooper, 5 to 0

BROOKLYN, April 23 (AP)—Eddie Head, an ex-GI making his first start since 1944, pitched a no-hit, no-run game today against the Boston Braves as Brooklyn earned a 5-0 victory before 26,787 fans.

The righthander walked three men, including the first man to face him in the ninth inning, but only one man reached as far as second base.

It was the first no-hitter of the infant season in the majors. Dick Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics was the last to enter the Hall of Fame with a no-hit job against the St. Louis Browns last September 9.

Head walked Connie Ryan leading off in the first frame but he was erased when Johnny Hopp bounced into a double play. Whitey Weitelmann walked with one out in the third and Mort Cooper, his pitching foe, and Ryan hit into force plays.

Chuck Workman opened the ninth as a pinch hitter for Cooper and drew a pass. After Ryan struck out, Ferrell Anderson threw to Ed Stevens, picking Workman off first for a double play. Hopp grounded to second to end the game.

The only other Brave to reach base was Bama Rowell who was safe at first on Pee Wee Reese's error of his grounder opening the fifth. Phil Masi sacrificed him to second where he died.

The lean Louisiana native struck out two men in his bid for fame and only six balls were hit to the outfield.

Brooklyn climbed on Cooper for two runs in the third on four hits.

Two more runs clumped across in the fifth on a walk to Herman Reiser's single and Ed Stevens's double. In the sixth Rookie Catcher Anderson hit a home run to assure the Dodgers their sixth straight win.

Head had arm trouble while in service and there were reports he never would pitch again but the highthander showed them differently today. He is the youngster who used to be a lefthander but broke his left arm in an auto accident and turned around to become a top flight righthanded hurler.

Gerry Priddy's Three Run Homer Features Overtime Battle

BOSTON, April 23 (AP)—The Washington Senators who had lost four games to the Red Sox so far this season, turned on the Bostonians today and dynamited a 2-2 game by making six runs in the eleventh inning for an 8-2 victory. The big blow was a three-run homer by Gerry Priddy.

Lee Sheppard, of Cleveland, Matched with Juan Carrero

Latter Is Stablemate of Rocky Graziano; Ira Hughes To Test ETO Light-Heavy Champion

Lee Sheppard, Negro lightweight star of Cleveland, Ohio, has been matched to fight Juan Carrero, 135-pound Puerto Rican, and stablemate of Rocky Graziano, New York's sensational knockout artist, in the ten-round feature match of the Cumberland Athletic Club's professional boxing show next Tuesday night at the state armory, it was announced yesterday by Matchmaker "Vic" Ricker.

Sheppard holds decisions over Sammy Angott, former NBA lightweight champion, Young Kid McCoy and a host of others and comes here highly recommended as being a topnotch club fighter and crowd pleaser.

Carrero is the lightweight who recently halted the 29-bout winning streak of Eddie Murphy, of New York, and a week ago lost a hairline decision to Ruby Kessler in the main event at the Broadway Arena in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Juan is managed by Chickie Bogard, who holds the contract of Rockabye Rocky Graziano, New York's latest fistic sensation, and a flock of other clouters.

Hughes To Face Peterson

In the eight-round semi-final of next Tuesday night's show, the second of the year for Promoter Leonard "Chick" Little, a pair of out-of-town 170-pounders will try conclusions when Ira Hughes, of Pittsburgh, collides with Warren Peterson, of New York, who is heralded as the ETO light-heavyweight champion.

Hughes has appeared in pro shows here in the past and today is meeting the topnotchers. He recently lost to Tony Zale, who is recognized as world's middleweight champion.

Peterson, a member of the Graziano stable, whipped Jimmy Smith and knocked out Oscar Goode in two fights since his discharge from the army. Before enlisting he decisioned Joe Carter, Larry Fontana, Van McNutt and other lightweight-heavies.

Matchmaker Ricker's original intention was to match Tony Rios, the Mexican lightweight, with Carrero, but the former disappeared after a match in Cincinnati, Ohio, and his manager has been unable to locate him.

"Sheppard should prove a capable substitute as he has met some of the best 135-pounders in the ring today and always gives the fans a run for their money," Ricker declared.

Plans 33-ound Card

Next week's card will be completed with the arranging of three preliminary bouts—a six, five and four rounder—making a total of thirty-three rounds.

Ricker hopes to complete the program within the next few days.

GETS MAIN BOUT

LEE SHEPPARD, popular Cleveland lightweight, above, will oppose Juan Carrero, Puerto Rican, and stablemate of "Rocky" Graziano, in the ten round feature bout of next Tuesday's professional show at the state armory. Matchmaker Ricker is lining up a five-bout thirty-three round card. The curtain raiser is set for 8 p. m.

Hyndman Defeats Schellsburg 14-4

Phillippi and Stair Hit Homers; Waltman Stars in Relief Role

HYNDMAN, Pa., April 23—Hyndman high school came from behind to defeat Schellsburg-Napier high school today by the score of 14 to 4. The victory gave Coach McVicker's team a clean sweep of the series.

Trailing 4-3 going into the last half of the fifth, Hyndman moved ahead on successive circuit blasts by Phillippi and Stair and before the inning ended the locals had chased six runs over the platter. A five-run outburst concluded the scoring in the sixth.

Waltman, who came on to relieve Jack Shaffer in the fifth, received credit for the win. He finished up by blanking the visitors and firing the third strike past seven batters in three frames. Hyndman nicked Suter for 15 hits, eight going for extra bases. Phillippi was the "big gun" with a double and home run.

Hyndman will play Allegany high in a Tri-State Conference game in Cumberland on Friday. Box:

Sunday School Loop Will Be Revived

Four teams were represented at a meeting held last evening in Trinity church for the purpose of reviving the South Cumberland Sunday School Softball League, which was discontinued on account of the war.

Trinity Methodist, Living Stone Church of the Brethren, United Brethren and Second Baptist were represented and franchises will be held open for Grace Methodist, St. John's Lutheran, Calvary Evangelical and Emmanuel Methodist until the next meeting which will be held April 29 at 7:30 p. m. at Trinity church.

Rules used by the former league will prevail during the 1946 season.

Officers will be elected at the next session.

Cardinals Rally In Eighth Frame, Defeat Reds, 3-2

Nate Andrews Is Victim as St. Louis Sweeps Three-Game Series

CINCINNATI, April 23—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals spurted for two runs in the eighth inning today to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and take the second successive game of a three-game series. Reportedly weak hitters, the Redlegs got both their runs by way of circuit clouts.

Nate Andrews, a hard luck pitcher, seemed to have the Cardinal attack solved until the eighth. Then, singles by Marty Marion, Del Rice and Lou Klein, an error by Rookie Second Baseman Bobby Adams and a long fly, put the Cardinals in the lead. Box:

CUBS WIN ON ERROR

PITTSBURGH, April 23—(AP)—Billy Cox, Rookie Pittsburgh shortstop, let a bounder go through him in the eighth inning today to break a 1-1 tie and help the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory before 8,224 fans.

Cox bobbled Tommy Livingston's infield tap with two men away, enabling Phil Cavarretta to tally from third.

PHILS TRIM GIANTS

PHILADELPHIA, April 23—(AP)—After Manager Ben Chapman had been ejected in the first inning by Umpire Tom Dunn, the Philadelphia Phillies knocked starter Harry Feldman out of the box and went on to score an 8-1 win over the New York Giants today, squaring their two-game series.

Oscar Judd, who had been belted out early by the Giants opening day, came back to hurl steady nine-hit ball as his mates clubbed Feldman, Ken Trinkle and Rube Fisher for twelve hits. Box:

LaSalle Beats Paw Paw; Fort Hill Tops Alumni

Explorers Bag Third Straight Win, 16-2; Judy Cops 3-Hitter for Sentinels, 10-2

LaSalle and Fort Hill registered baseball victories yesterday, the Explorers launching their Tri-State Interscholastic Conference campaign with a 16-2 triumph over the Paw Paw (W. Va.) high school Mountaineers at Community Park while the Sentinels took the measure of the Alumni to the tune of 10-2 on the Fort Hill diamond.

Coach George Geatz's swatsmiths pounded a trio of Paw Paw boxmen for twelve safeties, including Jack Steiner's third homer of the season with Close and Esposito aboard in the fourth, a triple and two-bagger by Johnny Esposito and two doubles by Deffenbaugh, while Pat "Lefty" Creegan was letting down the West Virginians with three safeties—all singles—in five innings, and struck out nine. Bob Wood pitched the sixth and final inning for LaSalle in the abbreviated contest, halted by darkness.

LaSalle players pilfered a total of fourteen bases in marking up their third straight win of the season.

Esposito was spiked in making a play at second base in the second inning but remained in the game.

Paul Judy yielded three hits and set down seven via the strikeout route in twirling Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's tossers to their second straight win of the season.

The Sentinels solved the offerings of Bill Stevenson and Derl Keller for an even dozen safeties, Richard Dick heading the assault with three blows in four trips while Irvin Mangus, "Bub" Frye and Judy connected for two safeties each. One of Mangus's hits was a two-bagger, the only extra base wallop in the game. The box scores:

Lightweights To Top Tuesday Fight Card

Braves Fail To Advance Runner Past Second as Brooklyn Defeats Cooper, 5 to 0

BROOKLYN, April 23 (AP)—Eddie Head, an ex-GI making his first start since 1944, pitched a no-hit, no-run game today against the Boston Braves as Brooklyn earned a 5-0 victory before 26,787 fans.

The righthander walked three men, including the first man to face him in the ninth inning, but only one man reached as far as second base.

It was the first no-hitter of the infant season in the majors. Dick Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics was the last to enter the Hall of Fame with a no-hit job against the St. Louis Browns last September 9.

Head walked Connie Ryan leading off in the first frame but he was erased when Johnny Hopp bounced into a double play. Whitey Weitelmann walked with one out in the third and Mort Cooper, his pitching foe, and Ryan hit into force plays.

Chuck Workman opened the ninth as a pinch hitter for Cooper and drew a pass. After Ryan struck out, Ferrell Anderson threw to Ed Stevens, picking Workman off first for a double play. Hopp grounded to second to end the game.

The only other Brave to reach base was Bama Rowell who was safe at first on Pee Wee Reese's error of his grounder opening the fifth. Phil Masi sacrificed him to second where he died.

The lean Louisiana native struck out two men in his bid for fame and only six balls were hit to the outfield.

Brooklyn climbed on Cooper for two runs in the third on four hits.

Two more runs clumped across in the fifth on a walk to Herman Reiser's single and Ed Stevens's double. In the sixth Rookie Catcher Anderson hit a home run to assure the Dodgers their sixth straight win.

Head had arm trouble while in service and there were reports he never would pitch again but the highthander showed them differently today. He is the youngster who used to be a lefthander but broke his left arm in an auto accident and turned around to become a top flight righthanded hurler. Box:

Gerry Priddy's Three Run Homer Features Overtime Battle

BOSTON, April 23 (AP)—The Washington Senators who had lost four games to the Red Sox so far this season, turned on the Bostonians today and dynamited a 2-2 game by making six runs in the eleventh inning for an 8-2 victory. The big blow was a three-run homer by Gerry Priddy.

BILL DIETRICH SCORES

CHICAGO, April 23—(AP)—Bill Dietrich, despectacled White Sox veteran, today gave the Detroit Tigers five safe hits and fashioned a 3-1 victory for Chicago over the world champions and Tiger Pitcher Al Benton.

Only once was Dietrich in trouble in the tight game before 6,166 fans in Comiskey park. That was in the fourth inning when Hank Greenberg doubled to left with two out and Dick Wakefield followed with a double to the same spot, robing Dietrich of a shutout. Box:

GETTEL BLANKS A'S

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Al Gettel earned his second decision of the season over the anemic Philadelphia Athletics today, 3-0, hurling a brilliant four-hit shutout for the New York Yankees before another surprisingly large weekday throng of 24,548 customers.

The 28-year-old righthander from Norfolk, Va., who traveled north from spring training with the "B" squad, earned a regular starting turn by scattering four singles over the route. Box:

Lee Sheppard, of Cleveland, Matched with Juan Carrero

Latter Is Stablemate of Rocky Graziano; Ira Hughes To Test ETO Light-Heavy Champion

Lee Sheppard, Negro lightweight star of Cleveland, Ohio, has been matched to fight Juan Carrero, 135-pound Puerto Rican, and stablemate of Rocky Graziano, New York's sensational knockout artist, in the ten-round feature match of the Cumberland Athletic Club's professional boxing show next Tuesday night at the state armory, it was announced yesterday by Matchmaker "Vic" Ricker.

Sheppard holds decisions over Sammy Angott, former NBA lightweight champion, Young Kid McCoy and a host of others and comes here highly recommended as being a topnotch club fighter and crowd pleaser.

Carrero is the lightweight who recently halted the 29-bout winning streak of Eddie Murphy, of New York, and a week ago lost a hairline decision to Ruby Kessler in the main event at the Broadway Arena in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Juan is managed by Chickie Bogard, who holds the contract of Rockabye Rocky Graziano, New York's latest fistic sensation, and a flock of other clouters.

Hughes To Face Peterson

In the eight-round semi-final of next Tuesday night's show, the second of the year for Promoter Leonard "Chick" Little, a pair of out-of-town 170-pounders will try conclusions when Ira Hughes, of Pittsburgh, collides with Warren Peterson, of New York, who is heralded as the ETO light-heavyweight champion.

Hughes has appeared in pro shows here in the past and today is meeting the topnotchers. He recently lost to Tony Zale, who is recognized as world's middleweight champion.

Peterson, a member of the Graziano stable, whipped Jimmy Smith and knocked out Oscar Goode in two fights since his discharge from the army. Before enlisting he decisioned Joe Carter, Larry Fontana, Van McNutt and other lightweight-heavies.

Matchmaker Ricker's original intention was to match Tony Rios, the Mexican lightweight, with Carrero, but the former disappeared after a match in Cincinnati, Ohio, and his manager has been unable to locate him.

"Sheppard should prove a capable substitute as he has met some of the best 135-pounders in the ring today and always gives the fans a run for their money," Ricker declared.

Plans 33-ound Card

Next week's card will be completed with the arranging of three preliminary bouts—a six, five and four rounder—making a total of thirty-three rounds.

Ricker hopes to complete the program within the next few days.

Phillippi and Stair Hit Homers; Waltman Stars in Relief Role

HYNDMAN, Pa., April 23—Hyndman high school came from behind to defeat Schellsburg-Napier high school today by the score of 14 to 4. The victory gave Coach McVicker's team a clean sweep of the series.

Trailing 4-3 going into the last half of the fifth, Hyndman moved ahead on successive circuit blasts by Phillippi and Stair and before the inning ended the locals had chased six runs over the platter. A five-run outburst concluded the scoring in the sixth.

Waltman, who came on to relieve Jack Shaffer in the fifth, received credit for the win. He finished up by blanking the visitors and firing the third strike past seven batters in three frames. Hyndman nicked Suter for 15 hits, eight going for extra bases. Phillippi was the "big gun" with a double and home run.

Hyndman will play Allegany high in a Tri-State Conference game in Cumberland on Friday. Box:

Sunday School Loop Will Be Revived

Four teams were represented at a meeting held last evening in Trinity church for the purpose of reviving the South Cumberland Sunday School Softball League, which was discontinued on account of the war.

Trinity Methodist, Living Stone Church of the Brethren, United Brethren and Second Baptist were represented and franchises will be held open for Grace Methodist, St. John's Lutheran, Calvary Evangelical and Emmanuel Methodist until the next meeting which will be held April 29 at 7:30 p. m. at Trinity church.

Rules used by the former league will prevail during the 1946 season.

Officers will be elected at the next session.

Cardinals Rally In Eighth Frame, Defeat Reds, 3-2

Nate Andrews Is Victim as St. Louis Sweeps Three-Game Series

CINCINNATI, April 23—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals spurted for two runs in the eighth inning today to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 and take the second successive game of a three-game series. Reportedly weak hitters, the Redlegs got both their runs by way of circuit clouts.

Nate Andrews, a hard luck pitcher, seemed to have the Cardinal attack solved until the eighth. Then, singles by Marty Marion, Del Rice and Lou Klein, an error by Rookie Second Baseman Bobby Adams and a long fly, put the Cardinals in the lead. Box:

CUBS WIN ON ERROR

PITTSBURGH, April 23—(AP)—Billy Cox, Rookie Pittsburgh shortstop, let a bounder go through him in the eighth inning today to break a 1-1 tie and help the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory before 8,224 fans.

Cox bobbled Tommy Livingston's infield tap with two men away, enabling Phil Cavarretta to tally from third.

LaSalle Beats Paw Paw; Fort Hill Tops Alumni

Explorers Bag Third Straight Win, 16 - 2; Judy Cops 3-Hitter for Sentinels, 10-2

LaSalle and Fort Hill registered baseball victories yesterday, the Explorers launching their Tri-State Interscholastic Conference campaign with a 16-2 triumph over the Paw Paw (W. Va.) high school Mountaineers at Community Park while the Sentinels took the measure of the Alumni to the tune of 10-2 on the Fort Hill diamond.

Coach George Geatz's swatsmiths pounded a trio of Paw Paw boxmen for twelve safeties, including Jack Steiner's third homer of the season with Close and Esposito aboard in the fourth, a triple and two-bagger by Johnny Esposito and two doubles by Deffenbaugh, while Pat "Lefty" Creegan was letting down the West Virginians with three safeties—all singles—in five innings, and struck out nine. Bob Wood pitched the sixth and final inning for LaSalle in the abbreviated contest, halted by darkness.

LaSalle players pilfered a total of fourteen bases in marking up their third straight win of the season.

Esposito was spiked in making a play at second base in the second inning but remained in the game.

Paul Judy yielded three hits and set down seven via the strikeout route in twirling Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's tossers to their second straight win of the season.

The Sentinels solved the offerings of Bill Stevenson and Derl Keller for an even dozen safeties, Richard Dick heading the assault with three blows in four trips while Irvin Mangus, "Bub" Frye and Judy connected for two safeties each. One of Mangus's hits was a two-bagger, the only extra base wallop in the game. The box scores:

Feed Your Dog as Many Famous Breeders Do

"111 vim, vigor, vitality"
Mr. and Mrs. Herman Auer, Jr., owners of Woodlawn Kennels, Austin, Minn., write: "We choose Kellogg's GRO-PUP for our Golden Retrievers because it helps supply the three V's—Vim, Vigor, and Vitality—which we found in a tested diet based on this fine food."
MOST breeders and veterinarians use and recommend a foundation diet of good dry dog food fed with scrap meat, including fat. So many feed Kellogg's GRO-PUP because it provides all the vitamins and minerals dogs are known to need for growth and vigor.
Kellogg's GRO-PUP is thrifty. Most dogs love its hearty, meaty flavor.
Get this scientifically formulated dog food in 3 forms: Ribbon, Meal, or Pel-etts —at your grocer's or pet shop. Made by KELLOGG'S of Battle Creek.

"111 vim, vigor, vitality"

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Auer, Jr., owners of Woodlawn Kennels, Austin, Minn., write: "We choose Kellogg's GRO-PUP for our Golden Retrievers because it helps supply the three V's—Vim, Vigor, and Vitality—which we found in a tested diet based on this fine food."

MOST breeders and veterinarians use and recommend a foundation diet of good dry dog food fed with scrap meat, including fat. So many feed Kellogg's GRO-PUP because it provides all the vitamins and minerals dogs are known to need for growth and vigor.

Kellogg's GRO-PUP is thrifty. Most dogs love its hearty, meaty flavor.

Get this scientifically formulated dog food in 3 forms: Ribbon, Meal, or Pel-etts—at your grocer's or pet shop. Made by KELLOGG'S of Battle Creek.

Bob Crosby Show On Radio Books Comedy Guests

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) — The Bob Crosby show, recently added to the CBS list, is making some changes with the 9:30 broadcast on CBS. They center in two items, one is that Jeri Sullivan becomes the regular singer. Another is that there will be comedy guests hereafter. This arrangement starts with Vera Vague.

Mary Margaret McBride will be in Louisville, Ky., for a 1 p. m., broadcast on NBC from the third annual conference of the Women's Action Committee. She is to interview Wilbur S. Forrest, first vice president of the American society of Newspaper Editors. Forrest is editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

For the second time in a month, Vermont is the state to be saluted in "This Is Your Country," MBS at 4:30. It is being done upon request. . . . While Tom Breneman is on vacation his 11 a. m. club on ABC is being run by Jack McElroy. . . . So You Want to Lead a Band, ABC conducted program by Sammy Kaye at 9:30 p. m. will originate from Hutchinson, Kan. . . . The Spikes Jones bunch has a late night dance spot on MBS. It's at 11:30.

Kay Kyser reports that he will turn classical for a part of his NBC hour of music and quiz at 10. There will be included two preludes by Rachmaninoff. . . . More in the way of the semi-classics at 10 in "Great Moments in Music" on CBS. The program of a half-hour is to contain excerpts from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," to be presented with regular members of the cast in the various singing roles.

Pro Safecracker

BALTIMORE, April 23 (AP)—Police investigated today what they described as the first professional safecracking job since prewar days. Burglars entered a flower shop, opened a large steel safe and stole $437 in cash. Detective Capt. Henry J. Kriss said there had been plenty of safe openings in the last five years, but that none of the others had been marked by such neatness and skill.

Receives Navy Award

FREDERICK, Md., April 23 (AP)—Osborne I. Price, Frederick, has been presented the naval ordnance development award for exceptional service by the Navy department's ordnance bureau. Price is president of Magnetic Devices Inc., a firm engaged during the war in secret work.

Pro Safecracker

BALTIMORE, April 23 (AP)—Police investigated today what they described as the first professional safecracking job since prewar days. Burglars entered a flower shop, opened a large steel safe and stole $437 in cash. Detective Capt. Henry J. Kriss said there had been plenty of safe openings in the last five years, but that none of the others had been marked by such neatness and skill.

Receives Navy Award

FREDERICK, Md., April 23 (AP)—Osborne I. Price, Frederick, has been presented the naval ordnance development award for exceptional service by the Navy department's ordnance bureau. Price is president of Magnetic Devices Inc., a firm engaged during the war in secret work.

Today's Pattern

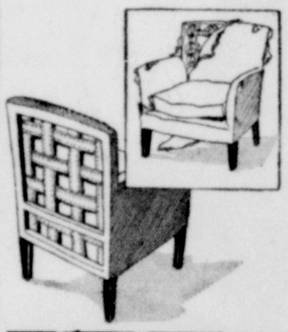
You'll be a sleeping beauty in pattern 9103; a scalloped nightgown with its own jacket. So easy to make, gown has only two main pattern parts! Makes a lovely gift.

Pattern 9103: 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Size 16, gown, thre and one-quarter yards thirty-nine inch; jacket one and one-quarter yards.

Send twenty-five cents in coins for this pattern to The Cumberland News 39, Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth street, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Fifteen cents more brings you the useful Marian Martin spring pattern book with a free pattern for smart "bag-on-a-belt" printed right inside the book. Brimful of chic, easy-to-make fashions.

Today's Needlecraft



Laura Wheeler

Shabby furniture has no place in your home! Repair, re-upholster and transform it. These directions make it easy, inexpensive.

Fun to restore worn furniture with a bit of bright, new fabric! Instructions 951 has directions for repairing and upholstering.

Send twenty cents in coins for this pattern to The Cumberland News, 39, Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly pattern number, your name, address and zone.

Fifteen cents more brings you our newest needlecraft catalog —the 1946 edition—112 illustrations of designs for crochet, knitting, quilts, embroidery, toys, handicraft—a free pattern for cuddle toys printed right in the catalog.

U. S. Has Chance To Build Better World, Lee Says

Senator's Wit and Philosophy Feature Anniversary of Rotary Club

"Americans, coming out of a war in which most of the world was shot to pieces face a golden opportunity of building a better and more beautiful world," former Sen. Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, told those participating in Cumberland Rotary Club's twenty-fifth anniversary and ladies' night celebration, last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Lee, now a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, spoke briefly on the future of aviation and the possibilities of getting airline passenger and mail service in Cumberland. He praised the efforts of Rep. J. Glenn Beall and Rep. Jennings Randolph toward this end, and stated, "You have two fine and able men, who are quite nice about it, but never miss an opportunity to remind us that you need, want and have facilities here, for airline service."

Using as his theme the importance of work and dynamic ambition, Sen. Lee said the opportunities for accomplishment and success are as great today as ever before. He referred to the progress made during the war and in recent prewar and postwar years by science in the fields of aviation, plastics, energy and other endeavors. "Proper use and application of all the marvelous discoveries," he declared, "will assure a better and more beautiful world."

Inserts Humor

Considered one of the most able after dinner speakers ever heard here, Senator Lee weaves into his talks much humor, considerable philosophy and enough fact to permit his listeners to know that he knows what he is talking about. Some of his stories and quips were so witty and funny, that his audience left the dinner meeting after it was over, still chuckling and laughing at some of his expressions.

This was the senator's second visit here, and he enjoyed making a few witty remarks about Cumberland's hills, "where you have to back up to see the sun," while out in Oklahoma, "the horizon is so far away it just fades from view."

The senator said his office has over a thousand applications and "we keep whittling away at them every day, but the pile gets bigger instead of smaller." Air service is a coming thing, he suggested, and people in this section can rest assured that Cumberland has a better than average chance of getting complete and adequate air service soon. He said "folks up this way have been most patient with us, and we have not forgotten Cumberland in our program."

Sen. Lee was presented by Charles S. Catherman, toastmaster. Catherman was introduced by Garland L. Johnston, president of Rotary, after the Rev. David C. Watson offered the invocation.

Recounts Club's History

In his introductory remarks, marking the occasion, Catherman recounted briefly the history of the Rotary club during the past twenty-five years. Among the club's accomplishments, he listed work to organize the Boy Scout movement here; promotion and organization of the Cumberland Community Chest; considerable assistance in building Central YMCA; education of thirty-six young people, through the club's college education fund.

Catherman said Rotary started

Rail Brotherhoods To Consider Strike

Cleveland, April 23 (AP)—Railroad trainmen and engineers will decide in a closed meeting beginning tomorrow whether the nation's rail transportation system will continue in operation after May 18 or be tied by a strike.

President A. F. Whitney of the trainmen and Alvanley Johnston, grand chief engineer of the locomotive engineer, made no comment in advance of the meeting.

Trainmen and engineers sought a $2.50 daily wage increase and 45 working rules changes.

Observers noted that the Brotherhood's principal demands for working rule changes were not among those recommended, and listed part of these as:

A 10-cent hourly differential in pay for night work.

Time and one-half overtime pay for Saturday and Sunday work.

Limitation on train lengths to 70 cars and 3,000 feet for freight trains and 14 passengers cars and 1,400 feet for passenger trains.

In addition, the board granted no benefits to dining car stewards, and this was regarded as one of the issues of greatest contention, one observer said.

Nutrition Unit Personnel Will Arrive Tomorrow

Federal nutritionists of the United States Public Health Service will arrive here early tomorrow morning to make arrangements for seting up a nutrition demonstration unit in Allegany county, Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer, announced yesterday.

Dr. John W. Smillie, assistant surgeon and acting officer in charge of the personnel of the unit, notified Dr. Franklin by letter that he will be accompanied here by a nurse and a nutritionist to set up the unit. A staff chemist will arrive later.

The personnel of the unit are coming here from Albany, Ga., where they have been conducting a similar nutrition demonstration program.

Arrangements for the unit to be set up in Allegany county were made by Dr. Harold R. Sandstead, chief of nutrition in the state relations division of the United States Public Health Service, who come here with four nutritionists from Washington for a conefrence with local health and school officials March 5.

At that time, Dr. Sandstead explained that the purpose of the units, for which funds were appropriated by Congress last year, is to make a survey of different economic groups and to discover any nutritional defects which may exist. The personnel of the unit to be set up here may also arrange for an educational program in the county regarding standards of nutrition which should be maintained, Dr. Sandstead said.

Present plans call for the unit to remain in this vicinity for two or three years, surveying not only Allegany county but adjacent sections of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Final arrangements for the location of headquarters of the unit have not been completed, Dr. Franklin said.

Four Boy Scouts Pass Tests before Council Board of Review

A Boy Scout board of review was conducted last night at scout headquarters by Edgar T. Duke, chairman of the advancement committee of Potomac council. Three boys were advanced to the grade of second class scouts and one other earned three merit badges.

Kenneth O. Owens, Melvin Brant and Ernest Kessell, of Boy Scout Troop No. 2, sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, passed second class scout tests. Charles Hansrote, of Troop No. 19, sponsored by St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed church, earned three merit badges in metal work, woodwork and personal health.

A Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held next Tuesday night, when awards will be presented, but the definite time and place have not been announced.

TWUA Group Endorses Veterans' Bonus Plan

The veterans' committee of Celanese Local No. 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, went on record at a recent meeting as backing a resolution of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, urging a state bonus for ex-servicemen of the present war.

that the state bonus, housing and chairman of the committee at the meeting, which was held last Friday in Textile Workers hall, said that the state bonus, housing and price control were discussed at the meeting.

Commander William B. Orndorff and C. William Spangler, vice commander of the Amvets post, also attended the meeting.

The resolution calls for a bonus for all honorably discharged Maryland servicemen of World War II with ninety or more days' service between September, 1940, and September, 1945, plus additional benefits for overseas veterans and disabled veterans.

Mease urged all veterans to sign a petition for the resolution, in the housing office on the second floor at city hall.

District 16 Firemen Called to North Branch

District 16 Volunteer Fire Company, Oldtown road, was called to the old C. and O. canal lock at North Branch at 12:30 a. m. and extinguished a blaze in the lock.

Firemen said the blaze might have been caused by a spreading brush fire. They said flames shot 200 feet into the air. Damage was light.

At 9:30 a. m. yesterday, the District 16 company was called to extinguish a brush fire on Collier mountain. The fire burned from eight to nine acres. Firemen were out two hours fighting the flames.

State Police Wage Drive To Enforce Motor Laws

State police are making a drive here to enforce motor laws and regulations, and docket entries in trial magistrates court yesterday indicate a number of arrests have been made.

Arrested following a headon collision on Braddock road, John L. Kelly, 67 Mt. Pleasant street, Frostburg, and Wayne W. Miller, 656 Fayette street, were each fined $5.75, Kelly on a charge of operating without a license and Miller on reckless driving. Kelly received a suspended fine of $5.75 on a reckless driving charge.

Richard Lee Bible and Charles Thomas Morgan, both of Flintstone, forfeited $11.45 bonds each for driving without a license on Route 40 yesterday, and Carl Edward Whorton, also of Flintstone, forfeited $11.45 collateral for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle.

All five motorists were arrested by Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt, of the State Police.

John Cameron Gunter, of 10 Church street, Lonaconing, paid $10.75 for speeding Sunday on Route 40, one and a half miles east of this city, and Earl Ernest Poorbaugh, of Route 1, Cumberland, was fined $10.75 on the same charge.

George W. Holler, of Washington street, Hyndman, Pa., forfeited $6.45 bond for driving on a permit without being accompanied by licensed driver, while Ernest C. Killingsworth, of Route 3, this city, received a suspended fine for driving without a license at Bowman's Addition yesterday. Holler was apprehended on Route 40 Monday.

Trooper Ira G. Unger made the four arrests.

Raymond E. Shircliff, of 112 Virginia avenue, also was given a suspended fine for speeding on Route 40 at Nave's Crossroads Saturday. Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., who presided at the hearing, said the discharged Army veteran is unemployed. State Trooper Harry Holsinger prefered the charge.

Another motorist, Lewis L. Barley, 928 Gay street, was fined $1.75 for using improper license plates. He was arrested Sunday morning on Maryland avenue by Detective Thomas J. See and Officer J. W. Brown.

In Police Court, James R. Shoemaker, 308 Park street, forfeited $5 bond on a careless driving charge preferred by Officer J. Carl Stouffer.

ESTABLISH PERFECT RECORD—When the Cumberland Rotary Club held its twenty-fifth anniversary and ladies' night dinner at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night, three members received reward emblems for perfect long-time records of attendance. Two of the club's charter members were presented emblems for perfect attendance records of twenty-five years, while a third member received an award for twenty years' perfect attendance. Shown left to right are Charles S. Catherman, toastmaster, and president of the club twenty years ago, after presenting the awards to Thomas E. Gilchrist, twenty-five years; John D. Liebau, twenty years; and Virgil C. Powell, twenty-five years.

Five Unmounted Diamonds Found Untouched when Auto Is Recovered

Car Thieves Take $25 in Bills, Overlook Valuable Gems

One thing is sure—the thief who stole the car of Samuel P. Miller, Springfield, W. Va., Monday evening and abandoned the vehicle near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ice house after taking $25 in currency from a pocketbook in the glove compartment, was either not very observant or was in a mighty big hurry.

For, police reported yesterday afternoon, five unmounted diamonds valued at from $500 to $1,000, stored in the purse along with papers and photographs, were found untouched in the glove receptacle when the car was recovered by police yesterday.

Deck Sgt. L. E. Meister said a call was received from the B. and O. YMCA yesterday at 8:25 a. m. concerning a strange car parked near the ice house. Police added that Officer P. C. Jenkins was sent to the scene and discovered the car to be the one stolen from South Mechanic street Monday evening.

Diamonds Are Found

The money, two $10 bills and a $5 bill, in old style paper money, had been taken from the pocketbook before it was replaced. Police said the five diamonds, still wrapped in tissue paper, were found among the papers.

Police said last evening the car was evidently stolen by youths who wished to do some joy riding since Officer James W. Brown saw the car being driven down Virginia avenue Monday at 11:20 p. m. The vehicle sped away after the driver saw the officer, police said.

Authorities added they believed the thieves abandoned the car soon after, since a thorough search of the city that evening failed to disclose the presence of the car.

Robberies Reported

Police reported no developments in the breaking and entering of the Savoy pool room, 170 Baltimore street, between 11:30 p. m. Sunday and 6:30 a. m. Monday. Several pinball machines were wrecked and an undetermined amount of change taken from the cash register.

The culprit gained entrance by forcing a side window, officers said.

Vernice Stump, 210 Maryland avenue, told police early yesterday morning that someone stole her case, coat and a brown pin, valued at $40, from the Blue Ridge bus station between 11:30 Monday and 2:10 a. m. yesterday. The woman said she placed her belongings on the floor at the place after arriving here from Petersburg, W. Va., and then went downtown.

Police are also investigating the recent theft of a bed of tulips belonging to Conrad Felton, of 705 Bedford street.

Police said the 1935 Ford coach of Vincent J. Metzger, 626 Fairview avenue, stolen from Fairview avenue yesterday at 2:15 a. m. was returned to the home early yesterday morning.

Slow Valve Shipment Delays Filling of Hole On Decatur Street

A large hole, dug on Decatur street several months ago when the city water department installed a new connecting line, has not been filled because a shipment of three twenty-four-inch valves and one thirty-six-inch valve has been delayed, Andrew G. Bender, water superintendent, said yesterday.

The shipment was ordered last November and the valves are expected to arrive here within a few days, Bender said. The delay was caused by a strike at the valve company plant.

The hole has been blocked off to avoid accidents, he added.

Area Men To Attend Bank Conference

Two men of the Cumberland area are planning to attend the eleventh annual regional conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers, which will open today at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in Atlantic City, N. J.

They are Thomas L. Keech, treasurer of the Liberty Trust Company, and William B. Yates, secretary-treasurer of the Fidelity Savings bank of Frostburg.

The conference will end Saturday afternoon. A feature of the meeting will be a banquet Friday evening, with Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore as guest speaker.

Vestry Elected By Emmanuel Episcopal Church

The congregation of Emmanuel Episcopal church met in the Parish hall Monday evening to hear reports from the various organizations and to elect a vestry to serve until next Easter Monday. The procedure in electing a vestry, according to state law, is first to vote four men off the existing vestry and then to elect four men to fill the vacancies thus created.

Cyril M. Croft, Dr. H. R. Williams, William L. Wilson, Sr., and George G. Young were voted off in the first election and James A. Avirett, George R. Henderson, Robert J. Sheckells and William L. Wilson, Jr., were elected to replace them. These last four men together with Dudley M. Browne, J. M. Pitkethly, Frederick Walton and Grant A. Wiebel, who were retained will constitute the vestry for the coming year.

The Rev. David C. Watson, rector, presided at the meeting and made his annual address. Cyril M. Croft acted as secretary.

A similar meeting was held at Saint Philip's Chapel last evening, with the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, vicar, presiding, and Lafayette A. Robinson acting as secretary.

The governing body of an Episcopal chapel is known as the advisory board and appointments to it are made by the bishop of the diocese.

The appointments, which were announced last night, are as follows —Charles L. Denson, treasurer, Lafayette A. Robinson, secretary, Johnson S. Denson, senior warden and Oscar L. Martin, junior warden.

Sixty To Attend School Conference

School superintendents from all over the state and members of the state department of education are expected to start arriving in Cumberland this afternoon for a two-day session of superintendents scheduled to start tomorrow morning.

The guests will be registered at Algonquin and Fort Cumberland hotels, and over sixty are expected. As of yesterday, the superintendents of all the counties are expected today with the exception of two.

Superintendent Charles L. Kopp was informed yesterday that Miss Letty M. Dant, St. Mary's county superintendent, will be unable to attend due to illness. The Charles county superintendent had informed Kopp earlier that he would be unable to attend the sessions.

The meetings this year will take up the matter of school cafeterias and pupil transportation. In connection with the discussion of cafeterias, Kopp and his staff have arranged for the guests to make a county tour of cafeterias in county schools. Pupil transportation will be taken up by the superintendents on Friday morning.

Meanwhile, preparations were completed yesterday in the administration building on Washington street for the two-day session. Members of the staff have prepared a number of large charts to be used for illustrative purposes in connection with the subjects to be discussed.

Three Suspects Are Freed In Oldtown Road Theft

Three gypsies suspected in the theft last Thursday of $350 from Howard J. Baker, 77, Oldtown road, were picked up yesterday by city police but were later absolved of any connection with the case.

Last week three gypsies went to Baker's home and said they could cure his granddaughter of an affliction with a charm. They told the elderly man to wrap $350.10 in a package and not to open it for three days. They returned what appeared to be the same package to him saying they would retain ten cents. Later it was determined that Baker had been robbed.

Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt and Trooper G. M. Rotruck investigated the case and yesterday morning they took the gypsies to Baker's home but they were not the ones involved. Officer Curtis M. Kime took the suspects into custody.

Judges Will Give Traffic Fatality Verdicts Today

Cases Are Completed against Harley McDonald and Edward Shook

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper announced yesterday that they will give verdicts this morning in the manslaughter cases just completed against Harley Glenn McDonald, 33, Route 1, Ridgeley, and Edward A. Shook, 41, Rawlings.

Final arguments in the McDonald case were completed yesterday morning after which the court sat to hear the case of Shook, who entered a plea of not guilty and elected to be tried by the judges. Shook was indicted in the death of Martin C. Duncan, 50, Harrison street, a Celanese employe, who was struck by Shook's automobile last January 5 while walking along the McMullen highway near the plant. Duncan received a fractured skull and other injuries which resulted in his death January 16 in a local hospital.

State Trooper Glen D. Folk testified that Shook was operating the car and that he stopped the machine, then extinguished the lights and drove away without identifying himself. The car was wrecked about a mile from the scene of the mishap, the officer said, and Shook was hiding near the wrecked machine but was discovered when he lighted a cigaret.

Foggy Night

Shook testified yesterday that the night of the accident is was foggy and stated that he did not see the pedestrian until he was twenty-five or thirty feet away from him. He said the man walking along the road staggered and that he pulled his car over to the right but ran into him.

The witness said he stopped, got out of his car and examined the victim. When he got 'no response" he said "something came over me" and he got back in his car and drove off. Later, he said, he decided to turn around and go back and ran against a culvert.

Shook denied certain statements he allegedly made in the state's attorney's office following the acci-

Local News in Brief

The Rev. Charles M. LeFew, pastor of Washington Square Methodist church, Hagerstown, and former pastor of Grace Methodist church, this city, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Lions club at 12:15 p. m. today in Central YMCA.

Cumberland Council of the Navy League of the United States will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in city hall auditorium. James E. Niland, president, said the council charter probably will be closed at the meeting. Club rooms for the council may be considered.

A wiener roast will be held at Constitution park today at 7:30 p. m. for the Enthusiasts, young people's group of the Salvation Army, according to Adjt. Robert S. Ball. Broddus McDonald is in charge of arrangements. Group singing, led by Adjt. Ball, and a games period will feature the entertainment.

Members of the municipal airport commission will hold their monthly meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt, of the LaVale sub-station, Maryland State Police, who was admitted to Allegany hospital early last evening, was reported "resting comfortably" at 10 o'clock.

The condition of William Kahner, 16, New Castle, Pa., who was kicked in the face by "Sage King" as he was helping load the horse after a performance of the "National Barn Dance" here Monday, was reported "better" in Allegany hospital last evening. Attaches said an examination may be made today to determine the extent of injury to his eye.

Hearings on applications for liquor licenses will be held Monday at 9:15 a. m. in circuit court, it has been announced. Applicants must appear in court at that time, court attaches said yesterday.

Dr. L. J. Lanich, who has been a patient in Memorial hospital since April 4 was able to return to his home, 108 Virginia avenue, yesterday.

Police Chief Declines To Make Comment on Flurshutz Theft Case

A city police officer who asked that his name be withheld indicated last evening that about $3,500 in currency was stolen from the the H.U.F. Flurshutz and Son furniture store, 15 North Centre street, over a week ago.

The informant added the money was taken from a metal box stored in the rear of a safe located in the back of the store after the place was broken into between 10 p. m. April 20 and 2 a. m. April 21.

The store was entered, he explained, after the thieves broke open a shutter and raised an unlocked window opening on Oliver's alley in the rear of the store. The theft was reported to police immediately, he added.

Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, when asked by a News reporter to comment on the case declared "I am not going to give a thing out."

Arthur H. Flurshutz, affiliated with the store, was quoted yesterday as admitting the robbery had been reported to the police department. He declined comment last evening except to say that the amount suggested was greatly exaggerated, since such an amount would not have been kept in the store.

Several members of the department were questioned concerning the robbery but referred reporters to Chief Eyeman. The police chief referred reporters to several officials of the detective bureau and the state's attorney's office.

One police officer said a number of bonds valued at several thousands of dollars were left scattered on the floor by the thieves.

Orthopedic Clinic Will Open Friday

An orthopedic clinic will be held in Oakland tomorrow and in Cumberland Friday and Saturday, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Dr. George Eaton, who was discharged several months ago after serving in the South Pacific theater in charge of a general hospital unit sponsored by Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, will conduct the Garrett county clinic at the health office in Oakland tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

The local clinic will be held at league headquarters, City Hall plaza, Friday from 9 a. m. until 3:30 p. m., and Saturday from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Approximately 250 appointments have been made for the two days of the local clinic, which will be conducted by Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore, noted orthopedic surgeon; Dr. Eaton, and Dr. David Weinberg, a native of Lonaconing.

Mrs. Annan said that she will be unable to be here for the clinic, since she is leaving today for Baltimore for further treatment of injuries suffered on an automobile trip to Florida in February.

Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president of the league, will head a corps of volunteer workers who will act as assistants during the clinic here. They are Mrs. Albert Carlson, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Mrs. Fred Steiding, Mrs. Arthur Jones and Mrs. Donald Brown.

Rossell Secures Permit To Remodel Garage; Occupancy Permit Denied

Spencer G. Rossell, 435 Williams street, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to remodel a garage at the rear of his home into an apartment, at an estimated cost of $1,200.

The one-story building measures 18 by 22 feet and has a concrete foundation, brick walls and an asphalt roof. Remodeling work will be done by the owner.

Paul J. Stein, 454 Walnut street, filed an appeal to the board of zoning appeals after his application for an occupancy permit to use a two-story building at the rear of his home as a four-car garage and furnace room on the first floor, and two apartments on the second floor, was denied by the city engineer.

The building is located in a Residential B zoning district, and the zoning code limits garages to three-car capacity in such districts, the engineer explained.

Keyser Mill Workers Receive Wage Boost

A ten-cent per hour wage increase for the approximately 100 employes of the Potomac Worsted Spinning Mill, Keyser, W. Va., has been agreed upon by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, Joseph J. Barley, business manager of the union, reported yesterday.

Charles G. Proulx, manager of the plant, said the increase will become effective next Monday and added that the minimum wage scale at the plant has been set at sixty-five cents an hour. Some changes in the incentive bonus plan have been made at the plant.

Postmaster Urges Use Of Postal Notes

Urging Cumberland residents to make use of postal notes when sending money by mail, James C. Shriver, postmaster, pointed out yesterday that postal notes offer a simplified method of sending sums of money not exceeding $10, and take much less time to secure than money orders.

Purchasers do not have to fill out an application, and a flat-rate fee of five cents is charged for each note covering amounts from one cent to $10. As many notes can be bought at one time as desired, but none may be for amounts exceeding $10.

Two Death March Survivors Reunited

Two survivors of the Bataan death march were reunited last night when Sgt. Leon Beck, Tulsa, Okla., arrived in Cumberland with his wife, Mrs. Veneranda Luna Beck, to visit Cpl. Blair Robinett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Robinett, 207 Offutt street.

Interviewed at a local hotel, Sgt. Beck said that he and his wife, whose home is in Guagna on Luzon, will spend several days here visiting Cpl. Robinett and the latter's wife, Mrs. Jesusita Cordero Robinett, before returning to Tulsa. The Robinetts will drive down to Oklahoma for a short visit with them.

Sgt. Beck escaped from the Japanese on the thirteenth day of the death march, while Cpl. Robinett escaped on the tenth day. They fought with Filipino guerrillas against the Japanese, and their wives were also guerrilla fighters.

Before his capture, Sgt. Beck served with the Thirty-first infantry, the only regiment of American infantry in the Philippines. Cpl. Robinette served with the engineers and rose to the rank of major in the Filipino guerrilla forces.

Both Sgt. Beck, who re-enlisted in the army in January, and Cpl. Robinett plan to return to the Philippines with their wives as soon as transportation can be secured.

Sgt, and Mrs. Beck have a 9-month-old daughter, Vyvian Leonda.

Joint Report Lists $2,075.90 Spent By Post Ticket

According to a statement of expenditures filed yesterday, Mayor Thomas S. Post and his running mates in the city primary and municipal election campaigns last month spent a total of $2,075.90.

Although the city election was staged more than a month ago, a number of candidates have not filed reports within the 30-day period specified by state law. Frank J. Davis, defeated by post in the mayoralty race; William V. Keegan, William J. Edwards and Clifton E. Fuller, elected to the city council, are among those who have failed to file reports.

All Bills Paid

George E. Davis, treasurer for the Post ticket, listed $2,075.90 in contributions from "the candidates and friends," showing all bills paid. On the ticket with Mayor Post were Myers G. Light, who was elected; and H. Frank Hinze and John E. Sharp, who were nominated in the March 5 primary but were nosed out in the March 19 election.

Expenses included $234 for radio time; $278.40 for newspaper advertisements; $252 for printing cards and posters, and $1,311.50 for workers, automobiles and drivers.

Helfrich Spent $213.70

Hunter B. Helfrich, former councilman, who was eliminated in the mayoralty race, reported expenditures amounting to $213.70 in the primary campaign. He listed $137.70 to the Times and Alleganian Company for newspaper advertising; $26 to the Commerical Press for cards and posters, and $50 for workers.

Joseph R. Manthely, eliminated in the council race, spent $88.90 in the primary campaign. He listed $15 to workers and $73.90 for advertising.

As required by state law, Associate Judge Walter C. Capper, who is a Republican candidate for the court post, filed a statement designating Peter E. Berry, 311 Washington street, as his political agent in the campaign.

Woman Who Took Poison Declines To Answer Questions and Is Jailed

A 23-year-old Corriganville woman was borne to the county jail yesterday by two state policemen after she created a disturbance in the court house.

The woman, Mrs. Nina Louise Witt was treated at Memorial hospital Tuesday night after she had taken a number of poisonous pills, according to state police. Doctors used a stomach pump and after the treatment she was taken to the ciy jail for questioning later by the state's attorney's office.

Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt and Trooper Harold Basore went to the home Tuesday night and took her to the hospital. Yesterday morning she refused to answer questions when queried by County Investigator T. J. Boyle.

She then said that she would not go to the county jail and the troopers were forced to pick her up and carry her there. Sgt. Hignutt said the woman's husband was discharged from the service last December and that the couple had been having domestic trouble. They are the parents of two children, police stated.

Branhan Will Be Taken To New York Today

Raymond G. Branham, 19, Chicago, who pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in circuit court Saturday and was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail for the offense, will be taken to New York city today by Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshall.

The Chicago man will be turned over to a United States marshall from the southern district. Loughrie said the youth faces a charge in Dallas, Texas, of impersonating a federal officer and is wanted in New York for violating a probation sentence.

Two Births Reported In Local Hospitals

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kienhofer, Ridgeley, W. Va., announce the birth of a daughter in Allegany hospital yesterday morning.

A son, Thomas Joseph, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph McNamara, 58 St. Rose street, Jamaica Plain, Mass., in Naval hospital, Chelsea, Mass. Mrs. McNamara is the former Miss Patricia Ryan, this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shuck, 416 Columbia street, announce the birth of a daughter in Allegany hospital yesterday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock.

Speaker Says Co-operation of Farmers and Businessmen Is Necessary

A total of 140 guests, eighty farmers and sixty business men, last night attended a dinner meeting sponsored by the committee on agriculture of the chamber of commerce at the LaVale fire station and auditorium where John E. Clark, chairman of the agricultural committee of the House of Delegates and field representative of the state fair board, was the principal speaker.

The meeting, the first of its type held in Allegany county, stressed the importance of cooperation and mutual understanding on the part of farmers and businessmen. The affair was an outgrowth of last year's conservation forum and was arranged under the direction of Robert E. Laramy and William W. Nace, chairman of the chamber committee and soil conservationist here.

Clark, who has been active in Harford county affairs for many years, urged the members of his audiences to practice sound conservation practices and showed pictures of erosion in his home county.

Matter of Concern

Urban dwellers have a real interest in the open country adjacent to their cities, Clark believes, and declared that the condition of water supplies and the filling in of harbors with good top soil should be a matter of concern to residents of Baltimore as well as the farmers who are losing tons of precious top soil every year.

"It took Hugh Bennett, noted conservationist, twenty-five years to get the ear of the public," Clark said. "Now we have reached the stage where we must decide whether people who own a natural resource have a right to abuse it."

Clark said he had made a tour of Garrett county while in this end of the state and said he had noted considerable devastation to timber land in that area. At this point he stated that the much discussed Forestry Conservancy District Act had been put into practice in Harford county and is working out satisfactorily. The speaker said there were only two things to remember in connection with the act and they are that a saw mill operator can not destroy a farmer's timber and must leave growth for future yields and no person can willfully set a fire endangering forest land.

Presents Conservation Awards

Toastmaster Tasker G. Lowndes introduced County Agent R. F. McHenry who presented the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company awards for sound conservation practices to three Allegany county young farmers, Robert Heavener, Denver Harvey and Stanley Weimer. A fourth award was presented to Royce Johnson for his work in connection with safety measures on the farm.

The Firestone award is given annually to six young farmers in the state and Allegany county has had three of the six state winners for two consecutive years. The prizes are $50 war bonds.

Credit was given to Assistant County Agent Joseph Steger and Robert Laramy and Robert Gordon, soil conservationists, for their work in connection with the contest.

Board Approves Move for Trophy Of World War II

The board of county commissioners yesterday approved a proposal of Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson, Jr., that the county obtain a trophy of World War II to supplant the German field artillery piece which was removed during the war and given to the metal scrap drive.

A resolution passed by the board proposed that the clerk write to Rep. J. Glenn. Beall requesting him to find a suitable trophy of World War II for a memorial.

J. Milton Patterson, director of the state welfare department, and W. Donald Smith, a member of the Allegany county Welfare Board, asked that support be given to the Forand bill, now pending in Congress, to obtain more federal funds for general public assistance.

The commissioners agreed to contact Rep. Beall and urge him to work for passage of the measure. The bill would provide that the government would pay fifty per cent of the costs with the county and state each paying twenty-five per cent.

Blair Welsh and Wilbur Klinger complained to the board that Grant drive in LaVale is "being ruined" by trucks operated by a development firm building new houses near their homes. They asked that the board make repairs, but were advised that the county does not own the road and has no jurisdiction. It may be necessary for the property owners to take court action, the commissioners said.

Easter Seal Donations Will Be Accepted Until April 30

Contributions to the Easter seal drive will be accepted and credited to the drive until April 30, although the campaign ended last Saturday, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Annan reported that thirty-three and one-half per cent of the 20,606 letters mailed to county residents during the drive have been returned with cash contributions. Approximately two-thirds of those solicited have failed to respond either with donations or by returning the sheets of Easter seals contained in the letters, she added.

The county quota for this year's campaign is $10,000. Funds are used to promote the work of the league.

U. S. Has Chance To Build Better World, Lee Says

Senator's Wit and Philosophy Feature Anniversary of Rotary Club

"Americans, coming out of a war in which most of the world was shot to pieces face a golden opportunity of building a better and more beautiful world," former Sen. Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, told those participating in Cumberland Rotary Club's twenty-fifth anniversary and ladies' night celebration, last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Lee, now a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, spoke briefly on the future of aviation and the possibilities of getting airline passenger and mail service in Cumberland. He praised the efforts of Rep. J. Glenn Beall and Rep. Jennings Randolph toward this end, and stated, "You have two fine and able men, who are quite nice about it, but never miss an opportunity to remind us that you need, want and have facilities here, for airline service."

Using as his theme the importance of work and dynamic ambition, Sen. Lee said the opportunities for accomplishment and success are as great today as ever before. He referred to the progress made during the war and in recent prewar and postwar years by science in the fields of aviation, plastics, energy and other endeavors. "Proper use and application of all the marvelous discoveries," he declared, "will assure a better and more beautiful world."

Inserts Humor

Considered one of the most able after dinner speakers ever heard here, Senator Lee weaves into his talks much humor, considerable philosophy and enough fact to permit his listeners to know that he knows what he is talking about. Some of his stories and quips were so witty and funny, that his audience left the dinner meeting after it was over, still chuckling and laughing at some of his expressions.

This was the senator's second visit here, and he enjoyed making a few witty remarks about Cumberland's hills, "where you have to back up to see the sun," while out in Oklahoma, "the horizon is so far away it just fades from view."

After the program he was interviewed by a News reporter regarding the possibility of air service here by a national air line.

The senator said his office has over a thousand applications and "we keep whittling away at them every day, but the pile gets bigger instead of smaller." Air service is a coming thing, he suggested, and people in this section can rest assured that Cumberland has a better than average chance of getting complete and adequate air service soon. He said "folks up this way have been most patient with us, and we have not forgotten Cumberland in our program."

Sen. Lee was presented by Charles S. Catherman, toastmaster. Catherman was introduced by Garland L. Johnston, president of Rotary, after the Rev. David C. Watson offered the invocation.

Recounts Club's History

In his introductory remarks, marking the occasion, Catherman recounted briefly the history of the Rotary club during the past twenty-five years. Among the club's accomplishments, he listed work to organize the Boy Scout movement here; promotion and organization of the Cumberland Community Chest; considerable assistance in building Central YMCA; education of thirty-six young people, through the club's college education fund.

Catherman said Rotary started

State Police Wage Drive To Enforce Motor Laws

State police are making a drive here to enforce motor laws and regulations, and docket entries in trial magistrates court yesterday indicate a number of arrests have been made.

Arrested following a headon collision on Braddock road, John L. Kelly, 67 Mt. Pleasant street, Frostburg, and Wayne W. Miller, 656 Fayette street, were each fined $5.75, Kelly on a charge of operating without a license and Miller on reckless driving. Kelly received a suspended fine of $5.75 on a reckless driving charge.

Richard Lee Bible and Charles Thomas Morgan, both of Flintstone, forfeited $11.45 bonds each for driving without a license on Route 40 yesterday, and Carl Edward Whorton, also of Flintstone, forfeited $11.45 collateral for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle.

All five motorists were arrested by Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt, of the State Police.

John Cameron Gunter, of 10 Church street, Lonaconing, paid $10.75 for speeding Sunday on Route 40, one and a half miles east of this city, and Earl Ernest Poorbaugh, of Route 1, Cumberland, was fined $10.75 on the same charge.

George W. Holler, of Washington street, Hyndman, Pa., forfeited $6.45 bond for driving on a permit without being accompanied by licensed driver, while Ernest C. Killingsworth, of Route 3, this city, received a suspended fine for driving without a license at Bowman's Addition yesterday. Holler was apprehended on Route 40 Monday.

Trooper Ira G. Unger made the four arrests.

Raymond E. Shircliff, of 112 Virginia avenue, also was given a suspended fine for speeding on Route 40 at Nave's Crossroads Saturday. Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., who presided at the hearing, said the discharged Army veteran is unemployed. State Trooper Harry Holsinger prefered the charge.

Another motorist, Lewis L. Barley, 928 Gay street, was fined $1.75 for using improper license plates. He was arrested Sunday morning on Maryland avenue by Detective Thomas J. See and Officer J. W. Brown.

In Police Court, James R. Shoemaker, 308 Park street, forfeited $5 bond on a careless driving charge preferred by Officer J. Carl Stouffer.

Rail Brotherhoods To Consider Strike

Cleveland, April 23 (AP)—Railroad trainmen and engineers will decide in a closed meeting beginning tomorrow whether the nation's rail transportation system will continue in operation after May 18 or be tied by a strike.

President A. F. Whitney of the trainmen and Alvanley Johnston, grand chief engineer of the locomotive engineer, made no comment in advance of the meeting.

Trainmen and engineers sought a $2.50 daily wage increase and 45 working rules changes.

Observers noted that the Brotherhood's principal demands for working rule changes were not among those recommended, and listed part of these as:

A 10-cent hourly differential in pay for night work.

Sick leave, based on length of service.

Time and one-half overtime pay for Saturday and Sunday work.

Limitation on train lengths to 70 cars and 3,000 feet for freight trains and 14 passengers cars and 1,400 feet for passenger trains.

In addition, the board granted no benefits to dining car stewards, and this was regarded as one of the issues of greatest contention, one observer said.

Nutrition Unit Personnel Will Arrive Tomorrow

Federal nutritionists of the United States Public Health Service will arrive here early tomorrow morning to make arrangements for seting up a nutrition demonstration unit in Allegany county, Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer, announced yesterday.

Dr. John W. Smillie, assistant surgeon and acting officer in charge of the personnel of the unit, notified Dr. Franklin by letter that he will be accompanied here by a nurse and a nutritionist to set up the unit. A staff chemist will arrive later.

The personnel of the unit are coming here from Albany, Ga., where they have been conducting a similar nutrition demonstration program.

Arrangements for the unit to be set up in Allegany county were made by Dr. Harold R. Sandstead, chief of nutrition in the state relations division of the United States Public Health Service, who come here with four nutritionists from Washington for a conefrence with local health and school officials March 5.

At that time, Dr. Sandstead explained that the purpose of the units, for which funds were appropriated by Congress last year, is to make a survey of different economic groups and to discover any nutritional defects which may exist. The personnel of the unit to be set up here may also arrange for an educational program in the county regarding standards of nutrition which should be maintained, Dr. Sandstead said.

Present plans call for the unit to remain in this vicinity for two or three years, surveying not only Allegany county but adjacent sections of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Final arrangements for the location of headquarters of the unit have not been completed, Dr. Franklin said.

Four Boy Scouts Pass Tests before Council Board of Review

A Boy Scout board of review was conducted last night at scout headquarters by Edgar T. Duke, chairman of the advancement committee of Potomac council. Three boys were advanced to the grade of second class scouts and one other earned three merit badges.

Kenneth O. Owens, Melvin Brant and Ernest Kessell, of Boy Scout Troop No. 2, sponsored by the Baltimore and Ohio YMCA, passed second class scout tests. Charles Hansrote, of Troop No. 19, sponsored by St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed church, earned three merit badges in metal work, woodwork and personal health.

A Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held next Tuesday night, when awards will be presented, but the definite time and place have not been announced.

TWUA Group Endorses Veterans' Bonus Plan

The veterans' committee of Celanese Local No. 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, went on record at a recent meeting as backing a resolution of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, urging a state bonus for ex-servicemen of the present war.

that the state bonus, housing and chairman of the committee at the meeting, which was held last Friday in Textile Workers hall, said that the state bonus, housing and price control were discussed at the meeting.

Commander William B. Orndorff and C. William Spangler, vice commander of the Amvets post, also attended the meeting.

The resolution calls for a bonus for all honorably discharged Maryland servicemen of World War II with ninety or more days' service between September, 1940, and September, 1945, plus additional benefits for overseas veterans and disabled veterans.

Mease urged all veterans to sign a petition for the resolution, in the housing office on the second floor at city hall.

District 16 Firemen Called to North Branch

District 16 Volunteer Fire Company, Oldtown road, was called to the old C. and O. canal lock at North Branch at 12:30 a. m. and extinguished a blaze in the lock.

Firemen said the blaze might have been caused by a spreading brush fire. They said flames shot 200 feet into the air. Damage was light.

At 9:30 a. m. yesterday, the District 16 company was called to extinguish a brush fire on Collier mountain. The fire burned from eight to nine acres. Firemen were out two hours fighting the flames.

ESTABLISH PERFECT RECORD—When the Cumberland Rotary Club held its twenty-fifth anniversary and ladies' night dinner at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night, three members rceived reward emblems for perfect long-time records of attendance. Two of the club's charter members were presented emblems for perfect attendance records of twenty-five years, while a third member received an award for twenty years' perfect attendance. Shown left to right are Charles S. Catherman, toastmaster, and president of the club twenty years ago, after presenting the awards to Thomas E. Gilchrist, twenty-five years; John D. Liebau, twenty years; and Virgil C. Powell, twenty-five years.

Five Unmounted Diamonds Found Untouched when Auto Is Recovered

Car Thieves Take $25 in Bills, Overlook Valuable Gems

One thing is sure—the thief who stole the car of Samuel P. Miller, Springfield, W. Va., Monday evening and abandoned the vehicle near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ice house after taking $25 in currency from a pocketbook in the glove compartment, was either not very observant or was in a mighty big hurry.

For, police reported yesterday afternoon, five unmounted diamonds valued at from $500 to $1,000, stored in the purse along with papers and photographs, were found untouched in the glove receptacle when the car was recovered by police yesterday.

Deck Sgt. L. E. Meister said a call was received from the B. and O. YMCA yesterday at 8:25 a. m. concerning a strange car parked near the ice house. Police added that Officer P. C. Jenkins was sent to the scene and discovered the car to be the one stolen from South Mechanic street Monday evening.

Diamonds Are Found

The money, two $10 bills and a $5 bill, in old style paper money, had been taken from the pocketbook before it was replaced. Police said the five diamonds, still wrapped in tissue paper, were found among the papers.

Police said last evening the car was evidently stolen by youths who wished to do some joy riding since Officer James W. Brown saw the car being driven down Virginia avenue Monday at 11:20 p. m. The vehicle sped away after the driver saw the officer, police said.

Authorities added they believed the thieves abandoned the car soon after, since a thorough search of the city that evening failed to disclose the presence of the car.

Robberies Reported

Police reported no developments in the breaking and entering of the Savoy pool room, 170 Baltimore street, between 11:30 p. m. Sunday and 6:30 a. m. Monday. Several pinball machines were wrecked and an undetermined amount of change taken from the cash register.

The culprit gained entrance by forcing a side window, officers said.

Vernice Stump, 210 Maryland avenue, told police early yesterday morning that someone stole her case, coat and a brown pin, valued at $40, from the Blue Ridge bus station between 11:30 Monday and 2:10 a. m. yesterday. The woman said she placed her belongings on the floor at the place after arriving here from Petersburg, W. Va., and then went downtown.

Police are also investigating the recent theft of a bed of tulips belonging to Conrad Felton, of 705 Bedford street.

Police said the 1935 Ford coach of Vincent J. Metzger, 626 Fairview avenue, stolen from Fairview avenue yesterday at 2:15 a. m. was returned to the home early yesterday morning.

Slow Valve Shipment Delays Filling of Hole On Decatur Street

A large hole, dug on Decatur street several months ago when the city water department installed a new connecting line, has not been filled because a shipment of three twenty-four-inch valves and one thirty-six-inch valve has been delayed, Andrew G. Bender, water superintendent, said yesterday.

The shipment was ordered last November and the valves are expected to arrive here within a few days, Bender said. The delay was caused by a strike at the valve company plant.

The hole has been blocked off to avoid accidents, he added.

Area Men To Attend Bank Conference

Two men of the Cumberland area are planning to attend the eleventh annual regional conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers, which will open today at the Ritz-Carlton hotel in Atlantic City, N. J.

They are Thomas L. Keech, treasurer of the Liberty Trust Company, and William B. Yates, secretary-treasurer of the Fidelity Savings bank of Frostburg.

The conference will end Saturday afternoon. A feature of the meeting will be a banquet Friday evening, with Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore as guest speaker.

Vestry Elected By Emmanuel Episcopal Church

The congregation of Emmanuel Episcopal church met in the Parish hall Monday evening to hear reports from the various organizations and to elect a vestry to serve until next Easter Monday. The procedure in electing a vestry, according to state law, is first to vote four men off the existing vestry and then to elect four men to fill the vacancies thus created.

Cyril M. Croft, Dr. H. R. Williams, William L. Wilson, Sr., and George G. Young were voted off in the first election and James A. Avirett, George R. Henderson, Robert J. Sheckells and William L. Wilson, Jr., were elected to replace them. These last four men together with Dudley M. Browne, J. M. Pitkethly, Frederick Walton and Grant A. Wiebel, who were retained will constitute the vestry for the coming year.

The Rev. David C. Watson, rector, presided at the meeting and made his annual address, Cyril M. Croft acted as secretary.

A similar meeting was held at Saint Philip's Chapel last evening, with the Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, vicar, presiding, and Lafayette A. Robinson acting as secretary.

The governing body of an Episcopal chapel is known as the advisory board and appointments to it are made by the bishop of the diocese.

The appointments, which were announced last night, are as follows —Charles L. Denson, treasurer, Lafayette A. Robinson, secretary, Johnson S. Denson, senior warden and Oscar L. Martin, junior warden.

Sixty To Attend School Conference

School superintendents from all over the state and members of the state department of education are expected to start arriving in Cumberland this afternoon for a two-day session of superintendents scheduled to start tomorrow morning.

The guests will be registered at Algonquin and Fort Cumberland hotels, and over sixty are expected. As of yesterday, the superintendents of all the counties are expected today with the exception of two.

Superintendent Charles L. Kopp was informed yesterday that Miss Letty M. Dant, St. Mary's county superintendent, will be unable to attend due to illness. The Charles county superintendent had informed Kopp earlier that he would be unable to attend the sessions.

The meetings this year will take up the matter of school cafeterias and pupil transportation. In connection with the discussion of cafeterias, Kopp and his staff have arranged for the guests to make a county tour of cafeterias in county schools. Pupil transportation will be taken up by the superintendents on Friday morning.

Meanwhile, preparations were completed yesterday in the administration building on Washington street for the two-day session. Members of the staff have prepared a number of large charts to be used for illustrative purposes in connection with the subjects to be discussed.

Three Suspects Are Freed In Oldtown Road Theft

Three gypsies suspected in the theft last Thursday of $350 from Howard J. Baker, 77, Oldtown road, were picked up yesterday by city police but were later absolved of any connection with the case.

Last week three gypsies went to Baker's home and said they could cure his granddaughter of an affliction with a charm. They told the elderly man to wrap $350.10 in a package and not to open it for three days. They returned what appeared to be the same package to him saying they would retain ten cents. Later it was determined that Baker had been robbed.

Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt and Trooper G. M. Rotruck investigated the case and yesterday morning they took the gypsies to Baker's home but they were not the ones involved. Officer Curtis M. Kime took the suspects into custody.

Judges Will Give Traffic Fatality Verdicts Today

Cases Are Completed against Harley McDonald and Edward Shook

Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper announced yesterday that they will give verdicts this morning in the manslaughter cases just completed against Harley Glenn McDonald, 33, Route 1, Ridgeley, and Edward A. Shook, 41, Rawlings.

Final arguments in the McDonald case were completed yesterday morning after which the court sat to hear the case of Shook, who entered a plea of not guilty and elected to be tried by the judges. Shook was indicted in the death of Martin C. Duncan, 50, Harrison street, a Celanese employe, who was struck by Shook's automobile last January 5 while walking along the McMullen highway near the plant. Duncan received a fractured skull and other injuries which resulted in his death January 16 in a local hospital.

State Trooper Glen D. Folk testified that Shook was operating the car and that he stopped the machine, then extinguished the lights and drove away without identifying himself. The car was wrecked about a mile from the scene of the mishap, the officer said, and Shook was hiding near the wrecked machine but was discovered when he lighted a cigaret.

Foggy Night

Shook testified yesterday that the night of the accident is was foggy and stated that he did not see the pedestrian until he was twenty-five or thirty feet away from him. He said the man walking along the road staggered and that he pulled his car over to the right but ran into him.

The witness said he stopped, got out of his car and examined the victim. When he got 'no response" he said "something came over me" and he got back in his car and drove off. Later, he said, he decided to turn around and go back and ran against a culvert.

Shook denied certain statements he allegedly made in the state's attorney's office following the acci-

Cumberland Council of the Navy League of the United States will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in city hall auditorium. James E. Niland, president, said the council charter probably will be closed at the meeting. Club rooms for the council may be considered.

A wiener roast will be held at Constitution park today at 7:30 p. m. for the Enthusiasts, young people's group of the Salvation Army, according to Adjt. Robert S. Ball. Broddus McDonald is in charge of arrangements. Group singing, led by Adjt. Ball, and a games period will feature the entertainment.

Members of the municipal airport commission will hold their monthly meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post.

Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt, of the LaVale sub-station, Maryland State Police, who was admitted to Allegany hospital early last evening, was reported "resting comfortably" at 10 o'clock.

The condition of William Kahner, 16, New Castle, Pa., who was kicked in the face by "Sage King" as he was helping load the horse after a performance of the "National Barn Dance" here Monday, was reported "better" in Allegany hospital last evening. Attaches said an examination may be made today to determine the extent of injury to his eye.

Hearings on applications for liquor licenses will be held Monday at 9:15 a. m. in circuit court, it has been announced. Applicants must appear in court at that time, court attaches said yesterday.

Dr. L. J. Lanich, who has been a patient in Memorial hospital since April 4 was able to return to his home, 108 Virginia avenue, yesterday.

Police Chief Declines To Make Comment on Flurshutz Theft Case

A city police officer who asked that his name be withheld indicated last evening that about $3,500 in currency was stolen from the the H.U.F. Flurshutz and Son furniture store, 15 North Centre street, over a week ago.

The informant added the money was taken from a metal box stored in the rear of a safe located in the back of the store after the place was broken into between 10 p. m. April 20 and 2 a. m. April 21.

The store was entered, he explained, after the thieves broke open a shutter and raised an unlocked window opening on Oliver's alley in the rear of the store. The theft was reported to police immediately, he added.

Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, when asked by a News reporter to comment on the case declared "I am not going to give a thing out."

Arthur H. Flurshutz, affiliated with the store, was quoted yesterday as admitting the robbery had been reported to the police department. He declined comment last evening except to say that the amount suggested was greatly exaggerated, since such an amount would not have been kept in the store.

Several members of the department were questioned concerning the robbery but referred reporters to Chief Eyeman. The police chief referred reporters to several officials of the detective bureau and the state's attorney's office.

Orthopedic Clinic Will Open Friday

An orthopedic clinic will be held in Oakland tomorrow and in Cumberland Friday and Saturday, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Dr. George Eaton, who was discharged several months ago after serving in the South Pacific theater in charge of a general hospital unit sponsored by Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, will conduct the Garrett county clinic at the health office in Oakland tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

The local clinic will be held at league headquarters, City Hall plaza, Friday from 9 a. m. until 3:30 p. m., and Saturday from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Approximately 250 appointments have been made for the two days of the local clinic, which will be conducted by Dr. George E. Bennett, Baltimore, noted orthopedic surgeon; Dr. Eaton, and Dr. David Weinberg, a native of Lonaconing.

Mrs. Annan said that she will be unable to be here for the clinic, since she is leaving today for Baltimore for further treatment of injuries suffered on an automobile trip to Florida in February.

Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president of the league, will head a corps of volunteer workers who will act as assistants during the clinic here. They are Mrs. Albert Carlson, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Mrs. Fred Steiding, Mrs. Arthur Jones and Mrs. Donald Brown.

Rossell Secures Permit To Remodel Garage; Occupancy Permit Denied

Spencer G. Rossell, 435 Williams street, secured a building permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to remodel a garage at the rear of his home into an apartment, at an estimated cost of $1,200.

The one-story building measures 18 by 22 feet and has a concrete foundation, brick walls and an asphalt roof. Remodeling work will be done by the owner.

Paul J. Stein, 454 Walnut street, filed an appeal to the board of zoning appeals after his application for an occupancy permit to use a two-story building at the rear of his home as a four-car garage and furnace room on the first floor, and two apartments on the second floor, was denied by the city engineer.

The building is located in a Residential B zoning district, and the zoning code limits garages to three-car capacity in such districts, the engineer explained.

Keyser Mill Workers Receive Wage Boost

A ten-cent per hour wage increase for the approximately 100 employes of the Potomac Worsted Spinning Mill, Keyser, W. Va., has been agreed upon by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, Joseph J. Barley, business manager of the union, reported yesterday.

Charles G. Proulx, manager of the plant, said the increase will become effective next Monday and added that the minimum wage scale at the plant has been set at sixty-five cents an hour. Some changes in the incentive bonus plan have been made at the plant.

Postmaster Urges Use Of Postal Notes

Urging Cumberland residents to make use of postal notes when sending money by mail, James C. Shriver, postmaster, pointed out yesterday that postal notes offer a simplified method of sending sums of money not exceeding $10, and take much less time to secure than money orders.

Purchasers do not have to fill out an application, and a flat-rate fee of five cents is charged for each note covering amounts from one cent to $10. As many notes can be bought at one time as desired, but none may be for amounts exceeding $10.

Two Death March Survivors Reunited

Two survivors of the Bataan death march were reunited last night when Sgt. Leon Beck, Tulsa, Okla., arrived in Cumberland with his wife, Mrs. Veneranda Luna Beck, to visit Cpl. Blair Robinett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Robinett, 207 Offutt street.

Interviewed at a local hotel, Sgt. Beck said that he and his wife, whose home is in Guagna on Luzon, will spend several days here visiting Cpl. Robinett and the latter's wife, Mrs. Jesusita Cordero Robinett, before returning to Tulsa. The Robinetts will drive down to Oklahoma for a short visit with them.

Sgt. Beck escaped from the Japanese on the thirteenth day of the death march, while Cpl. Robinett escaped on the tenth day. They fought with Filipino guerrillas against the Japanese, and their wives were also guerrilla fighters.

Before his capture, Sgt. Beck served with the Thirty-first infantry, the only regiment of American infantry in the Philippines. Cpl. Robinette served with the engineers and rose to the rank of major in the Filipino guerrilla forces.

Both Sgt. Beck, who re-enlisted in the army in January, and Cpl. Robinett plan to return to the Philippines with their wives as soon as transportation can be secured.

Sgt. and Mrs. Beck have a 9-month-old daughter, Vyvian Leonda.

Joint Report Lists $2,075.90 Spent By Post Ticket

According to a statement of expenditures filed yesterday, Mayor Thomas S. Post and his running mates in the city primary and municipal election campaigns last month spent a total of $2,075.90.

Although the city election was staged more than a month ago, a number of candidates have not filed reports within the 30-day period specified by state law. Frank J. Davis, defeated by post in the mayoralty race; William V. Keegan, William J. Edwards and Clifton E. Fuller, elected to the city council, are among those who have failed to file reports.

All Bills Paid

George E. Davis, treasurer for the Post ticket, listed $2,075.90 in contributions from "the candidates and friends," showing all bills paid. On the ticket with Mayor Post were Myers G. Light, who was elected; and H. Frank Hinze and John E. Sharp, who were nominated in the March 5 primary but were nosed out in the March 19 election.

Expenses included $234 for radio time; $278.40 for newspaper advertisements; $252 for printing cards and posters, and $1,311.50 for workers, automobiles and drivers.

Helfrich Spent $213.70

Hunter B. Helfrich, former councilman, who was eliminated in the mayoralty race, reported expenditures amounting to $213.70 in the primary campaign. He listed $137.70 to the Times and Alleganian Company for newspaper advertising; $26 to the Commerical Press for cards and posters, and $50 for workers.

Joseph R. Mantheiy, eliminated in the council race, spent $88.90 in the primary campaign. He listed $15 to workers and $73.90 for advertising.

As required by state law, Associate Judge Walter C. Capper, who is a Republican candidate for the court post, filed a statement designating Peter E. Berry, 311 Washington street, as his political agent in the campaign.

Woman Who Took Poison Declines To Answer Questions and Is Jailed

A 23-year-old Corriganville woman was borne to the county jail yesterday by two state policemen after she created a disturbance in the court house.

The woman, Mrs. Nina Louise Witt was treated at Memorial hospital Tuesday night after she had taken a number of poisonous pills, according to state police. Doctors used a stomach pump and after the treatment she was taken to the city jail for questioning later by the state's attorney's office.

Sgt. Thomas M. Hignutt and Trooper Harold Basore went to the home Tuesday night and took her to the hospital. Yesterday morning she refused to answer questions when queried by County Investigator T. J. Boyle.

She then said that she would not go to the county jail and the troopers were forced to pick her up and carry her there. Sgt. Hignutt said the woman's husband was discharged from the service last December and that the couple had been having domestic trouble. They are the parents of two children, police stated.

Branhan Will Be Taken To New York Today

Raymond G. Branham, 19, Chicago, who pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny in circuit court Saturday and was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail for the offense, will be taken to New York city today by Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshall.

The Chicago man will be turned over to a United States marshall from the southern district. Loughrie said the youth faces a charge in Dallas, Texas, of impersonating a federal officer and is wanted in New York for violating a probation sentence.

Conservation Is Topic of Meeting At LaVale Hall

Speaker Says Co-operation of Farmers and Businessmen Is Necessary

A total of 140 guests, eighty farmers and sixty business men, last night attended a dinner meeting sponsored by the committee on agriculture of the chamber of commerce at the LaVale fire station and auditorium where John E. Clark, chairman of the agricultural committee of the House of Delegates and field representative of the state fair board, was the principal speaker.

The meeting, the first of its type held in Allegany county, stressed the importance of cooperation and mutual understanding on the part of farmers and businessmen. The affair was an outgrowth of last year's conservation forum and was arranged under the direction of Robert E. Laramy and William W. Nace, chairman of the chamber committee and soil conservationist here.

Clark, who has been active in Harford county affairs for many years, urged the members of his audiences to practice sound conservation practices and showed pictures of erosion in his home county.

Matter of Concern

Urban dwellers have a real interest in the open country adjacent to their cities, Clark believes, and declared that the condition of water supplies and the filling in of harbors with good top soil should be a matter of concern to residents of Baltimore as well as the farmers who are losing tons of precious top soil every year.

"It took Hugh Bennett, noted conservationist, twenty-five years to get the ear of the public," Clark said. "Now we have reached the stage where we must decide whether people who own a natural resource have a right to abuse it."

Clark said he had made a tour of Garrett county while in this end of the state and said he had noted considerable devastation to timber land in that area. At this point he stated that the much discussed Forestry Conservancy District Act had been put into practice in Harford county and is working out satisfactorily. The speaker said there were only two things to remember in connection with the act and they are that a saw mill operator can not destroy a farmer's timber and must leave growth for future yields and no person can willfully set a fire endangering forest land.

Presents Conservation Awards

Toastmaster Tasker G. Lowndes introduced County Agent R. F. McHenry who presented the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company awards for sound conservation practices to three Allegany county young farmers, Robert Heavener, Denver Harvey and Stanley Weimer. A fourth award was presented to Royce Johnson for his work in connection with safety measures on the farm.

The Firestone award is given annually to six young farmers in the state and Allegany county has had three of the six state winners for two consecutive years. The prizes are $50 war bonds.

In conducting their work for the contest, the participants prepared maps of their respective farms showing plans for improving conservation and then conducted actual experiments based on their original plans.

Credit was given to Assistant County Agent Joseph Steger and Robert Laramy and Robert Gordon, soil conservationists, for their work in connection with the contest.

Board Approves Move for Trophy Of World War II

The board of county commissioners yesterday approved a proposal of Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson, Jr., that the county obtain a trophy of World War II to supplant the German field artillery piece which was removed during the war and given to the metal scrap drive.

A resolution passed by the board proposed that the clerk write to Rep. J. Glenn Beall requesting him to find a suitable trophy of World War II for a memorial.

J. Milton Patterson, director of the state welfare department, and W. Donald Smith, a member of the Allegany county Welfare Board, asked that support be given to the Forand bill, now pending in Congress, to obtain more federal funds for general public assistance.

The commissioners agreed to contact Rep. Beall and urge him to work for passage of the measure. The bill would provide that the government would pay fifty per cent of the costs with the county and state each paying twenty-five per cent.

Blair Welsh and Wilbur Klinger complained to the board that Grant drive in LaVale is "being ruined" by trucks operated by a development firm building new houses near their homes. They asked that the board make repairs, but were advised that the county does not own the road and has no jurisdiction. It may be necessary for the property owners to take court action, the commissioners said.

Easter Seal Donations Will Be Accepted Until April 30

Contributions to the Easter seal drive will be accepted and credited to the drive until April 30, although the campaign ended last Saturday, according to Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Annan reported that thirty-three and one-half per cent of the 20,606 letters mailed to county residents during the drive have been returned with cash contributions. Approximately two-thirds of those solicited have failed to respond either with donations or by returning the sheets of Easter seals contained in the letters, she added.

The county quota for this year's campaign is $10,000. Funds are used to promote the work of the league.
